Six Of Escaped Prisoners Are Armed With Guns Taken From Guards

SMOKE SCREEN IS THROWN FROM AUTOS

Between 500 And 600 Are Prevented From Escaping By Guards Firing

(International News Service)

IONIA, Mich., Aug. 28.—Twenty-five convicts escaped from the Ionia reformatory after they had overpowered eight guards during a riot there early today.

Three fleeing cars were sighted by Dearborn officers three hours after the escape. The Dearborn officers gave chase but the bandits rear car threw up a huge smoke screen which enabled the bandits to escape on their way to Detroit.

Six of the escaped prisoners are armed with revolvers taken from the guards. Four of them are wearing guards' clothes.

Between 500 and 600 men were at liberty when the 25 escaped. The others were shut off from freedom by Deputy Wardens Edward Haight and Frank Leland, aided by guards on the outside walls. The deputies fired several times and quelled the riot without injuring anyone.

Two hundred and fifty prisoners stampeded into their first place of freedom. There they encountered four guards, whom they overpowered. They took guns and keys from them and opened the opposite wing of the dormitory, thereby releasing some 250 to 300 more prisoners.

The switchboard operator discovered the outbreak and notified the deputy wardens, who got into action immediately but by this time 25 convicts were at liberty.

Two of the inmates were captured by Chief Warden Charles Shean in a woods near here this afternoon.

They are Charles Smith and Napoleon Smith. Both were sentenced in Detroit on robbery armed charges.

Several more of the fugitives are reported to be in the woods. Deputies are on the way to aid Chief Warden Shean who plans to place a cordon of officers around the woods.

Orders Probe In Crash Of Plane

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—While the entire navy mourned the loss of Commander John Rodgers, pioneer naval aviator, fatally injured at Philadelphia, Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the air corps today ordered a thorough investigation to clear up the mystery surrounding the crash.

Reports reaching the navy department reveal a confused picture of the fall of Commander Rodgers into the Delaware river with none of the spectators able to give a clear account of just how the airplane crumpled probably 75 feet in the air and dashed into the shallow water of the river.

With Commander Rodgers' mechanician, Aviation Machinists' Mate Samuel Schultze lying in a hospital with a broken back and his recovery doubtful, high officers of the navy feared that the true cause of the crash might never be fully explained.

Governor Pinchot In Towanada Address Is Bitter Toward Voters

(International News Service)

TOWANDA, Pa., Aug. 28.—Gov. Pinchot, speaking at the county Sunday school picnic at Ulster today, attacked the lethargy of the average voter, blaming it for the majority of the political ills of the state.

The governor cited figures from recent elections to prove his contention that barely one-third of the eligibles go to the poll. At the recent primary more than 3,000,000 potential voters stayed at home, he said.

The potent but dormant force is responsible, Pinchot asserted, for the "gang rule" and all that it means in Pennsylvania. "The responsibility," he maintained, "lies squarely at the door of the so-called respectable people who think so little of their American citizenship that they refuse to exercise the fundamental privilege of a free citizen and vote."

"These same people", he said, "are the ones who protest loudest against the effects of gang rule. Yet, if these people would give the government one-hundredth of the time they give to golf, bridge, tennis, baseball and other diversions, a higher type of officials would be elected and everyone would benefit."

Scoring the type of many professional politicians, he asserted that "we have become accustomed to seeing notorious misfits nominated for important public offices". They are nominated "because they can be controlled" and represent a handful of politically active men whose playthings they are, he said.

Again citing the power of the inactive voters, the governor said in closing: "There has not been an election in Pennsylvania in many years that the stay-at-home voters could not have carried and carried on the side of righteousness, by the simplest, most inexpressive and most effective of all methods of political reform—by merely casting their votes."

Sharon Man Tries Suicide In State Street And Is In Hospital

DOMESTIC TROUBLE ALLEGED CAUSE

Frank Swoggert, age, 33, of 183 Ult St. Sharon is in a critical condition in the Shenango Valley hospital, having attempted suicide by drinking carbolic acid early this morning. It is reported that the rash act was caused by alleged domestic trouble.

According to reports Swoggert who is married and the father of five children had family trouble and at 3:30 a. m. went to the residence of a brother-in-law, Fred Josephs, 1221 West State street, this city. When in front of the house he swallowed the poison.

Josephs had the would-be suicide rushed to the Shenango Valley hospital, where at noon today it was reported that while he is conscious and able to talk, his condition is critical.

Clymer Mine Gives Up Three Bodies; Death Toll At 44

By SI NEIMAN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLYMER, Pa., Aug. 28.—Clymer Mine No. 1 today gave up the last three bodies entombed in it. Forty-four miners were killed in the disaster wthich was due to an explosion.

The bodies mutilated almost beyond recognition, were brought to the surface by members of the Clymer rescue squad who continued their search in the depths of the mine when other crews were relieved in the belief that the bodies, buried under tons of rock could not be extricated for several days.

The bodies were those of George Chiaka, Mike Puro and George Last.

Ralph Davis Breaks Arm By Fall From Ladder

Ralph Davis, aged 9 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Davis of Garfield avenue, was removed to the Shenango Valley hospital for treatment for a broken arm.

The boy was on a ladder which was left standing by a house which was being erected near his home. He missed his footing and fell fracturing his right arm near the wrist.

Three Meet Death When Train Strikes Auto On Crossing

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

GARY, Ind., Aug. 28.—Three young members of socially prominent Gary families were killed here today when their automobile was struck by a Michigan Central railroad train at a grade crossing.

The victims:
Robert H. Webster, 22.
Miss Hazel Lagrow.
Miss Elizabeth Betts.

It is believed that the car stalled when it was squarely on the crossing. The victims were badly mangled.

P. & L. E. Picnic At Park Today

Maintenance Of Way And Shop Employes With Families Spend Day Here

Several thousand P. & L. E. railroad employes and their families today are enjoying an annual picnic at Cascade Park, several trains having arrived in the city between 9 o'clock and noon, transferring to P-O railway cars and being transported to the park. During the afternoon dancing was enjoyed.

The picnickers have come from different points between New Castle and Pittsburgh and as far south as Connellsville. The outing is being held under the auspices of the maintenance of way and shopmen.

Cars Hit Mule; Driver Is Killed

(International News Service)

CANONSBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—Frank Cherokee, 28, single, was killed today in the National Mining Company mine near Muse, 2 miles north-east of Canonsburg.

Cherokee, a mule-driver, had taken a string of empty cars into the mine when several loaded cars at the top of the shaft broke loose and started down grade into the mine.

The runaway cars struck the mule, hurling the animal against Cherokee and crushing him against the wall.

Man Injured On Race Track Dies

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 28—William N. Bicknell, 56, of Indiana, Pa., died today in Butler County Memorial hospital from injuries sustained in a crash on the Butler Fair Race Track last Tuesday.

Bicknell was driving Baron Prince, owned by W. C. Paxton, of Latrobe, when the accident occurred. The driver's chest was crushed and the horse's neck broken in the tumble.

Bicknell's experience as a trainer and driver of racing horses in Western Pennsylvania extended over a period of twenty years.

"Met" Star Goes "On The Air"

Mary Lewis, the genial star of Metropolitan opera, who has risen from the ranks of a Ziegfeld chorus (if "risen" be the proper word!) through operetta into grand opera, is to be heard throughout the country "on the air", early in the autumn as a result of a recently completed contract. She is to broadcast under the auspices of A. Atwater Kent.

CAPITOL THEATRE IS UNDER NEW CONTROL

Announcement is made today that the Peoples Amusement corporation operating the Penn and Regent theatres in this city, has leased the Capitol theatre, South Mercer street, their control starting at the close of the show tonight. Ben Burke is retiring from the business in this city for several years at the Capitol.

Coincident with the announcement of the change in control of the Capitol comes an announcement of a change in policy. The theatre will be closed for three days and on Thursday, September 2, will open with a program of high-class vaudeville and also a picture. It is the intention of the Peoples Amusement corporation to show vaudeville and pictures and also give the theatre-going public of New Castle a chance to see the best of the road shows, which are now being booked for the city. This new policy will bring to the city the finest attractions offered and will fill a need that has long been felt in New Castle.

Rum Runner Using Speed Boat Is Captured By Rum Chaser CG-142 Today

CAPTURE OCCURS NEAR STATE LINE

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first of the speed boats being used by rum runners between Long Point, Canada, and Erie to be caught was captured today by Captain Coppin of the rum chaser CG-142, just off the New York state line after 35 rounds of shot had been fired into it.

The captured boat is of the Seabright type and is capable of doing 40 miles per hour. The crew of the rum runner, it is said, threw from 50 to 75 cases of Canadian ale into the lake while Coppin was overhauling the craft, but when the boat was brought into the coast guard station here at daylight a hasty inventory showed she still

Aviators Seek Funds In Attempts To Break Numerous Air Records

BY WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—America's crack aviators are broadcasting a call for millionaire "angels" to help them win back lost laurels.

With their triumphs of years past shattered by recent remarkable exploits of European aviators, army and navy flyers have risen en masse to try for every important world record.

Unable to stir the enthusiasm of the heads of military aviation, they are counting on American sportsmen to finance them in one of the world's costliest sports.

In all the world of competitive sport the United States lags far behind only in aviation. Of 49 major world's plane records but 14 rest in the hands of Americans, the National Aeronautic Association disclosed today. French flyers, under government patronage, have taken most of them.

The way having been paved by New York sportsmen who are backing Lieut. Al Williams to the extent of $100,000 for the world's speed record, other aces of the service flying corps today were casting about for help.

The army and navy have adopted a policy of ignoring records unless there is a very practical and immediate gain in sight. It was thru racing that the army and navy developed their present type of pursuit plane. Satisfied it is the best in the world, the chiefs of the air service refuse to spend money for specially built racers.

Air contests are going the way of automobile racing, military experts say. Automobile manufacturers started the game and then virtually abandoned it to let rich sportsmen and drivers provide the specially built cars that compete for big prizes.

Two records especially grate on the nerves of American aviators. They are the world speed record of 278 miles an hour held by the Frenchman Bonnet and the new world's altitude record of 40,809 feet made by M. Callizo of France. American aviators have been further aroused by their persistent efforts of the French to establish a new non-stop, long-distance record.

Army and navy heads have promised aviators leave of absence to try for records but that is as far as they will go. In the forthcoming around South America flight of the army and the east to west coast by way of the Panama Canal flight of the navy it is announced no attempts will be made to set records.

Woman Appeals For Aid In Locating Her Missing Husband

Creditors At Oil City Also Looking For Real Estate Man

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., Aug. 28. — Giving up faint hopes that he might return despite the fact that he has been missing since last April, Mrs. David Heyison today appealed to the newspapers to locate her husband, aged 66, who disappeared from Oil City.

Heyison, a tailor, came here 16 years ago from New York and accumulated considerable means. About ten years ago he began real estate operations, and was generally reputed to be well-to-do.

Creditors discovered that he had been pyramiding his investments to such extent that his equities in the large realty holdings had been cut to trifling proportions.

So involved were his affairs that none of the sales have resulted in producing any surplus over the amounts due creditors, for the benefit of the wife, who is living with a son-in-law.

Until today pride kept Mrs. Heyison from making a public appeal for aid in locating her husband.

Kraus And Swick Given Discharge

BLACKBURN HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Hearings held last night in the offices of Alderman L. C. Mantz and William E. Marshall in the cases of Attorney M. J. Kraus, Ben G. Swick and F. S. Blackburn of Ellwood City, charged with violation of the Snyder act, as a result of raids conducted in that city on July 23, resulted in the discharge of Kraus and Swick and the holding of Blackburn for the September term of court.

Lack of evidence on which to hold them was given as the reason for the discharge of Kraus and Swick. The prosecutors were M. J. Teator, in the Kraus case, Roy King in the Swick case and W. T. Rahiser in the Blackburn case.

The commonwealth, through District Attorney J. Elder Bryan, in each instance asked a continuance of the case on the ground that state police officers who were important witnesses in the cases could not be present to testify. Counsel for the defendants objected and in each instance their objection was sustained by the presiding alderman.

Counsel for the three defendants included Former Judge J. Norman Martin, Former Judge S. P. Emery and Attorney A. Martin Graham. This morning Attorney Graham stated on being interviewed that he had no statement to make, other than that some action will be taken

Small Mining Town Silent In Grief Brought About Through Disaster

CLYMER, Pa., Aug. 28.—Clymer was alone with its dead today.

For the first time since Thursday afternoon when a thin blue curl of smoke wafted out of the airshaft of Clymer Mine No. 1 told of the blast which had snuffed out the lives of forty-four miners, the hills surrounding the ill-fated mine were deserted.

Throughout the trying hours when rescue crews struggled desperately to reach the entombed miners before death overtook them, a grim faced, silent audience of mothers, wives and daughters lined the hills—waiting for word which was to tell them of wrecked homes and blasted hopes.

Relatives View Dead

Today, with forty-one bodies lying in the improvised morgue in the village, the barbed wire gates surrounding the building were opened, and the dead men's families were allowed to look upon the bodies.

Three bodies, still held in the depths of the mine by tons of fallen rock, were sought by the mine's

DOVER, England, Aug. 28.—Again woman has conquered the English Channel.

Mrs. Clemington Corson, of New York, landed at Shakespear Beach, Dover, this afternoon, and thus became the second woman in history to swim the English Channel.

The plucky New York woman walked onto the English shore at three o'clock, having been in the water 15 hours and 28 minutes.

Gertrude's Record Stands

Gertrude Ederle's record of 14 hours and 32 minutes still stands, but the New York woman, mother of two children, made a valiant attempt at lowering the record achieved by the sturdy New York girl.

Thus, for the second time this summer, Englishmen have stood on their shores to see an American woman achieve that which only

Looks as though the summer had decided to be good, looks as though the sun was going to shine, looks as though the days and nights would be just what they should, looks as though the weather would be fine. All the rain and storms we've had, made it rather mean, folks got grumpy when the clouds were gray, but the farmers meadow lands and the buckwheat crop was green, and fattened up the clover and the hay. Better weather's coming for the harvest days are nigh, the clover and the hay are on the ricks, and pumpkins soon will be converted into golden pie, the weather's fine, its up to seventy six.

Civil War Vets Awaiting "Taps" Disband G. A. R.

Grand Army Of Republic At Reunion In September To Make Last Stand

Will Vote This Year On Whether To Break Camp At Once Or Later

(International News Service)

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 28.—The Grand Army of the Republic is making its last stand.

Like good soldiers, their ranks, thinned by age and disease, the old veterans know when to retreat. In the face of the last enemy, Death, which each year demands an appalling toll, their leaders feel it is time to set their camps in order and wait quietly for "Taps."

A committee consisting of former Governor Samuel R. Van Sant of Minnesota, Lewis Pilcher of New York and James Tanner of Washington, D. C., each having served as past national commander will present a report to the forthcoming national encampment here September 1924 covering plans for disbandment and disposition of the funds and records of the organization.

The youngest Civil War survivor is in the late seventies records reveal. Each year Grand Army officials and leaders say it is becoming more difficult to keep the organization work moving. The ranks of the veterans are thinning in a larger ration year by year.

In many cities and villages of the country where posts have flourished it has been necessary to abandon their charters.

The veterans hope that the patriotic program of their auxiliary the Women's Relief Corps may go on forever but as for themselves, they falteringly admit the time will come when they are through.

A vote will be taken at the meeting here in September whether they are to disband this year or postpone it a little longer but at best it is agreed the time is short.

American Naval Men Arrive For Nicaragua Duty

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—A detachment of 200 sailors and marines has landed at Bluefields, Nicaragua, from the American gunboat Galveston, the State Department was advised today.

The force was sent ashore when the native governor notified the captain of the American vessel that he was unable to afford adequate protection to American lives and property. The uprising against the present Chamorro regime was reported to be reaching serious proportions.

Another American vessel, the cruiser Tulsa, is due in Corinco tomorrow morning.

Rebekah Chapter Holds Annual Picnic

Rebekah chapter of the First United Presbyterian church last evening held its annual picnic at Cascade Park with the husbands and families of the members as guests. A picnic supper was held at 6:45 p. m., with 55 present. Garden flowers were used as table decorations. Following the supper the park amusements were enjoyed. The committee in charge of the very successful event consisted of Mrs. Alma Braden, Mrs. Sadie Angus, Mrs. McConnell and Miss Bertha Miller. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Helen John of East Brook on next Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

FAILS TO BREAK EDERLE'S RECORD IN HER VICTORY

five men before them have achieved.

Winning her victory against the turbid waters of the channel today Mrs. Corson not only brings new fame to American womanhood, but she also won what constituted a race against Great Britain, for Frank Perks of Birmingham started from the French shores last night at approximately the same time as Mrs. Corson and followed in her wake all the way across the channel, but when the American woman was making her last courageous dash for the shore Perks found the battle too great and gave up.

Disappointed at Time

Flushed with victory when she stepped onto the pebbly beach beneath the Shakespeare cliffs, just outside of Dover, Mrs. Corson was nevertheless just a little disappointed, for she had hoped to lower the record of Gertrude Ederle, and she had failed to do so by 56 minutes.

The victory of Mrs. Corson was spectacular, for during the last 300 yeards she battled against a changing tide. The ebb tide began to set in just when the American woman was a quarter of a mile within the goal and she put on a final spurt, but when 300 yards from shore it became evident that the tide had definitely turned against her. There was a dramatic moment when those ashore pondered—would she give up or would she spend her last strength in fighting these tides which have defeated so many before her? The American mother chose to fight, and fight she did.

Won Courageous Battle

With determination written on her face she increased her stroke and surged ahead against the tides, only to be swept back almost as fast as she swam. There were moments of high suspense and those on shore set up a great cheer to urge her on. Inch by inch Mrs. Corson won her battle against the tides, and when within a hundred yards of shore her victory was still far from won. On and on she fought, with the outgoing tide ever sweeping against her. Eventually her will and brawn carried her forward in a great final effort and she made the shore—the victor of one of the most heroic battles against the channel that this coast has ever seen.

regular crew, but small hope was held out for their removal from the pit for several days.

Salvation Army girls, relieved from their task of cleaning and identifying the bodies brought from the mine, were being cared for in the miners' cottages. For thirty-six hours the blue-clad Army girls held their posts—weary from loss of sleep, tight-lipped and nervous from hours of depressing work over horribly disfigured bodies.

Girl Scouts, several of them related to the men whose bodies were brought from the mine not thirty feet from them, serving hot coffee and sandwiches to the rescue men throughout Thursday night, were also sent to their homes today.

Priest Is Active

Rev. Father F. S. Kondria, the Catholic priest who was with the first rescue crew to brave the depths of the gas filled mine, was with his parishioners today at the morgue. He will determine, in talks with the bereaved, whether joint services will be held for the forty-one recovered bodies, or whether each family is to be left alone to mourn its dead.

With word that no more bodies were to be brought to the surface of the mine son, the miners' homes were opened for the first time, and bereaved families beseiged the machine shop morgue in the village today.

Between rows of white-shrouded bodies, guarded by state police, the miners' families made their way for the most part silent, stoic in their grief. Forty-one bodies, each with its little group of mourners, moved none to hysterics.

Clymer was selent in its grief; quiet with the tragedy of bereavment.

gaged to manage the Capitol and he will devote his entire time to booking fine attractions and presenting them to the New Castle public.

To Enlarge Theatre.

The Capitol theatre has been improved considerably this summer and a fine big Robert Morton three-manual pipe organ has already been installed at a cost of $18,000. The new operators have a long term lease on the building and it is their intentions, Messrs. Marousis and Freeman announced, to improve and enlarge the theatre in the near future. The theatre is so constructed that it can be made to seat about 2,000 and this enlargement is the first item on the list of permanent improvements to be made. With a seating capacity of 2,000 it will be one of the largest theatres in the tri-state territory.

When the Capitol opens next Thursday under new management it will present a full program of vaudeville acts and a moving picture. A symphony orchestra under the leadership of Julius V. Sypher will play for the attractions. Other features will be added from time to time to make the Capitol one of the leading theatres of the state. It is already equipped with a large stage and lighting arrangements for the proper staging of acts.

With the Capitol presenting vaudeville and plays and with the various movie houses in the city New Castle will be able to present to its people everything in the way of amusement that it is possible to secure.

Other Church Bequests.

Kings Chapel Methodist church gets $75 per year for the support of the pastor, for repairs and maintenance $50 per year, for the Sabbath school, $25 per year. For the Kings Chapel cemetery, $20 per year. For the Wesley Methodist church, $50 per year for the support of the pastor, $25 per year for the support of the Sabbath school. For Simpson Methodist church, $30 per year for church expenses and $20 per year for the Sabbath school. All of these run for 20 years.

In the body of the will, Earl M. Kyle is left $25 per month for life and 40 shares of the Southern Pacific railroad common stock. A codicil makes additional arrangements.

The Shenango Valley hospital is left $5,000 if remodeling is started within two years and an additional $5,000 if a new building is started within three years. Unless the work is started within the time specified, the bequests are void.

In a letter or statement attached to the will, Jessie Mockel is left 50 shares of Southern Pacific Railroad common stock and 75 shares of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company common stock. Miss Mary G. Bigley is left 25 shares of the common stock of the Southern Pacific railroad.

A codicil made while Mr. Greer was in the hospital in Baltimore makes some changes and nullifies those contained in the letter. They provide that Miss Jessie Mockel is to receive $50 per month for 10 years, and at the end of that time is to receive 50 shares of the common stock of the Southern Pacific railroad. Miss Mary G. Bigley is to receive $500 per year for three years. Earl M. Kyle is to receive 50 shares of the Southern Pacific railroad common stock and 25 shares of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company.

On September 8 bids will be opened for projects in Butler, Cambria, Clarion, McKean, Schuylkill, Somerset, Susquehanna and Westmoreland counties. Projects on which bids will be opened the following day are in Blair, Bradford, Bucks, Lehigh, Chester, Clinton, Dauphin, McKean, Northampton and Westmoreland counties.

Nick Yelich Held For September Court

Nick Yelich of Bessemer, arrested recently and charged with violation of the Snyder act when a considerable amount of liquor was found in his garage by Constable W. J. Edwards and assisting officers, has been held for the September term of court by Justice of the Peace Chaney of Bessemer. He is out under $2,500 bail for his appearance at court. Yelich will be remembered as the man, according to Constable Edwards, who when arrested some time ago on a similar charge, was discharged when the liquor seized proved to be vinegar when tested.

Season Activities At Y. W. Camp End

Probably Over Four Hundred Are In Camp During Summer

Camp East Brook, the Y. W. C. A. camp for girls at East Brook, Pa. closes today. The summer camp has been open for ten weeks, opening, June 21, and closing today. The camp has been filled to capacity practically every week. Probably over four hundred girls enjoyed outings at this camp from this city and others during the season. This camp has become most popular during the five years it has been in operation, and its fame is still spreading. This summer, girls were at camp from this city, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Rochester, Butler, New Wilmington, Warren, O., and many other places.

During this past week, the girls who were in camp were girls who had been in camp at other times this summer and came back for the last week of camp. During the week there were beside the usual camp activities, a treasure hunt, moonlight swimming, Thursday night a corn roast, etc. Beside the camp activities of tennis, swimming, baseball, volley ball, basketball, hiking, croquet, tract, campfires and others.

The camp had a very successful season under the management of Miss Amy Norris. Miss Ruth Worrell, girls Sercetary of the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Helen Davidson of Westminster College were the recreation counsellors. During the past two weeks, Miss Florence Pollard of Wheatland, assisted with the recreation in the absence of Miss Worrell who is on her vacation. Miss Vera Nickols of Warren, O., also assisted with recreation activities at camp during the past week.

During the early fall, week-end parties to camp will be probably enjoyed by various clubs of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Open House Meeting At Bible Mission

This evening there will be an open house meeting at the Bible House Mission, 10 East North street. No special topics are announced. L. Schmidt, evangelist, will answer any Bible question. There will be song, prayer and testimony service. There will be no evening meetings for two weeks on account of the tent camp meeting on the Pence farm on the Harlansburg road which begins Sunday, August 29, and continues until September 12.

FEWER FISH IN GREAT LAKES

More than 100 million pounds of fish have been taken yearly from the Great Lakes for the last 50 years, the Bureau of Fisheries tells us. The high point was in 1922 when the yield was 140 million pounds, valued at $9,000,000. Lake Erie, second smallest of the Great Lakes, produces about half the fish yield of all the Great Lakes combined. In 1922 the catch of Lake Erie amounted to 54 million pounds, but the latest reports from Lake Erie indicate production has fallen greatly. The pollution of the waters of the lake, which is virtually unrestricted, and intensive fishing, are believed to be partly to blame. A fish must have something like half a chance to live if he is to go on producing his kind.

to protect the rights of the parties arrested.

It is understood that this means action in damages against those involved in the raids at the offices of Attorney Kraus and Ben G. Swick, although not directly confirmed in the above statement.

The hearings of Ben G. Swick and F. S. Blackburn were held first and at the office of Alderman William E. Marshall, where the informations were made.

Those testifying in the cases were M. J. Teator, Roy King and W. T. Rahiser, members of the Ellwood City police force, and R. E. Graham, a chemist.

It was brought out that the raids were based on investigations which were made following information given by Burgess D. A. Evans.

The defense made a determined effort to discredit the testimony that the bottle in the Swick case, shown as evidence, was the same as that taken from the office of Mr. Swick, and also the testimony of the chemist as to whether the stuff in the bottle was actually a beverage. Attorneys Martin and Emery succeeded apparently to some extent in this questioning, and when the discharge of the defendant was asked it was immediately granted by Alderman Marshall.

In the Blackburn case alcohol was found in the basement of the home and ten and one-half pints of bonded liquor in the upstairs part of the Blackburn home. The question was raised that the alcohol was denatured and unfit for beverage purposes. In this case Alderman Marshall held Blackburn for the September term of court. Bail in the sum of $1,500 was furnished for the appearance of Blackburn for trial.

The hearing of Attorney Kraus occurred at the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz following the other hearings. The same counsel appeared for the defense in this instance as in the first cases.

But two witnesses were called, M. J. Teator, present chief of police of Ellwood City, who was a patrolman at the time of the raid, and R. E. Graham, chemist.

Teator, the prosecutor, told of assisting in the search of the offices of Attorney Kraus on direction of the state police officers. Nothing was found, he stated, in the offices of Attorney Kraus, his brother, Lawrence, which was immediately in the rear of the former's office, but that the bottle presented in evidence, a pint bottle containing a fourth of a pint of liquid said to be liquor and bearing the name of a person other than Attorney Kraus, to whom it had evidently been issued as a prescription, had been found in a room to the rear of the Lawrence Kraus office.

Teator admitted that he did not know that this room, in which there were some automobile accessories and junk, was necessarily a part of the office of Kraus or whether it might not be rented to other persons.

Questioned with regard to the manner of search in the offices, he denied that he had done any damage or broken into anything in the office. He said that state police officers had pried open the safe. Among the state police in the office were H. C. Bigham, Charles Sorok, D. Bush and B. H. Bridge, while Patrolman James Hays of Ellwood City was also present.

He was inclined to refuse telling where he received his information on which he made his investigation and resulted in his securing a search warrant on which the raid was made, but Alderman Mantz ruled that he must answer, and he stated that Burgess D. A. Evans told him that he had better investigate.

R. E. Graham, chemist, testified as to the alcoholic content of the stuff found, but admitted that he did not examine the stuff for anything other than the alcoholic content.

The testimony over, the district attorney asked that Kraus be held, while Attorney Emery asked that he be discharged. The contention of the latter was granted immediately and without delay.

Old Time River Pilot Passes Away

WARREN, Pa., Aug. 28.—Francis D. Olney, 97 years old, the last Allegheny river pilot in this section of the country, is dead in his home in Irvin. He followed his trade for a half century, starting at 16, and at one time owned several barges.

His father fought in the war of 1812 and his grandfather in the American revolution. Olney was Warren county's oldest citizen. He leaves a daughter in Youngsville.

Pola Negri Reveals Courtship, With Her Late "Sheik" Lover

Polish Screen Star Nearing New York And Is In State Of Prostration.

(International News Service)

ON BOARD THE GOLDEN STATE LIMITED, EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A shrine to the living, not a monument to the dead, is the pledge of love Pola Negri today made to the memory of Rudolph Valentino as she lay spent with grief in the narrow confines of her drawing room en route to view the body of the man she loved.

Final lap of her journey from Hollywood to New York finds the Polish movie star in a state of prostration. Constant application of ice bags to her head and above her heart is being resorted to by her nurse, Adeline Valencia, in the hope that the journey can be completed. Every effort is being made to conserve her nervous energy, and her secretary, Miss Florence Hein, on the doctor's orders, is denying everybody admission to her room.

Today, for the first time, the span of silence imposed upon her by the physician's orders was broken when she told the story of her romance with Valentino.

"Mr. Valentino proposed to me after he returned from Paris, a free man. There was only one thought in our minds. We looked forward to the time when we could be bound together for eternity," she dictated to Miss Hein in answer to the question of when and where he had proposed to her. "I met him for the first time almost a year ago at a ball masque given by Miss Marion Davies."

Merchant Marine Slowly Growing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. — The American Merchant Marine is slowly growing, the Department of Commerce announced today, even while the rest of the shipping world is still suffering from the devastating effects of the World War.

This optimistic note was sounded by the Department when its shipping census showed a net increase of 250,000 tons in the amount of shipping flying the American flag on July 1, last, as compared to July 1, 1925. This gain included an increase of 500,000 tons of steamers and motor vessels added to America's active fleets during the year by private capital and a loss of 250,000 tons in government-owned shipping, which was either sold privately or withdrawn from the seas.

Health Evangelist Talks On Parasites

Tells of Insidious Work of Tape Worms That Play Upon the Human System and How to Remove Them

OFFERS REWARD OF $1,000.00

Says He Will Remove Limited Number of Tape Worms Free and Will Pay Big Reward in Any Case If He Fails

The big crowd that witnessed the World's Free Minstrels, on the B. & O. Grounds, South Mill street, New Castle, last night and heard Health Evangelist Dyer lecture on the subject the tape worms and living creatures that infect the human body, causing distress in health and serious trouble, was amazed at his revelations and horrified at the sight of some of the specimens he had on exhibition.

Explaining the cause and effect of these health-destroying parasites, Mr. Dyer told how many of their victims go on suffering for many years thinking their trouble some disorder of the stomach, liver and kidneys, only to find that all signs of it disappear as soon as the worm is removed. To demonstrate this, he offered to remove parasites from a limited number of sufferers absolutely free for a short time and urged all persons who have reason to believe themselves afflicted to come to him and take advantage of his offer. He also asked his audience to tell any friends of his offer.

Winding up his interesting talk on this vital subject, Mr. Dyer offered a reward of $1,000 to any person whose tape worms he failed to remove and referred to more than ten thousand that he had already removed without trouble of distress to the patients, naming a number of prominent people he has relieved.

While the fun and entertainment of the minstrels were tempered with the rather serious talk of the Health Evangelist, everyone had a good time and thoroughly enjoyed the excellent singing and dancing and the witty jokes of the comedians. An entirely new program will be furnished at the show this evening, and together with another interesting talk by Evangelist Dyer. One thing that everyone enjoys is that they can go to it without the bother "of dressing up" and that they can always feel free to bring the babies and the youngsters. It is just one of the wholesome, clean and jolly shows that all the family can enjoy. This show is free to everybody. Starts at 8:00 p. m. This show will be here for three weeks.

SIMPLICITY IN LAWS

THOMAS JEFFERSON, whose claims to fame as a lawyer are manifold, was a strong advocate of simplicity in the wording of laws. His appeal for statutes in plain English involved the implication that too many laws are far from simple in expression and that too many of them at least seem to be intentionally intricate, vague and difficult of interpretation.

Legal phraseology becomes distinctly vicious when it says one thing and means another. Thus seemingly innocuous legislation has been found to be treacherous and other legislation apparently severe enough to meet a public demand is made worthless by the insertion of a qualifying but inconspicuous word or clause.

Criticism of the statutes on this score comes, however, more frequently from laymen than from lawyers. Lawyers less unselfish and scrupulous than Jefferson prefer to have the laws not too easily understood by the untrained, in order that they—the lawyers—may be called upon the more often to unravel the legislative enigmas for a fee.

But the barrister and informed legislator know that what the layman regards as needless pleonasms and tautologies in statutory verbiage, as in other legal documents, really are useful in precluding differences of opinion as to the meaning and to cover completely all possible contingencies.

The interminable phrases commonly ridiculed and condemned by non-professionals are in many cases products of experience covering centuries of court and legislative procedure, and while precautions of this sort can be carried to ludicrous extremes, on the whole the established phrases are essential.

THE "IDLE RICH"

AFTER a group of English scientists had indulged in the ancient and still popular pastime of defending and damning the "idle rich," one of the assembled savants, Sir Josiah Stamp, suddenly terminated the discussion with the statement that those who come under that classification are so few in number in England as to be unworthy of either public or scientific concern.

There are less than a thousand able-bodied men in England today who are idle and rich, although only a few years ago they formed a national minority of considerable proportions and economic importance.

While the idle rich are not necessarily bad citizens, they could better serve society by taking their place in the world's "workshop" and contributing their part to the world's production. That they usually consume more than their share of the world's production is their one redeeming feature, for by consuming they provide employment for producers.

Sir Josiah defends the idle rich on the theory that they stir the poor toiler to effort, emulation. That is, they are an inspiration to others to acquire wealth so they may also become idle.

America's experience with the idle rich has been dissimilar from that of the Old World. For centuries England and other European countries have had a class of unemployed rich men in which all ages were represented, while the idle rich of the United States have been chiefly youthful sons of men who have earned their wealth but never "laid down the reins." And there are many instances where the heirs of American millions have shown themselves not content with merely dissipating the accumulated wealth of their ancestors.

RELIC OF BARBARISM

ONCE more the "third degree" has been brought into the limelight with the usual result that the public has shown its displeasure both of the practice and of the practicioners. Brute force and cruelty are unpopular in this country even when used against criminals.

While the juror who halted the trial of the "cry-baby bandits" in New York by protesting against the alleged use of "third degree" methods in wringing confessions from the bandits did not help the defendants, he went far in impressing upon the police mind that the American policeman is not an agent of the Inquisition and is not living in that age of torture and brutality.

In this case defense counsel counted heavily on public sentiment against the "third degree," and while the police were exonerated of the brutality charges, the very fact that criminals are able to play upon the sentiment against brutal treatment of persons suspected of crimes is bound to make the employment of such tactics less and less effective in the obtaining of convictions.

The police can not be too zealous in their efforts to capture criminals and obtain their conviction, except when those efforts reach the extremes of torturing the suspected into admitting the commission of crimes of which they may or may not be guilty. The lay mind has no difficulty in imagining treatment beyond human endurance under which the innocent might confess the most fiendish offense.

A DAY WITH FRIENDS

A day with friends, away from care
And all the burdens men must bear;
Away from every urgent need,
From selfishness and petty greed,
Where talk is all of books and plays
And by-gone joys of yesterdays.

A day with friends—and let it be
Beneath some spreading maple tree,
Where noise and clamor never break
The calm which sky and meadow make;
Where never traffic's dusty pace
Blots out the beauty of the place.

Where, each for all and all for each,
There is no cunning in the speech;
No thought of profit, save the gain
In liveliness of heart and brain
And those more lasting riches wrought
By friendly interchange of thought.

A day with friends—throughout the years
But seldom such a day appears
When fame and money, hope and doubt
And gain and loss are all shut out,
And every thought that's uttered springs
From dreams and sweet imaginings.

The season for swimming the English Channel is over. About all the contestants have quit for this year and none succeeded in getting over except our own Trudy Ederle. Next year we'll have the same old news from there from the ambitious men and women who want to take a 20-mile swim. Perhaps if they can get all the dogfish out of the Channel, as well as the cold and seasickness more swimmers will be able to make the trip in a bathing suit.

By drinking milk and eating less meat eight years can be added to a person's life at the time they need the years most is now the advice and promise of some eminent scientist. When does a man need eight years more than just at the tag end of life? When that is answered correctly we'll buy a cow.

According to visitors abroad Germany is the only nation that knows who won the war. And Germany, by realizing that fact and getting down to business, is the most prosperous nation of all in Europe that was engaged in the war. Germans are always quick to realize the truth, and it didn't take them long to know after America got in the war just what nation wouldn't win it.

One-fifth of New York City is going to vote by machines next November. A good many people here are under the impression that New York's vote is altogether a machine vote.

Whatever else may be said of them, these are certainly good snoozing nights.

Today's Storyette.

A minister like his father before him had often officiated at marriage ceremonies but this was his first experience at giving away the bride.

He was in a devout mood; his church was small, his salary meager and his family numerous. This daughter had been especially expensive.

"Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" droned the preacher.

Gently the father placed the slender hand of the bride in that of the embarrassed groom.

"Take her, my boy" he exclaimed. "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Here's a New York romance for you. The first time he saw her was on a Broadway car and she was on the pavement. The second time he saw her was as a theatre audience rose. Somehow, she got away. The third time he was in a subway express and she was in a local and both trains were stalled, their windows were opposite. The fourth time they were in a Fifth avenue bus and he might never have seen her except that he overheard her tell the conductor that she lacked the necessary dime. So now they are married.

The Age of Reptiles.

The Age of Reptiles
Was a quer old age,
It could never be
Produced on the stage,
For the earth in that day
Was all soft and porus,
And roaming the globe
Was the great Brontosaurus,
He was one hundred feet
From his tail to his nose,
And he could exterminate
The fiercest of foes.

Then also there was
The wild Camptosaurus,
Its lucky for us,
That they lived before us;
At the Hesperonis

For although a bird,
Wings he had none.

We must not forget,
The Tyrannosourus
Which on the whole
Was the funniest cuss,
He had teth like a lion
And head like a horse,
And his short tail
A great deal of force,
And now you can see,
If we'd lived in those days,
Our Zoos would have pleased
In reptilian ways.

Gertrude Ederle, genuine "Miss America", lands in her home town, "Little Old New York", today. Friends and neighbors will give her a "block party",

New York's mayor gives her a reception with a band and policemen parading.

The young lady brings honor and glory to her family and country.

Girls that try to be "skinny" notice that Gertrude, champion of the world, weighs over 160 pounds, is proud of it, and can have her choice of 1,000 good husbands.

And after she won her victory, conquering the channel, this young girl went, not to a cabaret, but straight to her old grandmother in the south of Germany.

The young will please observe that reverence for the old does not interfere with winning a world championship.

A United States army flyer has already accomplished it.

Krishnamurti is here, and those that have seen him like him. He will tell us interesting truths now, and later his delicate 100-pound body is to become an estatic new vehicle for the world teacher. He rebukes us for our devction to physical comfort.

At Dundalk, Ireland, Mrs. J. McDonald said Mrs. Mary Martin cast the "evil eye" on her child, dooming it to a life of ill luck.

A third woman, doing the best she could, cut the fringe from the shawl of Mrs. Martin of the "evil eye" and burned that fringe under the nose of the child. The evil spell should have disappeared with the smoke, but didn't.

The judge refused to take the case seriously and tried to make the ladies understand that the evil eye doesn't exist, and smoke from a lady's shawl wouldn't cure it, anyhow.

Millions in Ireland and other countries will say that the judge is foolish. We are still far from moderate intelligence as regards three-quarters of the 1600 million human being on earth.

In Day's News

Dr. Elmer Brown who today reaches the age of 65 years, has long been a conspicuous figure in American educational circles. He is a former United States commissioner of education and for the past 15 years has been chancellor of New York University. Dr. Brown was born in Chautauqua county, N. Y., just three months after the killing of his namesake, Colonel Elmer E. Ellsworth, who was the first federal officer to fall in the war between the states. Dr. Brown is a graduate of the Illinois State Normal school and of the University of Michigan. He studied a year in Germany. Early in his career he became professor of the theory and practice of education at the University of Michigan. Subsequently he filled a similar position at the University of California. In 1907 he was called to Washington to become U. S. Commissioner of Education which office he continued to fill until called to his present position as head of New York University in 1911.

SCAPEGRACE HEROES

It has long been an axiom that a scapegrace and a hero are often separated only by the presence of the opportunity.

Two heroic actions, recently featured in the daily news, give added evidence of its truth.

In Los Angeles, a "sleep stealer"—a roustabout who was stealing a night's sleep in a chair in the hallway of a rooming house—awoke choking with smoke.

The building was in a blaze and the lodgers had fled. As he was groping his way down the hall he heard a baby cry.

Feeling his way back through the smoke he broke down a door and rescued a family of four who had been overcome by smoke.

Then he disappeared, before the police could question him.

A Japanese vessel, carrying a deserter shackled in chains, was wrecked in Gray's Harbor in Washington.

When hope of saving the ship was given up and all hands were taking to the life boats the deserter was freed. As he was about to leap overboard he saw the captain thrown against the bridge compass by a lurch of the vessel. At the risk of his own life he returned, placed a life preserver about the officer's unconscious form and dropping him overboard swam beside him until they were picked up by a coast guard cutter.

In the World War the first Victoria Cross awarded for bravery was given to a newsboy from Edinburgh who had been arrested a score of times for breaking the law forbidding private citizens to scale the walls of the castle.

Robert Clive, the man who, at the age of 34, captured India for Great Britain, was, in times of peace, truculent, irritable, obstinate and unmanageable. When he was a boy all who knew him prophesied that some day he would hang.

"In active service, bad boys make good."

The same qualities which make them a menace to peaceful society when used in constructive effort mark them as heroes.

GREAT LAND HOLDINGS

I was interested while in the Adirondack Mountains, to find that there still existed in the much populated East, two great estates in land. I thought that landed estates in the Old Thirteen Colonies had been so subdivided that an estate of five thousand acres would be considered a very large estate. Imagine my surprise when I found myself at the head of Racket Lake, within the confines of the Whitney Estate. All about me were great forests on the side of the Big Hills,—wonderful stands of timber. The boatman at Racket Lake told me that the Whitney Estate comprises some ninety thousand acres. Upon it there were three mountain homes built by different members of the Whitney family, that seldom now do any of the Whitneys use these homes themselves, that frequently friends of the family inhabited them, and they were all cared for throughout the year. Later I learned that the old Rockefeller Adirondack preserve of fifty-two thousand acres is still intact. It is now owned by several men, among whom were Colonel Ben McAlpin of New York, and John MacDonald of Utica. The proposition of buying this and setting it aside for the use of the Governors of New York for a summer residence is being urged upon the Legislature of the state of New York. Perhaps this idea has occurred to the owners of the Preserve since the establishment this summer of the Adirondacks as the summer residence for the President of the United States. People are great imitators.

There are few great holdings of land left in North America. The greatest holdings are being broken up now in Mexico by the present Mexican government. These holdings, however, are not as great as imagined. They are called "haciendas". At the last survey of Mexico there were about 11 great haciendas, the greatest of which comprised 250,000 acres. Southern California, however, has a relic of the old Spanish days of great estates. The Santa Margarita Ranch in San Diego County consists of a holding of 325,000 acres of land. This estate is now held by the executors of Jerome O'Neil. O'Neil recently died, but he was the sole possessor of this land during most of his lifetime, having inherited it. It is to be held in trust for thirty years, for the benefit of certain beneficiaries. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway runs 20 miles through this Ranch. The Santa Fe does not own its right-of-way in fee simple, as it entered into a contract with Jerome O'Neil upon the building of its line from San Bernardino to National City, California, whereby, in consideration of acquiring a right-of-way through the Ranch the railroad was to build stations and sidetracks at designated points for the benefit of the Ranch. The Santa Fe further agreed to stop its passenger trains upon flag at any one of these stations, also for the benefit of the Ranch. It is probably one of the most curious rights-of-way ever acquired by a railroad in this country.

No Manor or Barony in England ever possessed so great an acreage of land. In the Domesday Book it is related that Alfred, the King was the Lord of about sixty Mannors, each possessing about 1,500 acres of land—not a very large holding. The average Lord of the Manor of England never ruled over more than 2,000 acres. There are some other large holdings of land in the West—in Texas, in Montana and in Wyoming, but with the development of water resources in the West and the irrigation of these lands it will not be long until they are broken up into small holdings.

When the world needs more food supply there is enough rich land in the West which can be brought under cultivation to supply many times the world's present population with food.

POEMS HOME

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

I often think of
Those Shandon bells,
Whose sounds so wild would,
In the days of childhood,
Fling round my cradle
Their magic spells.
On this I ponder
Where'er I wander,
And thus grow fonder,
Sweet Cork, of thee;
With thy bells of Shandon,
That sound so grand on
The pleasant waters
Of the River Lee.

I've heard bells chiming
Full many a clime in,
Tolling sublime in
Cathedral shrine,
While at a glibe rate
Brass tongues would vibrate—
But all their music
Spoke naught like thine;
For memory, dwelling
On each proud swelling
Of thy belfry knelling
Its bold notes free,
Made the bells of Shandon
Sound far more grand on
The pleasant water
Of the River Lee.

There's a bell in Moscow,
While on tower and kiosk,
In Saint Sophia
The Turkman gets;
And loud in air
Calls men to prayer
From the tapering summit
Of tall minarets.
Such empty phantom
I freely grant them;
But there is an anthem
More dear to me,—
'Tis the bells of Shandon
That sound so grand on
The pleasant waters
Of the River Lee.

District Epworth League Meeting At Parkers Landing

Forty-Eight Delegates Attend — Other News Of Seventh Ward

On Friday a district meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist church was held at Parker's Landing, Pa. Forty-eight delegates attended from the district. The meeting was an all-day affair and was held in the Parker's Landing M. E. church. During the day officers were elected. Two of the delegates from the Mahoning Methodist church were elected to offices.

Miss Ruth Shaw was elected first vice president of the district, and Paul Gibson was re-elected to the office of statistician.

Dinner and supper were served in the church dining room. The delegates from the Mahoning Methodist church were Lila McCann, Inez Croxall, Ruth Shaw, George Emerick and Paul Gibson. Mrs. D. C. Offutt, president of the local society, also attended. They report the meeting was most interesting and they enjoyed it very much.

Ten Service Men At P. H. C. Meeting

A feature of the recent session held by New Castle Circle No. 5, P. H. C., was the presence of ten of the service men here in the interest of the big organization. It was a sort of get acquainted night and these gentlemen certainly proved their ability in doing so. It was a meeting of unusual interest to the circle, whose continuous growth occupies a big position on the insurance map.

The guests of the circle Thursday night included Dr. H. E. Hurst, C. J. Lane, D. B. Kiser, J. D. O'Brian, A. G. Calvin, S. C. Turner, C. A. Olson, Earl Lane, J. M. Zeh, F. A. Thompson and Dr. R. G. Baird of Sharon, who presented the visitors. It was indeed a pleasure to meet these brainy gentlemen of the insurance world.

The floor work of the Knickerbocker team was never more beautifully exemplified and with its added new features the drill met with storms of applause. Miss Anna Hammond was never in better voice and the numbers rendered were warmly received.

At the close of the busy session Guardian Emma J. Goss and her committee served lunch in the attractively arranged dining room when a social hour was spent with members becoming better acquainted with their guests.

Lillie B. Jones, secretary.

Reckless Driving Cause Of Death

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 28.—A request that the driver's license of Otis Liggon, negro, Federal street, Farrell, be revoked was made following an investigation into the automobile accident which caused the death of his brother, Saunders, also of Federal street.

The jury found that Otis, who was operating the car was driving in a reckless manner when the machine turned turtle in the Mercer-Sharon road on May 23. Saunders suffered with a broken neck in the accident and died a day later in Buhl hospital.

Five witnesses, all of whom were in the car, were examined. They were Otis Liggon, Mrs. Mahafey Johnson, "Shim" Johnson and Mrs. Nettie Morris. James Campbell of Mercer, a passing motorist, also testified.

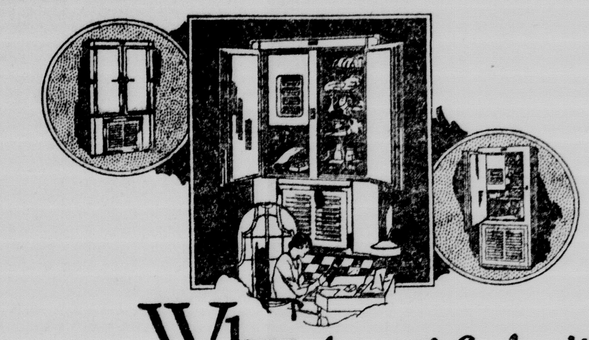
Kelvinator does NOT cost more!



Why be satisfied with less?

When we make the statement that Kelvinator does not cost more, we make it without reservation. Compare model with model—food space with food space—ice cube capacity with ice cube capacity, and you'll find that Kelvinator actually costs less than other systems not so long on the market.

Then, too, you choose from the world's largest line; you get the system of longest proved life; and a standard of quality that has never been excelled.

Such values are made possible by the fact that Kelvinator is built by the world's largest organization devoted exclusively to the manufacture of electric refrigeration for the home.

This year Kelvinator developed a Household Budget Purchase Plan that makes Kelvinator very easy for anyone to own. Now there's no reason whatever, why any buyer of electric refrigeration should be satisfied with anything less than a Kelvinator.

Injured Turfman Reported To Have 'Fighting Chance'

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 28.—That William "Hobbing" Bicknel of Indiana, Pa., who was seriously injured in a collision on the race track at the Butler fair late yesterday afternoon has a "fighting chance", was the report received from attending physicians at the Butler County Memorial hospital. Bicknel suffered several broken ribs, a dislocated shoulder and a fractured collar bone, but no internal injuries have yet been disclosed.

Three other men, all drivers, were injured in the collision, but Bicknel was the only one removed to the hospital. The others were:

Ramey Blush of Indiana, Pa., sprained back, head injuries and sprained ankle.

Paul Double of Mt. Chestnut, sprained back, injured shoulder and other minor injuries.

Paul Welp of Clearfield, Pa., driver of Cyclex, who suffered a fractured ankle and was treated at the Clearfield stables on the grounds.

The accident occurred during the third heat of the 2:24 trot, when the horse, Baron Prince, owned by W. C. Paxton of Latrobe, Pa., stumbled and fell, breaking its neck. Cyclex, Welp's horse, collided with the fallen horse, hurling Welp out of his sulky. The horse ran away, but was caught by California Frank owner of the Wild West show that is exhibiting at the fair this week. The Paxton horse broke its neck and died instantly.

Another horse, Emma Worth, owned by C. M. Wahl of Evans City, and driven by the owner's brother, George Wahl, stumbled over a slight depression in the track during the second heat of the same race and broke a bone in its leg. The horse's racing days are over, and according to the owner of the animal will be killed.

W. C. Paxton, owner of the horse that was killed, said he recently refused $1,000 for the animal.

THE ANSWER

You say that you love me, and so—
We ought to get married; heigho!
Let's study this question, my Beau.

You say you're in love
with my eyes and my hair;
My lips are like rose-buds,
my face is so fair.
How about it, my Beau,
Be honest and square.

Will you still be so loving when I'm feeble and slow?
When my lips lose their color,
and my hair turns to snow?
Will you still call me "Sweetheart",
and "Honey", my Beau?

You say that you'll always be true—
I'm not quite so certain, are you?

Oft you say you'll be tender,
and patient and kind.
When your supper is late,
you'll say, "I don't mind",
When I'm crabbed and cranky,
that you'll be resigned.

Now listen, my Beau,
you're a mighty good scout;
But you've promised too much,
And it seldom works out,
And I want you to know
what I'm thinking about.

Life's a mighty long ride,
over rough, rocky roads;
And trippers most always have big heavy loads.
But to roll down the road
in a fliver for two—
I'm ready to travel,
my Beau, are you?

—Frank W. Tyler.

CHILDREN'S NURSE RESUMES HER DUTIES

Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time and I would not be without it in the house. As I am a children's nurse, I have to be on my feet a great deal and your medicine has helped me wonderfully. I was hardly able to do my housework when I began taking it, and now I am a strong and well woman, able to do all that and go out nursing besides. I have also used the Sanative Wash and found it beneficial."—Mrs. Gertrude L. Stewart, 103 Davis St., Greenfield, Mass.

Valuable for Weakness

"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a valuable medicine for weakness."—Mrs. J. A Pietsch, Box 397, Lancaster, Pa.

Hundreds of letters like these are received by the Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., from grateful women who say that their health has improved since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Turner Held In Jail After Wife's Death

ROMNEY, W. Va., Aug. 28.—Hugh Ives, 62 years old, a piano tuner of Lewisburg, Pa., is being held in jail here as a material witness pending a coroner's inquiry into the death of his wife, who had been sick in bed and died in a farmer's home near here Wednesday while he was with her. He left yesterday morning, taking his possessions, without saying anything to L. Halterman, his host, about his wife being dead. The body was found in bed later.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert White today quoted the man as saying he thought his wife was only sleeping and did not know she was dead. White indicated his belief that the woman died of natural causes, but because of the abrupt strange departure of the man he asked for an inquest. The woman had been ill for some weeks.

Ives was arrested by state police at Three Churches, this county, and brought back to jail.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

GENERAL GEORGE CONDYLIS

The popular hero of the moment in Greece is General George Condylis, whose recent coup in overthrowing the dictator, General Pangalos, surprised the world at large by its suddenness.

Two years ago when the Greek parliament declined to hand the reins of government over to General Condylis he said that he would never attempt a coupe de force, but even at that time a considerable proportion of the Greek population believed that before long he would be in control of the Republic.

Many thousands of Greeks looked upon Condylis as the strongest man in the republic. He is described as being hard and relentless, trained in the ways of the soldier and possessing an abrupt manner, powerful perseverance and much self-confidence.

At the beginning of the first Balkan war he was a corporal. He fought through both Balkan wars, in Macedonia during the World War and then in Anatolia, rising to the rank of colonel. He was one of those who, in 1917, assisted Venizelos in setting up a revolutionary government at Salonika, and when King Constantine returned to Greece late in 1920 Condylis went to Constantinople with other dissatisfied officers. When Constantine was again dethroned two years later Condylis returned to the army, but during the Lausanne treaty negotiations he resigned to become a deputy in Parliament and to fight for the Republican cause.

In April, 1924, he was appointed Minister of War by Prime Minister Papanastasion. Four months afterword he resigned his portfolio when the Prime Minister received a delegation of soldiers and sailors whom Condylis merely considered to be mutineers. His resignation precipitated the fall of the Papanastasion government and later Condylis was exiled with a number of politicians who were accused of sedition.

On the occasion of General Pangalos becoming President in April of this year, General Condylis and other exiles were permitted to return to Greece.

Hillsville

Miss Marion Baker entertained the Queen Esther Society at her home here Thursday evening. The regular business was tatken up, after which the hostess served a delicious lunch.

The funeral of Mrs. Rosse Sfara was one of the largest ever held here. Mrs. Sfara had lived here so long she was very well known. The cars of beautiful floral tributes told of the esteem in which she was held by her many friends.

CORN ROAST HELD

A number of folks gathered at the home of Jack Nelson on the Bessemer road and enjoyed a corn roast. The out-of-town folks present were Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Eakin and sons, Walter and Marion, and Miss Johnston, of New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. Kights and son of Pittsburgh. All reported a wonderful time.

AFTER THE BATH

The mother was getting her small son ready for school when she noticed a lump on his head. "Freddy!" she said, sternly, "have you been fighting again?"

"Fightin'," he echoed; "not me."

"But somebody struck you," said his mother.

"Nobody struck me," he answered, stoutly; "I wasn't fightin' at all. It was an accident."

"An accident?"

"Yes," he replied: "I was sitting on Tommy Jones, and I forgot to hold his feet."

International Sunday School Lesson

Notes On Lesson By

George M. Landis, Pastor First Baptist Church, New Castle.

September 5, 1926
THE TENT OF MEETING
Ex. 33:7-16.

Golden Text:—"The Lord spake unto Moses face to face, as man speaketh unto his friend." (Ex. 33:11).

This tabernacle (or "tent of meeting" as it is more correctly called in the Revised Version), should not be confused with the Tabernacle which was built soon after this (Ex. 40), the plans of which had already been given to Moses (Ex. 25-31). In the Revision, verse seven reads: "Now Moses used to take the tent and to pitch it without the camp," indicating that this had been the practice for some time, which could not have been said at this time of the regular Tabernacle. The tent of meeting was evidently the center of worship from the leaving of Egypt until the Tabernacle was built. This lesson gives some valuable instruction regarding communion and fellowship with God, which are the normal activities of a redeemed people.

I. THE PLACE OF COMMUNION WITH GOD (vs. 7.)

1. At the tent of meeting, which is a wonderful type of Jesus Christ, who tabernacles among us (Jn. 1:14 margin). He is the true and only meeting place between the sinner and God (Jn. 14:6). We must either meet God in grace as He is revealed in Jesus Christ, or meet Him in judgment with all hope gone.

2. Without the camp. Israel had broken the law of God, in the worship of the golden calf (Ex. 32). God had declared a break in his fellowship with them (vs. 3). He commanded them to take off their ornaments (vs. 5-6), as a sign of their true repentance. It had been their ornaments out of which they had made the golden calf (32:2-3). Many an ornament has become an idol.

God as the center of gathering in the midst of the camp, had been displaced by the man-made idol. A holy God would not manifest His presence in a defiled camp, so He appointed a new place of meeting, "without the camp." This is typical of Jesus Christ, who was rejected by the eccleastical camp of His day (Jn. 1:11), and then suffered without the camp (Heb. 13:12). He thus becomes the true center of our gathering. If we would meet with him, we must "Go forth therefore unto Him without the camp, bearing His reproach" (Heb. 13:13.)

II. THE PRODUCT UPON OTHERS OF OUR COMMUNION WITH GOD (vs. 8-10).

One man who practices the presence of God, will affect those about him. The wayward Israelites now had their eyes on godly Moses. No sooner did he start for the "tent of meeting" than the people all stood reverently in their own tent doors. And as the cloudy pillar descended upon the tent, indicating that God was manifesting Himself within the tent; all the people worshipped God (vs. 10). Many have since been led to worship God thru the examples of an uncompromising soul.

III. THE PRIVILEGE OF COMMUNING WITH GOD (vs. 11.)

As we would prize an interview with our president or with some earthly monarch, how much more should we value the infinitely higher privilege of having intercourse with the Most High God, the Supreme Monarch of the Universe.

It is a marvel of God's grace that He would condescend talking with us face to face, even as friend to friend. Fellowship is one of the greatest promoters of friendship. We love to converse with our friends. Do we enjoy more to talk with that Friend who sticketh closer than a brother (Prov. 18:24)? Are we so enamored with God's presence, that like Joshua, we abide in the secret place of the Most High (Psa. 91:1)?

IV. THE PETITION OF THOSE WHO COMMUNE WITH GOD (vs. 12-13.)

Recognizing his own inability to lead this fickle and rebellious people, Moses appeals to God for help. He bases his petition upon God's knowledge and grace. The fact that Christ knows us by name (Jn. 10:3, 28), and that we are the objects of His sovereign grace (Eph. 2:8), should embolden us to come boldly to the throne of grace to find help in every time of need (Heb. 4:16). Moses prayer was:

1. For Divine Guidance (vs. 13). "Show me thy ways." There are many roads in the wilderness. Christian leaders are in danger of choosing the wrong road unless they are willing to be shown God's way (Gal. 5:16; Psa. 16:11; Prov. 14:12). Following God's guidance results in:—

a. A deeper acquaintance with God,—"that I may know thee." God reveals himself to those who walk in His ways. Paul had this same aspiration (Phil. 3:10). To know God is the great need of mankind in all ages (Jn. 17:3).

b. A continued experience of God's grace,—"that I may find grace in thy sight." God's sufficient and sustaining grace is assured to all who follow His guidance (2 Cor. 12:9; Psa. 65:11).

2. For God's presence (vs. 15). Happy is the man who is afraid to advance without God's presence with him. It would be far better to remain in the wilderness with God, than to enter Canaan without Him. The presence of God is vastly superior to the presence of an army, as a means of protection.

The presence of God is a mighty witness to the world about, "so shall it be known." The world takes knowledge of those who have been with Jesus (Acts. 4:13).

The presence of God makes separation natural and easy, "so shall we be separated, I and thy people from all the people of the earth." There can be no true fellowship between those who are enjoying the presence of God, and those of the world. If we were more zealous to maintain the practice of the presence of God, we would have less trouble in maintaining our separation from the world. (2 Cor. 6: 17-18; Jn. 17:14-16).

V. THE PROMISE OF GOD'S PRESENCE TO THOSE WHO COMMUNE WITH HIM (vs. 14.)

God assured Moses that His presence should go with him. God is always ready to abide with those who desire Him. The fellowship which the presence of God affords is one of the greatest joys of the Christian life.

God's presence is a guarantee of rest, "and I will give you rest." We enjoy rest from the dominion of sin, the trials of life, the fear of enemies, and all the other things which would disturb us; when we have God's presence with us (Mt. 11:28-29; Phil. 4:5-7; Acts. 23:11; Mt. 28:20).

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Loen Trotzky is on the par path again, this time against bureaucracy and red tape.

He had abandoned the campaign for some time in favor of contemplating party politics but when the following example was called to his notice he re-entered the fray with vigor.

"A twenty kopeck silver coin of the Czar's regime was found in a bag of silver Soviet coins in the Department of Finance of Voronetz" relates Trotsky. "The coin is now worth only six kopecks." (The equivalent of three cents.)

"The wise Voronetz financial folks decided to isolate this czaristic coin. The department held a conference of four responsible officials and determination on the proper procedure.

"Then they ordered a secretary to fold up the coin in a clean piece of cloth. An old woman courier sewed it up with thread. Another secretary tied it well with a string. A third employe wrote upon the cloth the address of the financial commissariat in Moscow and stamped it with 23 kopecks worth of stamps.

"Meanwhile a stenographer was making out the necessary records with three copies. Three responsible workers signed the documents and they were forwarded to Moscow along with the coin.

"Only wise men can do such things!" exclaims Trotsky.

One of the last acts of the late Djerjinsky in his capacity of chairman of the Supreme Economic council was to order the multitudinous committees which hitherto have directed affairs in all departments of the Soviet economy, to elect one man to do their work. Dejrjinsky blamed the paralyzing red tape and procrastination of the Soviet apparatus on the committee system. If his "one man responsibility" order is carried out it will mean a revolutionary change in the Soviet system. The order is greeted enthusiastically by many who have long realized that the committee system of management wasted years of time in talk.

Other sorts of mismanagement are also occupying the attention of Soviet leaders. The Soviet moving picture industry has long been a sore point. Between the Ukrainian Moving Picture trust and the Russian Moving Picture Trust—both of course parts of the Soviet union organization—there is reigning a hostility which has broken out in open scandal.

The Soviets most famous movie of recent years "The Warship Potemkin" a tale of a mutiny on a Czariat battleship based on an actual incident in the revolution of 1905 has been shown in many of the principal countries of Europe but is still unknown to the Ukraine one of the most populous parts of the Sovunion. The picture was one of the hits of the season in Germany in spite of, or because of the hot controversy which arose over the question of its effect upon military discipline and the many moves made to suppress it.

But because of the conflict between the Ukrainian and Russian movie organizations the film has not even ben shown in Sebastopol, the scene of its action. America is scheduled to receive the film in the near future. It is one of the very few Soviet films which do credit to the Russians' reputation for theatrical art.

Union Schools Will Start Term Sept. 7

Pupils Of Both High School And Grade School To Report On That Date

The Union township school on Scotland Lane will open for the 1926-27 term Tuesday, September 7, it was announced by the school authorities today. The opening date is effective for both the pupils of the high school and the grade school.

A marked increase in the enrollment of the school over last year is looked forward to but with the accommodations of the new building built several years ago by the township no difficulty in accommodating the children is anticipated.

Mystery Surrounds Triple Tragedy

(International News Service)

OCALA, Fla., Aug. 28.—One man is dead and a man and his wife are dying in the hospital here as the result of a shooting affair which startled the neighboring town of Inglis. The dead man, David Wiley of Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived in Ocala early Thursday night and immediately sought Jerry Wydman, husband of Wiley's former wife.

As soon as he located Wydman, Wiley fired two shots which entered Wydman's breast. Mrs. Wydman, hearing the shots, rushed to her husband's side only to meet her former husband, Wiley, who turned the gun on her and fired two shots into her body. Wiley then fired the remaining two bullets through his heart.

Owing to the serious conditions of Mr. and Mrs. Wydman, no statement has been available to determine the cause of the tragedy.

Firemen Answer Fire Calls Friday

The city firemen were called on to answer two fire calls on Friday afternoon. There was little loss in either case.

The first of the alarms was received from box 83 and called the No. 5 company to the home of S. Shenson, 23 East Reynolds street, to battle with flames in the shingle roof of the house. Sparks from the chimney was the cause of the blaze. The loss was approximately $25.

A leak in the oil stove of Albert Hall, rear 818 South Jefferson street, caught on fire from the burner and caused a blaze, which resulted in the calling of the firemen by an alarm from box 53 at 4:05 p. m. There was no resulting loss.

Sacred Monkey's Death Anniversary Annual Holy Day

(International News Service)

BOMBAY, Aug. 28.—In Pandharpur a small town near here and the seat of a famous temple dedicated to Rama is being celebrated with all solemnity, the sixth anniversary of the death of a sacred monkey.

This monkey is believed to have been a great soul but some slip occurred in his past life which caused him to be born a monkey instead of in human form.

By mutual consent of all the holy men in Pandharpur, the holiest among them more than a generation was the sacred monkey. He was big in size and very pious in his ways. He always woke with the sunrise and was always the first to bathe in the sacred river Chandrabhaga which flows at the foot of the principle temple.

After bathing the monkey went through a process which corresponded to the religious ceremonies of the human observants. Every day the opening of the temple gates found the monkey standing in front of the image with folded palms. He would sit there until noon, and then would walk out of the courtyard, accepting any food that was given to him or which he could pick from the trees. He is reported never to have accepted any food which could not be eaten by holy medicants. The rest of the afternoon and evening he was just a monkey but a very helpful and thoughtful one, rescuing lost children, rocking babies in their cradles and doing other services which came to hand.

Beating of tom-toms in the streets of Pandharpur has been prohibited ever since the monkey died, and his passing is celebrated on each anniversary of his death, thousands of pilgrims coming on foot for great distances to worship at his tomb.

Another Appeal Made To Government

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Renewed charges that American rights in Mexico have been violated in the Calles government's enforcement of the religious laws have been made to the state department by the Knights of Columbus.

J. J. Flaherty and P. J. Callahan, ranking officers of the knights, held a long conference with Secretary of State Kellogg Thursday evening, it was learned, and later James R. Sheffield, ambassador to Mexico, was called into the conference. None of the conferees would discuss the meeting.

Reveal Heroism In Mine Blast

(International News Service)

CLYMER, Pa., Aug. 28.—John Olsen, 36, was acclaimed a hero Friday for his feat in leading nine comrades to safety shortly after the second blast in the Clearfield Bituminous Coal corporation's mine here.

Olsen forced the men behind safety door, when, panic-stricken, they would have otherwise made a dash for freedom into the gas-filled main heading.

Wielding an iron bar, Olsen held the men behind the doors until the first wave of gas passed, then led them to safety through an air passage.

For Motorists

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28.—In an endeavor to reduce the frightful toll of grade crossing crashes in Ohio C. E. Maxfield superintendent for the Cleveland District of the Nickel Plate railroad has issued a set of "ten commandments" for motorists and pedestrians.

The "commandments" are:

1. Thou shalt learn to recognize railroad crossings and approach them with extreme care.
2. Thou shalt look both ways and listen for trains.
3. Thou shalt be doubly alert if there are two or more tracks.
4. Thou shalt always use good judgment at railroad crossings that thy days may be long upon the land and the enjoyment of thy car continues.
5. Thou shalt keep thy brakes girded with effective brake linings.
6. Thou shalt not depend upon the driver of the car ahead.
8. Thou shalt not try to beat the train.
9. Thou shalt when in doubt take the safe course always.
10. Thou shalt cross cautiously.

Card Of Thanks.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindness shown us during the death of our son George, the donation of cars and for the beautiful flowers.

Noted Credit Man Will Discuss Local Bureau Conditions

Better Business Bureau To Sponsor Visit Here Of James D. Hayes

A meeting of the board of directors of the Better Business Bureau of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce was held in the Chamber of Commerce room at 9:30 a. m. August 27, with President C. W. Grafton presiding.

Members of the board in attendance were: C. W. Grafton, DeLace Cole, W. E. Waddington, C. P. Reynolds and Ira Ramsey.

A good report was received from Dollar Day, the members present stating that it was one of the best ever held in New Castle.

As a result of a discussion held concerning the credit rating bureau, it was decided to invite James D. Hays, manager, Harrisburg Credit Exchange, to come to New Castle to address all of the merchants, professional men and others who are interested in credit in this community. All those interested in matters pertaining to credit are cordially invited to attend this meeting, which it is hoped will be held some time during the week of September 13.

Everyone connected with it is enthusiastic over the future of the Better Business Bureau and plans are now being made for its further expansion.

Arrangements For Stoneboro Fair

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 28. — The management of the Stoneboro Fair is making extensive preparations for its annual meet which will be held September 4, 6, 7 and 8. Saturday will be devoted to the reception of exhibits and getting everything in readiness for the exhibition days. The gates will be closed Sunday.

Monday is expected to witness one of the greatest crowds in the history of the association. Being Labor Day, and no celebration being announced for this part of the state, it is believed many will spend the holiday at the fair.

A good race program has been arranged for the three exhibition days of the fair.

Latest Channel Swimmer Holds Many Records

Mrs. Corson Came Into Prominence In 1921 Swimming Manhatten Island

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Clememton Corson, of New York, who swam the English Channel today, is 27 years old and the mother of two children.

Mrs. Corson first came before the public in 1921, when she made the circuit of Manhattan Island in 14 hours and fifty-seven minutes. Later she swam from Albany to New York city in 63 hours 35 minutes actual swimming time. The distance is 153 miles.

One previous attempt to swim the English Channel has been made by Mrs. Corson, in 1923. She started from the English side, and got within two miles of the French coast in fourteen and a half hours, when she was forced to give up by rough weather.

Her last long swim was from Dover to Ramsgate, which she accomplished in six hours and twenty minutes.

The Pacific ocean is larger than a pair of dreamy eyes and almost half as deep.

Kennel Club Members To Inspect John Farm

Lawrence County Dog Fanciers To Meet At New Training Kennels Sunday

The Lawrence County Kennel Club will hold its regular meeting Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the farm of L. C. John, near Harlansburg.

The object of holding the meeting at the John place is for the purpose of inspecting the new training kennels which are a main part of the hundred acre farm.

Accommodations are available for between two and three hundred dogs and it is the largest kennel farm in the western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio district. Special attention will be given to the training of hunting dogs and Spaniels.

The Kennel Club has arranged for its annual show to be held here April 8 and 9, which are the two days preceding the Butler Show. In this way the entries here may be moved on to Butler for display without any loss of time.

Father Brennan To Leave For New York

Local Priest To Undergo Medical Treatment For Throat Trouble

Father M. J. Brennan, associate pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church of this city, will leave for New York Monday for the purpose of undergoing medical treatment for throat trouble from which he has been suffering for a number of months.

Since a recent acute attack of the malady Father Brennan has been resting at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Beck on the Harbor road. He will remain in New York about a week.

TO BE EXACT

The witness had been cautioned to give more precise answers.

"We don't want your opinion of the question," the judge told him. "We want it answered—that's all."

"You drive a wagon?" asked the prosecuting attorney.

"No, sir, I do not," was the decided reply.

"Why, sir, did you not tell my learned friend but a moment ago that you did?"

"No, sir, I did not."

"Now, I put it to you, my man, on your oath you drive a wagon?"

"No sir."

"Then what is your occupation?" asked the state's attorney, in desperation.

"I drive a horse," was the reply.

Delegates Leave For Conference Of Girl Reserves

Meeting Held At Newton-Hamilton, Pa., Will Continue Until September 2

Miss Annabel Wright and Miss Virginia Duff of this city, delegates to the annual Conference of the Senior Girl Reserves Club at Newton-Hamilton, Pa., near Harrisburg, left this morning where they will join four other girls of New Castle including Rebecca Gwin, Lois Davenport, Helen McBride and Maude Throop who left last Tuesday accompanied by their supervisor, Miss Ethel M. Kelley, teacher in the local High School.

The Conference is being held in the Methodist Training Camp which is quite adequate for a large gathering. About four hundred girls from a number of the Eastern states are attending the meeting. A number of supervisors are also present from Philadelphia and other large cities. A special feature of the Conference will be the outlining of the work for the winter work.

The Conference will continue until Friday, September 3.

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 28. — Ishak Helmy, the Ekyptian swimmer, was forced to abandon his attempt to swim the English Channel at 2:35 o'clock this morning. He returned to Boulogne aboard the tug Alsace.

Although Helmy began his swim a half hour before Mrs. Clemington Carson took to the water, he was outdistanced within two hours, being carried off his course by adverse currents.

Alaska Suffers Strong Quake

(International News Service)

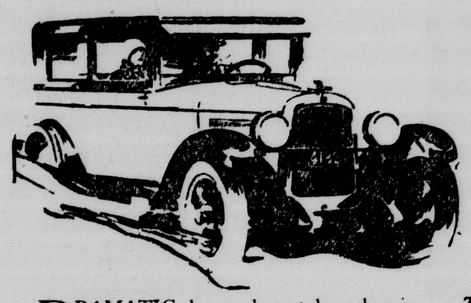
CORDOVA, Alaska, Aug. 28. — A strong earthquake shock was registered here early today at the Naval Radia Station. The tremblor was not sufficiently strong to do any damage, however. A lesser earth tremor was felt at 10 o'clock last night.

The first tremor passed almost unnoticed, but the second shock was sharp enough to alarm many persons who were awakened from their sleep.

They don't ever seem to have a "Park by a fire plug" week.

Now - the Modern Principles of European Design

are embodied in this New-Type Car



DRAMATIC changes have taken place in automobile standards of design. New engineering practices from Europe made the Overland Six instantly popular.

It is new all through . . . brilliantly engineered as a unit . . . not an old fashioned reconstructed chassis.

To outward appearances this car looks very much like conventional automobiles. Except that it is lower to the ground. And smartly European in appearance.

But hidden beneath the body are scores of vital engineering improvements that have practically revolutionized its performance standards . . . improved its riding qualities . . . cut operating costs to a minimum . . . and added immeasurably to its length of service.

You can drive it at an average speed of 40 to 55 miles an hour without excessive strain on the engine.

Its "high-torque" power plant has ample power to master the steepest hills. Gear shifting has been reduced to a minimum.

It has a low gravity center. An outstanding engineering feature due to these modern principles of design. This means greater safety at all speeds. It means protection against sidesway and serious skidding.

And it means comfort such as you've never known before.

How we reduce upkeep expense

Because of new principles of design the operating cost of an Overland Six has been reduced to the very minimum.

Gasoline expense is exceedingly low. So is oil consumption.

And due to its greater operating efficiency, repair costs have been brought to a new low level.

Thousands of owners report remarkable mileage records, with amazing trouble-free performance.

Top place in resale value. You've probably heard of the National Used Car Blue Book. It's published for the guidance of automobile merchants everywhere . . . to help them in purchasing used cars wisely.

A recent issue of this book gives 1st, 2nd, 4th, and 5th places in used car values among the 1925 models of 17 different automobile companies, to Overland!

So you see that modern engineering counts in used car prices. It will mean a lot to you when it's time to trade-in your car.

See the Overland Six and find out about its modern engineering that means plus-value to you!

NOTE: 4-wheel brakes are furnished at slight extra cost.

Other models: Touring $895; Coupe, $895; DeLuxe Sedan, $1095.

Moody Confident As Voting Starts

Fate Of "Ma" Ferguson Hangs In Balance At Today's Election

INDICATIONS ARE FOR BIG VOTE

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 28.—While whistles shrilled in the cities and while church bells rang in the towns, Texas voters went to the polls today to decide the fate of Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, first woman to be elected governor in the United States, seeking re-election.

At the ballot boxes will be settled the classic political contest of the year in the southwest. On one side is "Ma" Ferguson and her vitriolic husband James E. "Jim" Ferguson, former governor ousted by the impeachment route. Pitted against them is Dan Moody, youthful attorney general, sometimes averred to as the "Dragon fighter in business clothing." Moody gained fame in Texas by fighting the "Dragons" of the Ku Klux Klan in his home county of Williamson, sending five of them to the state penitentiary for flogging a man whom they claimed was too much of a sheik among the ladies.

Ma and Jim, they always are referred to thus, have claimed in the campaign that closed last night that Moody has the support of the Klan.

That and other charges and incidents are what have created so much interest in today's event.

Interest Rampant

There is so much interest that cities are vieing with each other today as to which will prove to be the most "progressive" in getting out the vote. And to get out the vote, every novelty that could be thought up is being put to use. Beginning at 7 o'clock when the polls opened this morning, whistles in all parts of the larger cities began to scream, calling attention to the business of the day. Not to be outdone, the towns of the state resounded with the peal of church bells and other noise makers. The warning was sounded every half hour, and with some starting later than others, there was an unceasing bedlam in many cities.

Newspapers of the state have predicted a heavy vote today, in spite of the general rain yesterday. Estimates of the probable count have ranged from 650,000 to 800,000. The latter was the approximate at the first primary, July 24, when Moody lacked only 2,000 votes of having a majority over a field of five candidates. Mrs. Ferguson was runner-up and under Texas election laws, the second or run-off primary shall decide between the two leading candidates, if the leader does not obtain a majority in the first.

Nominations at the run-off virtually means election in the thoroughly Democratic state of Texas.

Before the first primary, Ma Ferguson challenged Moody to a wager that if he beat her by one vote, she immediately would resign if the attorney general would resign if she beat him by 25,000. Ma failed to resign and failed to withdraw from the race, claiming that Moody did not accept the challenge. Moody claimed he did accept the challenge, and Ma retaliated with a charge that Moody had polled the large vote fraudulently, at an unfair and dishonest election.

Rev. John P. Pack To Preach Closing Message Sunday

Bethany Student Who Has Been Supplying First Christian Church To Leave City

Rev. John Paul Pack who has been occupying the pulpit in the First Christian church during the summer months in the absence of the pastor, Dr. C. H. Holcomb, will deliver his closing message Sunday morning.

Rev. Pack is a senior in Bethany college and plans to enter for his last year after a visit with his parents at Beckley, W. Va.

While he has been in this city he has made countless friends who regret to see him leave. He has been a tireless worker while here especially in the work of the young people of the congregation.

There will be special musical numbers by the chorus choir under the direction of Prof. R. E. Johns at the morning service.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Holcomb, will arrive home some time next week and will be in charge of the services next Sunday. He and his wife have been on a vacation trip through Europe.

Rev. Randles Returns From Vacation Trip

Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Randles and family of Highland avenue have returned from a vacation trip to Rev. Randles former home at Somonauk, Ill.

Rev. Randles will preach Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in the Second United Presbyterian church. The work of redecorating the church which has been done during the month of August is about completed.

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28. — Members of the University of Southern California football squad are getting some good off-season practice these days. The players line up on opposing teams as part of the filming of "The Collegians," a Universal series. Although the Trojan grid stars are paid for playing football, their amateur standing is not involved.

Gov. J. C. Scrugham of Nevada and Senator Reed Smoot of Utah were recent visitors on the Sam Goldwyn location in the Nevada desert near Winnemucca. The Goldwyn company, headed by Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, is filming Harold Bell Wright's "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

The governor and the senator were intensely interested in the irrigation and reclamation activities which are recorded in the film. They also assisted Director King in checking the authenticity of several scenes.

"Leading men are getting scarcer every year," Marshall Neilan, film director declared today. "As soon as they become the vogue they are put into the star class and then we can't get them to support any of our feminine stars.

"It's about time to make a new crop of leading men. The business of casting a picture these days is getting harder and harder because of the lack of them."

The unbobbed hair of Priscilla Bonner resulted in her selection by Harry Langdon, First National comedian, as his leading [illegible] in "The Strong Man," now in production.

"I want a leading woman with long hair, Harry declared. Few such were found in Hollywood. Miss Bonner, however, applied and was accepted.

"Long hair has a certain charm, an old-fashioned feminity which bobbed hair hasn't." Harry explained. "I like long-haired women."

Gloria Swanson, it was learned today, has acquired the film right to "The Battalion of Death," a story of the Russian women who fought side by side with the men during the late war.

In the film, Miss Swanson will portray a soviet Joan of Arc—a Russian princess who organizes a battalion of women to drive the cowardly soldiers back to the trenches to repel the attacks of the enemy.

The phenomenal success of "The Cohens and The Kellys," and the stage play, "Abie's Irish Rose," a somewhat similar theme. The picture is "Private Izzy Murphy," with George Jessel, New York musical comedy star, in the leading role. Upon the completion of the picture, Jessel will leave for Boston open an engagement of his play, "The Jazz Singer."

Edmund Lowe, Fox star, and Lilyan Tashman, his actress-wife, are enroute to England on a long-deferred honeymoon.

The honeymoon was postponed a year on account of movie engagements. But even this trip is a combination of business and pleasure for Lowe will play opposite Lila Lee in "One Increasing Purpose," which will be filmed in the British Isles under the personal supervision of A. S. Hutchinson, the author. Mae Allison has also been signed for a part in this picture.

CHILDREN SHOULD HAVE CLEAN CLOTHES WHEN THEY START IN SCHOOL NEXT WEEK

Call Smith's Master Dry Cleaners First If You Demand The Best Work and Satisfactory Service.

One week from Tuesday the children, young and in the teen age will go back to school for the year. That cleanliness is absolutely essential at school is backed by all the knowledge of the ages. It is just as essential that children be dressed in clean clothes as it is that their bodies and hands and faces be clean and that they be clean in mind and ideals.

Smith's Master Dry cleaners are urging all the mothers of school children to have their children's clothes cleaned this next week before school opens so that the children can start with their clothes in a condition of newness and brightness. Smith's Master Dry Cleaners will make the clothes like new and send them back in a clean and sanitary condition. Follow the suggestion of Smith's Master Dry Cleaners and send the children's clothes to be cleaned next week.

Smith's Master Cleaners are experts in all kinds of cleaning. The most delicate summer garments, the finest of woolen or fur trimmed coats, silks and also rugs, are all given the Smith Master Cleaning attention making them spotless and bright when returned to the owner.

Call Smith's first, Bell 885, if you demand particular and expert dry cleaning.

Commander Rodgers Died Hero, Officials Reveal

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Commander John N. Rodgers died as he lived—a hero. Thus was his tragic end described today by Lieutenant Commander F. E. Loucy, chief of the naval hospital here, while the naval board of inquiry resumed its probe of the accident which may also claim the life of Machinist Mate Samuel Schultz, 29. He received internal injuries when the plane piloted by the hero of the attempted flight from the coast to Hawaii suddenly took a nose dive in the Delaware river late yesterday.

Commander Rodgers was speeding here from Washington to attend an important conference with navy officers and to inspect the partially finished all metal airplane in which he contemplated a 3,000-mile flight, when the accident occurred.

What caused the plane to suddenly dive into the water while it was trying to make a landing, is baffling the probers, it is said. They are to question Schultz today.

The navy yard here is enshrouded in mourning for the intrepid aviator, who frequently visited the city, was one of the most popular men in the air service and thought much of at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Conscious to End.

Rodgers, according to Lieutenant Commander Lucy, was conscious almost to the end. He passed away smiling. The flyer's parents, Rear Admiral John A. Rodgers, U. S. N. retired, Mrs. Rodgers and his brother, Robert P. Rodgers, rushed here when they learned of the accident, but were too late to find the victim alive.

Rodgers, who was formerly assistant chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics, receiving the promotion after his epic-making attempted Hawaiian flight, a year ago, took off from Washington at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to fly to the navy yard here.

Word was received here of the intended arrival and a throng of people gathered at the navy yard to greet him. Rodgers piloted his machine to make a landing and was but 50 feet in the air when the plane seemed to stand on end and suddenly nose dive into the mud on the bottom of the Delaware river, according to eye witnesses.

Hundreds of spectators rushed to the rescue. Marines formed a wall and pushed back the crowd. Sailors manned boats and rushed to the scene of the accident. They rescued the trapped aviators, found strapped to their seats, and took them to the navy hospital.

At the hospital, it was said, Rodgers urged surgeons to administer aid to Schultz first. He accepted his fate calmly and without emotion.

"How is Schultz?" were his last words.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear little son and brother, Albert Gettings, Jr., who died one year ago today, August 28, 1926.

Anniversary Of 125 Years Is Well Attended

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Aug. 28—A large number of out of town speakers were present to assist in the celebration of the 125th anniversary of the Providence Baptist church at North Sewickley on Thursday. The afternoon was devoted to the reading of letters from former pastors by Rev. J. R. Routledge, the pastor.

Those making addresses in the afternoon were Rev. C. W. Macgeorge of Ellwood City and Rev. Childs of the Harmony church.

The song service was conducted by C. E. Sankey. The church history was read by Mrs. J. R. Routledge. Testimonial meeting was conducted by the older members.

An interesting feature of the service was the story told of childhood days when they attended this church by Mrs. Grimm of Sharon, who is the daughter of the former pastor Rev. John Parker. Mrs. Roy McDanel sang a solo "Will the Circle be Unbroken." A choir of girls sang a few numbers followed by refreshments served by the Ladies Missionary society.

C. E. Sankey was in charge of the evening service. Rev. Charles Bell read the Scripture, followed by the speaker Rev. Woodrow of New Castle and the testimonial meeting. Mr. Hipple sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Guppie, both of the New Brighton Baptist church.

Miss Eleanor Dutterer gave a piano solo followed by a song by the choir "Some Glad Tomorrow" written by a former pastor's wife, Mrs. L. J. Shoemaker. Following several favorite hymns Rev. Routledge pronounced the benediction.

Sports Feature Playgrounds Close Friday Afternoon

Children of the playgrounds of the city, which have been so successfully operated during the present summer under the supervision of Miss Phyllis Beal, celebrated the close of the playground season on Friday at Gaston park, with contests of various kinds, which culminated in the award of ribbons to the winners.

Between six and seven hundred children from the four playgrounds of the city were in attendance. They were transported to Gaston park in two conveniences provided by the P. & O. Electric company and one provided by the Frew Furniture company. All had arrived at the scene of the celebration by 10:30 a. m.

Each playground had its own color to designate its group, the children wearing tags that indicated from which place they came.

The different playground groups competed in the various athletic contests, which included basketball, volley ball, relay races, tumbling, broad jumping, horseshoes, clock golf, etc. The winners received ribbons designating first and second places in the events and honorable mention in each event.

Twenty ribbons were awarded in each group for the work done duting the term, while ribbons were awarded to the following girls for the best all around all season work in their respective playgrounds: Betty Krestel, Gaston Park; Catherine Lewis, McCleary avenue; Myrna Smith, West Side and Dorothy Cain, Croton.

The display of industrial work done at the playgrounds was held in the shelter house and was the center of interest all day. It was under the supervision of Mrs. David Bollard. The judges in this display were Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Mrs. H. M. Kirk and Mrs. F. E. Sowersby.

Sports were the feature of the big event from the start until 12 o'clock noon, when a picnic lunch, which the children had provided for was enjoyed in the grove. Following the lunch, there was a treat of ice cream, provided through the generosity of F. L. Rentz.

In the afternoon there were more sports, then the presentation of little plays and solo dances. At the close of the day as the children started homeward, they were presented with lollypops, also a part of the treat by Mr. Rentz.

Much of the success of the playgrounds this summer was due to the work of the supervisors at the respective playgrounds, who were as follows: Croton—Miss Helen Lyle; West Side—Miss Bernice Davenport; Gaston—Eva Smith; McCleary—Sara McGoun.

LOYALTY TO NEW CASTLE COSTS NOTHING
—and Yields Vast Returns

The world looks at New Castle thru the eyes of those who live here. If New Castle people knock their home town, then the rest of the world can not be blamed for joining the anvil chorus. If New Castle people know their town is right, have faith in it, believe in it and are willing to speak a good word for it, then the world is quick to respond and give to New Castle a place in the sun.

New Castle made goods, our city's stores, our professional men, our schools, in fact all of our varied institutions should receive our first consideration. We can do no less than push things that make our city what it is.

We live in a city of varied and prosperous industry, with a substantial agricultural territory adjacent to it. If the good old U. S. A. is right, then New Castle is right. Loose and irresponsible talk can tear down our city faster than it can be built. The loyalty of New Castle people can build a greater community. Our city rests upon its institutions, their strength is the city's strength. Boost them and you build our city.

We who live here, have selected New Castle as our home—let's say our judgment is good and tell the world about it.

STEPPING UP!

Again began that struggle for life up the mountain side!

It seemed to Peter, watching from the cliff's edge, that he must go to the rescue of the little Tusker. He mentioned this to Dromda and made as though to slip down from the Camel's back. But the Camel shook his head and hoarsely snapped at the Boy.

"Stay where you are, Two-Legs! You can do no good and much harm! Let the Elephants look up and catch a glimpse of a stranger on the cliff for which they are making and the shock may send them tumbling back into the depths! Mrs. Elephant is coming along famously. Patience, Boy, and in a few moments she will have that youngster of hers up on the pass!"

The little Elephant strained and pulled! The big Elephant pushed and boosted.

"Eeee! Ugh!"

A final squeal! A last grunt! The young Elephant stood with all four feet firmly planted on the pass. A second more and the wise old Tusker clambered over the top to safety!

"Hurrah! Three cheers for"—

The words froze upon Peter's lips.

Dromda the Camel had turned his head and was staring up at the Boy, teeth bared and with a wicked look in his eye that made Peter shake in his shoes.

"Be quiet!" muttered Dromda between his teeth. "Give me away would you? Well, let me tell you, you'll never live to tell tales on me! Once Mrs. Elephant understands 'twas I who pushed her baby over the cliff she will go mad for revenge. Once she discovers I'm within her reach there will be no hope for me. The pass is narrow. I cannot get away. She will butt me into the deep ravine! You can't save yourself. Make another sound and I shall toss you over my head, or worse yet—if Mrs. Elephant pushes me, I shall carry you with me to the rocks below!"

THE YOUNG ELEPHANT STOOD ON THE PASS THE OLD TUSKER CLAMBERED OVER THE TOP TO SAFETY?

British Labor Will Unionize All Women

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The General Council of the Trade Union Congress today announced the opening of a campaign to organize all women workers. An "All-Women's Congress" is to be held at Bournemouth in September as part of the campaign.

Labor Union officials estimate that of the 4,150,000 women workers in Great Britain eligible to trade union membership only 23 per cent are organized. Among the women who it is hoped to get into the trade union organizations are the 2,000,000 domestic servants employed in hotels, clubs and private houses.

Miss Margaret Bondfield a member of the executive council of the T. U. C. and who was recently elected to the House of Commons will take a leading part in the woman's campaign.

PLAN LAWRENCE COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

Ellwood Plays O. & P. Leaguers

Representatives Meet In News Office Friday Night To Arrange Series

FIVE GAMES TO BE UNDERTAKEN

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Final arrangements for the playing of a five-game series for the championship of Lawrence county between the Ellwood City team of the County League and the New Castle team of the O. & P. League were made at a meeting held in the News office on Friday night, with six principals taking an active part. The first game of the series will be played in New Castle on Saturday, Sept. 11, at Centennial field, with the second game scheduled for Ellwood City on Tuesday, Sept. 14. The games will alternate between the two towns.

Articles Signed

The matter of playing a championship series was brought to a head last evening when Business Manager Carm Sacco of the New Castle team, Connie Wardman and Joe Dougherty of the Ellwood City team, Eddie Connery and John A. Jackson of the Larwence County League, and the writer met to draw up an agreement and to sign the necessary documents that would insure the series being played under a contract basis. All the details relative to the series were thrashed out before the meeting adjourned, and judging from the interest already shown in the proposed series, the fans are going to witness some first-class attractions ere the championship is decided.

As was first stated, the Neshannocks did not send a representative to the meeting. The boys from Coaltown have only a slim possibility of overtaking the "Tubers" and it was more than likely for that reason that they stayed away from the meeting. Ellwood City needs three victories to cinch the pennant, according to Connie Wardman last evening during the course of the meeting, and they expect to win them within the next two weeks, was Wardman's way of looking at the proposition.

The dates selected for the county series are as follows: Saturday, Sept. 11, at New Castle; Tuesday, Sept. 14, at Ellwood City; Thursday, Sept. 16, at New Castle, and Saturday, Sept. 18, at Ellwood City. A fifth game, if necessary, will be arranged by the tossing of a coin for the grounds. In case a postponed game shoves its way into the picture, it will be played on the following night, or if it occurs on Saturday, the game will be staged on Monday.

The representatives at the meeting were very enthusiastic over the coming championship series and predictions flew thick and fast, but it was all a matter of conjecture and nothing serious was entered into.

Players Selected

The following players will participate in the series, the lists having been submitted to the writer on Friday night: Ellwood City—M. Sanders, lf; F. Sanders, 3b; Brown, ss; Cunningham, cf; Volpe, 2b; Kirker, rf; Hudson, 1b; Dallenbach, c; Jamison, p; Kirk, p; Johns, p; Marianf, utility; Strouse, utility. New Castle team—Gahles, c; Steen, p; Coen, p; Hospidore, p; McCullough, rf; R. Flynn, p; Ross, 1b and 2b; Maxim, 2b; Grabfelder, ss; Hoffman, 3b; Weimer, lf; Buzzard, cf; Robertson, lf; Patterson, 2b and ss; Pumphrey, c and 1b; Kimes, p. The lists sumbitted last evening were final and no players can be added to the teams.

According to Joe Dougherty, business manager of the Ellwood City team, plans are under way in Ellwood to take care of a crowd of about 2,500 fans. The grandstand will be renovated to take care of a vast throng.

The Ellwood City team is banking on this man Jamison to bring them through the series. This much was evident at the meeting, when the writer was informed that Jamison had won 23 and lost but four games so far this year, and that he would more than likely be the choice in the opening game of the series. New Castle will bank on Hospidore and Coen to pull them over the rough places, said Carm Sacco.

Young Captures Handicap 'Shoot'

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 28.—Already twice the champion, Charles A. Young of Springfield, O., annexed the trapshooting crown of the western hemisphere when he won the Grand American Handicap by breaking 100 targets at 23 yards a perfect score at the Amateur Trapshooting association ground here Friday.

Second, third and fourth places were taken respectively by R. G. Johnson, Cable, O.; T. R. Vail, Industry, Ill.; and E. C. Boice, Pontiac, Mich., after they shot off a tie of 99.

Ten shooters tied at 98 contended for fifth and sixth places, R. M. Jenkins, Orleans, Ind., taking fifth and C. L. Ritchie, Goshen, O., taking sixth after two shoot-offs.

First Methodist Team Wins From Epworth 4 To 2

The First Methodist team with Baker hurling a fine brand of baseball defeated the Epworth M. E. team 4 to 2, in a postponed game played on the Radiator grounds on Friday night.

Baker held the Epworth hitters to but three safe blows, and fanned eight men, while McClure was not so effective and allowed five hits and had six strikeouts.

E. Lockley had three hits for the Methodists. The Methodists by their victory retain first place in the Church League.

The First Baptist team defeated the Third U. P. outfit 4 to 1 in a game played on the Lehigh field on Friday night.

Presbyterians Down Croton

Melder Pitches Great Game As Mates Slug Way To 13 To 3 Victory

The Central Presbyterians remained in second place in the church league on Friday night by downing the Croton M. E. team 13 to 3 in a sluggish match. The game was played on Colonial field.

Johnny Melder occupied the mound for the Presbyterians and held the heavy hitting Crotonites to six hits and fanned six batters while the Presbyterians hammered Miller all over the lot for a total of ten hits.

The Presbyterians had three big innings, scoring three in the second, and five in the third and fourth. The Croton team bunched their hits to score in the second and fifth innings.

Weiss, Patterson and Leslie led the winners at bat with two hits apiece, while McClelland and Kerr were the best hitters for the Croton team. Barber and Battley had the only extra base blows of the game.

Yanks Secure Dutch Ruether

Acquisition Of Washington Pitcher Is Clothed In Mystery

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Walter (Dutch) Ruether, veteran left-handed pitcher of the Washington Senators, has been obtained by the New York Yankees on waivers, according to an announcement by Manager Miller Huggins.

The acquisition of Ruether came as a surprise, for he was the leading pitcher on the Senators' staff. Considerable comment was also caused by the Yankees taking him, for they are leading the league, therefore having last call on a player. Ruether has been ordered to report to the Yankees on Sunday.

Catcher Bill Skiff has been released to the Toronto International League club to make room for Ruether.

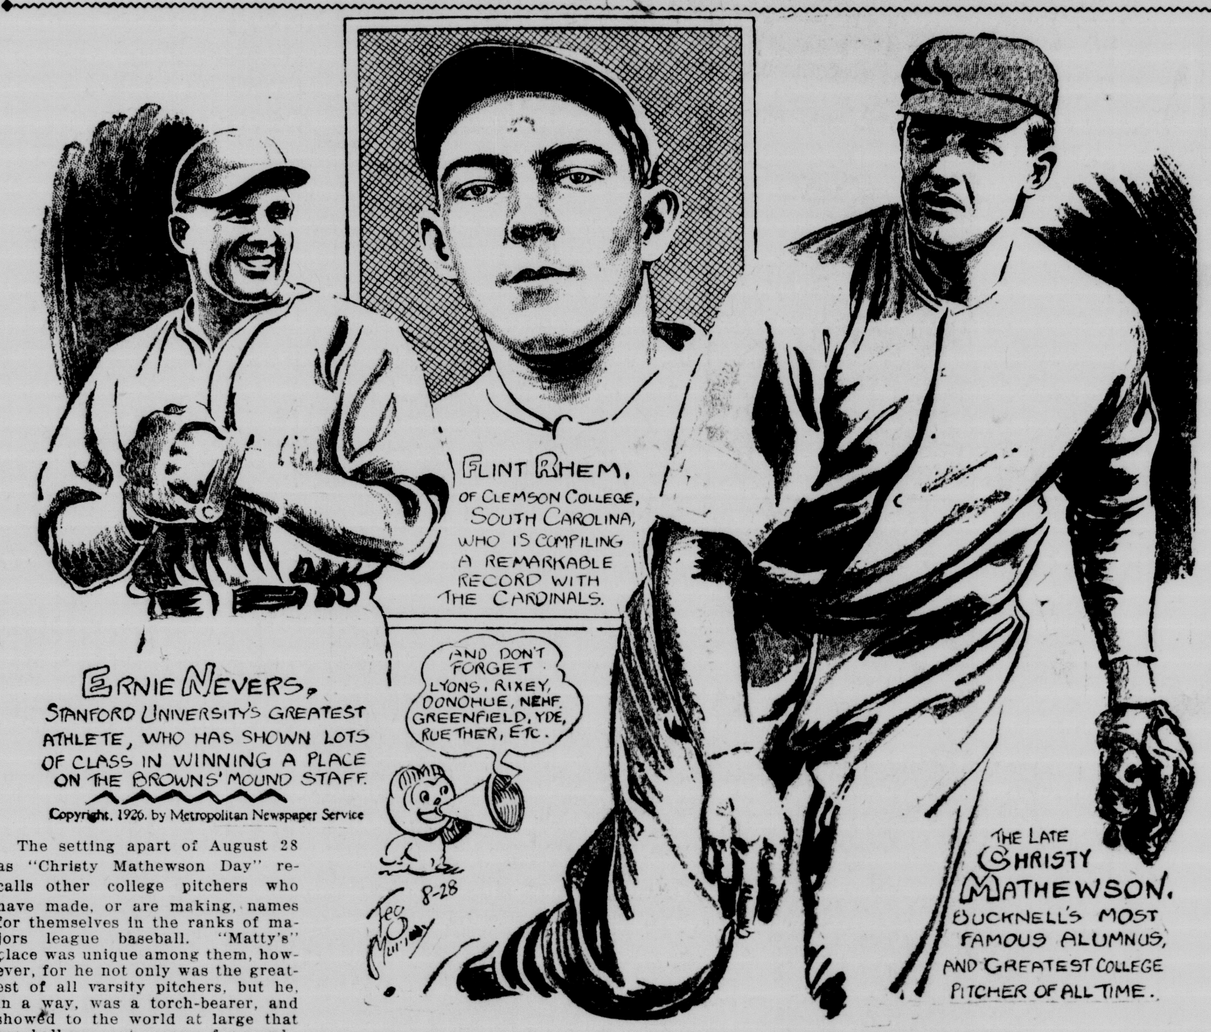
Last Night's Fights

AT NEW YORK—Ace Hudkin, Nebraska, won over Phil McGraw, Detroit, 15 rounds; Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, won from Johnny Wilson, former middleweight titleholder, 12 rounds; Irving Price, New York, won from Harry Mulcahy, New York, four rounds; Joe Marino, New York, won from Kid Sockelyn, Omaha, six rounds.

AT JERSEY CITY, N. J.—Carl Tremaine Cleveland, drew with Eddie O'Dowd, New Jersey, ten rounds; Tom Kirby, Boston, won from Billy Vidabeck, Bayonne, N. J., ten rounds; Billy White, Jersey City, knocked out Roscoe Hall, New York, in the first round of a scheduled ten-round bout; Alec Rely, South America, knocked out Jack Monroe, of the Pacific coast in the second round of a scheduled ten.

Bachelors of the Art of Pitching

BY FEG MURRAY



The setting apart of August 28 as "Christy Mathewson Day" recalls other college pitchers who have made, or are making, names for themselves in the ranks of majors league baseball. "Matty's" place was unique among them, however, for he not only was the greatest of all varsity pitchers, but he, in a way, was a torch-bearer, and showed to the world at large that baseball was not a game for roughnecks and muckers, but that a man with a college education could take up the diamond game as a professional and still retain his high-minded and other manly qualities. "Big Six" not only did this, but he gave to baseball a great deal more than he got out of it as the most famous athlete of his day.

At present there are in the majors a great many men—some with diplomas from various institutions of learning, others who have left college or university before they graduated—who are more than holding their own with the hurlers who have never been further than grammar school or high school. Look over the lists of the leading pitchers in both leagues. Flint Rhem's name is near the top in the National league. He went to Clemson college in South Carolina. Eppa Rixey is up there, too. He went to the University of Virginia. Pete Donohue is from Texas Christian university, Dutch Ruether from St. Ignatius, Ted Lyons from Baylor, and so it goes.

Other college twirlers now in the majors are Miller of Cleveland, Wingard of the Browns, Bentley and Dean of the Phillies, Nehf of Cincinnati, Aldridge and Yde of the Pirates, and McGraw of Brooklyn. Whether or not history will rank any of these pitchers in a class with the immortal Mathewson of Bucknell, Coombs of Colby, Plank of Gettysburg, Bender of Carlisle, Doc White of Georgetown or Overall of California, remains to be seen.

I was much surprised a month or so ago to see my friend Ernie Nevers take the mound against the Yankees in the third or fourth inning of a game at the stadium. "But you weren't as surprised as I was," Ernie told me afterwards. The football star from Stanford did quite well, showing no wildness at all, a rather good fast ball and somewhat of a round-house curve. He later pitched a tie game in Boston and then beat the Athletics, allowing but seven hits. It looks as though the big boy was going to make a name for himself on the diamond as well as on the gridiron.

Feg Murray Says—

Sailor Eddie Huffman, after being defeated by the colored middleweight champion in a recent bout on the coast, advised his manager, in the future, to Please Omit Flowers.

Football Team Ready For Camp

INTENSIVE WORK IS MAPPED OUT

By "BUGS" WALTHER.

Forty young huskies comprising the contingent of New Castle high school football players for the coming season are sleeping with one eye open these nights, due to the fact that next week they must turn n at a very early hour. The football players will enter camp on Monday morning at Muddy Creek Falls for a week of hardening prior to the opening of the grid season here on September 18.

Every detail relative to the establishing of a first class training camp is completely worked out today. Faculty Manager Ralph Gardner, Student Manager Merritt Hoag and a corp of assistants have the camp looking spic and span today and all they need now is a few football players to occupy the said enclosure to make it complete. They will start recounting the silverware and other valuables in camp late Sunday night when the first few players reach the site the remainder of the boys are going to wait over and have a last date with "Lulu" on Sunday night and then hie themselves into seclusion on Monday morning.

The first practice session is scheduled for 10 o'clock Monday morning, rain or snow and lots of sunshine, and the boys will find out that a training camp is no place for the "soda fountain cowboys."

The task of selecting the 40 men to take to the camp this year was by no means an easy one for the coaches. There is a lot of fine looking material available for this year and it was only with extreme caution that the boys were picked out. Those who will not get to enjoy the training camp will report for football with the opening of school.

Decorators Lead At Volley Ball

Considerable interest is being taken in the Shenango Pottery volley ball league, and the Decorators seem to have the league leadership cinched with five victories and no defeats.

Start Mailing Out Reserved Seats For Coming Grid Season

Ask That Subscribers Make Payments Before September 10; Hope To Sell 1,000

Principal Frank L. Orth of the senior high school made the announcement Friday afternoon that reserved seats for the coming football season will go in the mail shortly to the various subscribers who signed pledge cards last spring. It is asked that payments be made before September 10.

It will be remembered that the high school students canvassed the city early in the year with reserved seat pledges for the Ben Franklin high stadium this fall and that in the neighborhood of 400 or 500 were disposed of. The citizens who signed these cards will get their tickets shortly said Mr. Orth, in conversation with a News reporter.

The price of the reserved tickets are $10.00 which calls for nine home games as follows:—Mars, Crafton, East High of Youngstown, this school having been submitted in place of California, Grove City, Butler, Schenley, Donora, Ellwood City and Erie Academy.

Starting on Monday morning the reserved seats will be taken from the jurisdiction of the high school and thereafter anybody desiring seats for the season can procure the same by calling at the Sporting Goods Store on East Washington street, it will be impossible to secure reserved seats at the high school after today, said Mr. Orth.

There are many good seats left to be sold, was the word passed along on Friday afternoon, and it is asked that the fans get their order in early if they hope to secure a good place in the stadium.

The checks for the reserved seats being mailed out now are to be made payable to Frank L. Orth, principal of the senior high school and addressed to the senior high school.

Tagging All Bases

(International News Service)

Tony Lazzeri chose an opportune time to hit his 17th homer of the season, scoring two runs beside his own, and doing a great deal toward accomplishing a 4 to 1 victory for the Yanks over the Tigers.

Pitcher Sherrod Smith's home run in the 12th won the second game of a double header for Cleveland from the Red Sox 5 to 4. The Indians walked away with the first game, 9 to 3.

The Cardinals lost their second straight to Philadelphia 9 to 7, dimming slightly their pennant chances. Bentley got a home run, a double and a single.

A ninth inning rally by the Senators, netting two, failed to save Washington from losing the third straight game to the White Sox. The score was 5 to 3.

Bullet Joe Bush did some tall pitching and no mean hitting, and held the Giants to four hits. Pittsburgh won 4 to 0, but it was a stiff pitchers' battle except in the seventh inning, when the Pirates scored all their runs.

The Reds advanced to third place in the National league, only four points behind the Pirates by sailing into the Dodgers to win a shutout game, 4 to 0.

The Browns were treated to a new sensation at Shibe park, Philadelphia, yesterday by licking the Athletics 7 to 1. Although the St. Louis team has played ten games at Philadelphia, this was the first time they had won this season.

Steady pitching by Tony Kaufmann allowed the Cubs to run their winning streak to six. Tony held the Braves to five hits, enabling Chicago to win 5 to 1.

Third U. P. Team Wins Via Forfeit

Third United Presbyterians won a forfeited game in the Church circuit from the First Baptists yesterday. The Baptists did not have enough players and played the game with the aid of city and county league players.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A blond and a brunet will meet in the final round of the women's western championship tournament at Olympia Fields today to determine which is preferred in golf.

Miss Dorothy Page, a tall and robust 17-year-old golden-haired girl from Maple Bluff, Madison, Wis., won her way into the final pairing today by eliminating Miss Naoma Hull, young Indiana school teacher, in the semi-final round, 2 up and 1 to play, and Mrs. O. S. Hill of Meadow Lake, Kansas City a rather diminutive brunet with an uncanny ability to drive hard and straight, put out Mrs. Stewart Hanley of Lochmoor, Detroit city champion, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Hill's game was the best of the four today, and, on the basis of tournament performances she has a slight advantage on her finalist opponent for tomorrow's 36-holes. Both are remarkable drivers.

Miss Page, former western junior champion, and winner of the driving and putting contests in the present tournament, has made five rounds with a steady, consistent game ranging about 85 or 90. Mrs. Hill, the Kansas City and Missouri valley champion for her second successive year, took second medal honors in Monday's qualifying round with par 83 and has played close to that game through the four match rounds.

Mrs. Hanley played an almost faultless game on the out nine, but ran into difficulty on a few long shots on the home stretch and went down to an improved game on the greens on the part of her opponent.

Mrs. Hill snared six birdies and six pars on the 16 holes, missing two eagles by rimming the cup. Mrs. Hanley had a birdie and eight pars, missed an eagle by inches on the first green and made seven holes over par against Mrs. Hill's 4.

They halved four holes in par and one in birdie fives; Mrs. Hanley won two out and a pair, the other seven, four of them after the turn going to Mrs. Hill.

Matty Tickets Are Here, Connery Says

Managers of Lawrence County Baseball league who desire tickets for the Christy Mathewson memorial game September 1, can secure them from League Secretary Ed Connery. They arrived today.

Boxing Critics Say Johnny Hill Is Game Fighter

Stage All Set For Fast Battles At Youngstown On September 1

By JOE HAYNES
(Special To The News)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 28. — It is doubtful if any bout on the big all star card arranged by the Heakeh Club, of this city, for the first of September, at Idora Park, will have anywhere near the color attached to it, that the first ten rounder will carry into the ring.

In the majority of fights the country over, one boy carries all the color into the ring with him. In this battle however, both lads have it in plenty. Both lads are of the fighting type. Neither knows much about the finer points of hit and miss; that is we should say miss.

Johnny Hill, the latest and some folks say the best of the Filipinio boxers, is about as vicious a little man as we have ever seen in action. He starts to fight at the opening bell, and from then until the close of the fight there isn't an idle second.

Hill is dangerous at any minute of a fight. He has everything that goes to make up a great fighter. Brains, speed, courage and strength and carries dynamite in both mitts.

In action, Johnny reminds one of a swarm of bees, always on top of his man, always busy, continually fighting, punches coming from all angles, and folks these punches hurt when they land. Poor Joe Pagalini could testify to that as he was the most pitiful looking sight that human eyes ever looked at as they carried him out of that ring at Cleveland, Ohio.

The second ten rounder on the card will bring Jimmy Jones, and Sailor Freidman into the roped circle. This fight from a purely local standpoint will cause more interest than any of the others.

The feature bout will be over the ten round route, between Pinky Mitchell and Georgie Levine. Mitchell, junior welterweight champion of the world, and Levine, the contender for the welter title now held by Pete Latze, should put up a whale of a fight.

The opening bout will feature Johnny Roberts, of Huntington, W. Va., and George Harris, of Niles, O. These two lads will go in the ring at 8:15 p. m.

Love For Old Dog Leads To Death Of Aged Priest

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Aug. 28.—Love of a priest for his dog led Father E. W. Gavin, 88 years old, almost blind, to his death Friday. He was struck by a street car while on the way to make his daily visit to his pet, now nearly 25 years old. The dog has been under treatment by a veterinary.

The priest, pastor of Immaculate Conception for 54 years, and the animal were almost inseparable companions.

THE LAST ROUND

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Almost immediately after his knockout victory over Jim Jeffries, Jack Johnson began to abuse the popularity that was his. Yea, more than this, he abused the idolatry and loyalty his own race thrust upon him. He divided his time between high powered autos and worse forms of dissipation. He did not even hold his dissipation to members of his own race.

Jim Jeffries, the old king, had proved no match for Johnson. There seemed no one else in sight who could be turned into championship timber. So began the long and hectic hunt for a "white hope".

They bobbed up from Dan to Beersheba. Anything that stood six feet or over, had a kick like a mule in both fists and a desire to fight was given a chance to show his stuff. Most of them turned out to be just second rate fighters, however, with no indications apparent of ever becoming anything more.

Finally into this corral of possibilities Jess Willard bounced. Oh, what a boy he was! Came from Kansas. Rode a horse—and had to have the biggest one west of Jersey City so his legs wouldn't dangle low enough for the rattlesnakes to bite.

"Gunboat Halts Him."

He had started fighting in 1912 and in that year had knocked out such brother hopes as John Young, Arthur Pelky, Luther McCarthy, Sailor White and Soldier Kearns. The next year he socked Frank Bauer and Jack Leon, a couple of unknowns, and then met Gunboat Smith. The latter gave him his first setback by beating him in 20 rounds.

After that he met Bull Young, who died from a blow Willard struck him, and other hopes presented.

But it was his size, physical condition and a fair defense, rather than any greatness he had shown in the ring, that prompted his selection for the bout with Johnson in Havana, Cuba, April 5, 1915.

Johnson was in disrepute in the states. That and consequent promised opposition to the bout in most every state prompted the staging of the fight at the Cuban capital.

Johnson's object in taking such a match under consideration while in his physical condition has always been a matter for conjecture. There have been mean stories that it was a "money fight" with him and not on the up and up. Willard, however, saw in the fight his big chance and made the best of it. He was a beautiful specimen of man the day he entered the ring. And this perfect condition won the fight for him. Johnson got to him early and often. He could not hurt Jess, however. And when the Kansan hit Johnson it was the gentle touch of a Redwood tree falling on a poodle.

Johnson stood up under the punching for 25 rounds and then went down under Willard's sledgehammer blows.

Johnson's day was gone.

HOW JACK JOHNSON LOST THE TITLE

This is the way wire accounts of the Johnson-Willard fight described the last round:

Round 26—Johnson rose slowly from his chair and Willard met him more than two-thirds of the way across the ring. Willard stabbed a long left into the negro's face, sending his head bobbing back. Before the champion could recover his position Willard swung a smashing right which landed full on Johnson's stomach. Johnson was flung against the ropes by the force of the blow and he clinched on the rebound. The white man tried to tear loose, but the black held grimly, with eyes closed and legs shaking.

Just before the referee broke them Johnson looked over Willard's shoulder to the box where his wife had been, his eyes showing a dazed, puzzled expression.

As soon as Welsh had broken the clinch Jess rushed again, forcing the negro into Willard's corner, where the finish came. Johnson was slow in guarding and his youthful opponent hooked a swinging left to the body. The fading champion's legs quivered and again the towering giant feinted for the body. Johnson dropped his guard and Willard won the title with a quick, hard swing to the exact point of the jaw.

The negro's knees folded up under him and he sank slowly to the floor and rolled over on his back, partly under the ropes.

Welsh waved Willard back and began to count. Johnson never moved. His eyes were glassy, only the whites being visible.

Melder Works As Iceman This Summer

Will Be A Contender For Regular Berth On The Ne-Ca-Hi Eleven

New Castle high football squad will have its Red Grange this fall, who has been keeping in good trim by delivering ice at homes served by the People's Ice Company. Melder, who in past years since entering the high school, has been an aspirant for a regular position on the team and has been called upon occassionally to carry the ball as a substitute half back.

This is none other than John Melder of 306 Winter avenue, and his work of the summer, has placed him in excellent physical condition. It will make him a contender for a regular berth on the varsity.

Officer John Moore, his friend, has been keeping his eye on the boy and is confident that there is the making of another Red Grange in Melder.

Sarazen Leads Western Open

Returns Score Of 72 To Complete 141 Card For Two Days' Play

HART OF MARIETTA IS CLOSE BEHIND

INIANAPOLIS, Aug. 28.—Gene Sarazen of New York Friday retained his lead in the Western open golf championship at the Highland Golf Club with a total of 141, although he receded from his subpar 69 of yesterday to 72 for the second round. This left him only one stroke ahead of P. O. Hart of Marietta, O., who today added a 72 to his par 70.

The most spectacular performance of the day was provided by Walter Hagen, who equaled the course record of 68 and got within two strokes of the leader at 143. Hagen, with a 75 Thursday, played brilliantly Friday, ending his round with a 20-foot putt for a birdie 3.

Jock Hutchison was robbed of a tie with Sarazen by a misadventure at the eighteenth hole. His perfect drive landed in a divot hole, and in digging it out with a mashie niblick he pushed his ball into a deep trap whence he failed to escape in one, and was forced to take six strokes instead of a sure 4 and a possible 3. His 70, including an excellent 33 on the first nine, was three strokes better than his first round and tied him with Hagen at 143.

Favorites Come Through.

None of the favorites disappointed his admirers today, except that Macdonald Smith of New York, defending champion, did not gain sufficiently on the vanguard to show propitious signs of retaining his title. He had a good 72, but with his 76 of yesterday, was seven strokes back of Sarazen, and a dozen players were ahead of him.

Many of the stars came forward with better scores today. Al Watrous, runner-up to Bobby Jones in the British open, after taking 79 for the first round today covered the first nine in 33, two strokes better than Chick Evans, who had par 35, and three better than Joe Turnesa, runner-up to Jones in the national open. All three slipped on the second nine, but Watrous got home with 71 for 150; Evans with 74 for 149, and Turnesa with 76 for 151.

Espinosa Plays Perfectly.

Al Espinosa of Chicago played a perfect round of 35-35-70, as compared with a mediocre 79 for the first effort. His brother, Abe, was only two strokes behind him today and finished three strokes ahead of Al for 36 holes. Emmett French of Southern Pines, N. C., chalked up a good 71 to total 146, while Harry Hampton of Memphis, with a par 70, had a like total.

Charley Hall of Birmingham, who had to bivouac on the field overnight, with two-score others who were unable to finish the first round before dark yesterday, shot 72 today for a total of 147. John Farrell of New York and Ruddy Knepper, Chicago amateur, who sojourned with Hall, were not quite so good, taking 74 each for totals of 150.

Traffic Cop After New Castle Driver

GENEVA, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Traffice Officer Toole on Thursday was trailing an automobile driven by Walter S. Hanlan, of No. 321 Lincoln avenue, New Castle, Pa., for speeding when another machine driven by E. A. Hunt of No. 305 Main street, Bridgeport, Conn., drove by. Officer Toole headed both off, the two forfeiting $25 bail. The two machines were charged with making from 35 to 45 miles an hour in Hamilton street here.

Making ends meet is often like a dog catching his tail. They simply won't stay met.

Gertrude Ederle Will "Cash In" On Venture Over English Channel

American Girl Swimmer Back Home, Besieged By Contracts

Estimate "Trudie" Will Be Worth Half Million Dollars By Christmas

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Being duly presented with the key to the city was all very well yesterday, and quite a gracious gesture, at that, but with calm reflection came to Gertrude Ederle this morning the knowledge that it wasn't a key that would open any banks, nor would it lock the family door against the world.

However, I don't believe the lady will need that kind of a key, now or forever henceforth. Trudy will be wealthy in her own right by Christmas.

The harvest moon, in fact, is about to come to the full and soon will be casting its golden glow over her left shoulder. This is the same moon that shed its rays in such profusion about the hallowed figure of Harold "Red" Grange last fall.

Beware of Greeks bearing gifts, say the philosophers but they didn't say anything about agents, bearing contracts. The line was beginning to form on the left today.

The chances are that by the time Trudy finishes signing documents she will have tied herself up with at least $150,000 that will be hers before the first of the year, while her total earnings for the next 12 months probably won't be less than a quarter of a million. That's almost enough to take her father away from his butchers' block and buy him a ringside seat in the Chicago stockyards.

May Go in Vaudeville.

As I understand it, Trudy will sign up for a vaudeville tour that may carry through six months. She probably will play New York houses for ten weeks at $3,000 a week and then will go on the road at $2,000 a week. This venture alone will net her more than $40,000.

When it is over, it will be about time for her to start following the climate with a series of well-paid exhibitions. She could and probably will go to California, earn that $25,000 they want to give her for swimming to Catalina island and then swim back through New Orleans and the south, giving exhibitions wherever they have the fancy to pay her. Florida should provide a happy hunting ground in this connection.

Another source of steady income will be furnished by the magazines and newspapers. Trudy already has arranged to get top prices from a national magazine for a series of articles on swimming and I understand that agents of similar publications are cluttering up her doorstep. The magazine racket should net her $25,000 in a reasonably short time. Syndicated newspaper articles probably will bring in $5,000 more.

And then those dear, dear advertising testimonials! All she has to say is that she owes her success in life to rubber heels, hair nets, vanity cases, fly swatters and eating soup with a fork. Before her name dries on the dotted line, she will have thousands of dollars poured in her lap.

She won't get all of it, however; Dudley Field Malone cuts 25 per cent, I believe, which isn't bad at all, considering that Dudley didn't swim any channel and wouldn't if he could.

Why does The Greater OAKLAND SIX Hold the Center of the Stage?

Why do people everywhere display such extraordinary interest in the Greater Oakland Six? Why are they so eager to see it, and to drive and ride in it? Why are they placing orders for it, in such unprecedented volume?

The key reason is that the Greater Oakland Six incorporates the outstanding engineering achievement of the year—the Rubber-Silenced Chassis.

In addition, this remarkable car embodies many other important refinements.

These include smart new Bodies by Fisher, in new and strikingly beautiful two-tone Duco colors; vital engine developments, resulting in still greater smoothness and greater operating efficiency; new tilting-beam headlights with convenient foot control, to make night driving safer, as well as Oakland's many other advanced features, such as Four-Wheel Brakes, air cleaner, oil filter, full pressure oiling, automatic spark control, interchangeable bronze-backed bearings and the Harmonic Balancer—all without the slightest increase in Oakland prices.

Do you wonder that the Greater Oakland Six is capturing public interest? Do you wonder that it has impressed itself upon the minds of motor car buyers as an irresistible value?

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. Pontiac Six, companion to Oakland Six, $825 to $895. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

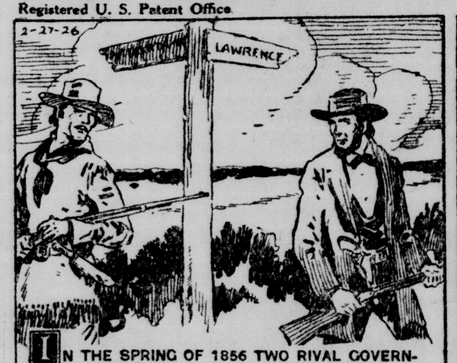
Hostilities Begin In Kansas.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate



IN THE SPRING OF 1856 TWO RIVAL GOVERNMENTS WERE FACING EACH OTHER IN KANSAS AND IT WAS INEVITABLE THAT THEY SHOULD COME TO BLOWS. BOTH THE FREE-SOILERS AND THE PRO-SLAVERY MEN EXPRESSED THE DETERMINATION TO WIN KANSAS AT ALL COSTS AND MEMBERS OF THE OPPOSING FACTIONS WENT ABOUT ARMED TO THE TEETH.

IN PREPARATION FOR THE COMING STRUGGLE, THE FREE STATE MEN BEGAN FORTIFYING LAWRENCE, THEIR CHIEF SETTLEMENT. BARRICADES WERE ERECTED, EARTHWORKS THROWN UP AND A CANNON WAS PLANTED IN THE TOWN.

IN SUCH A CRITICAL SITUATION, ONLY A SPARK WAS NEEDED TO START THE FLAMES OF CIVIL WAR IN KANSAS. THE TROUBLE BEGAN WHEN A SHERIFF OF THE PRO-SLAVERY GOVERNMENT CAME TO LAWRENCE TO SERVE A WARRANT ON A CITIZEN OF THE TOWN.

WHILE ATTEMPTING TO ARREST HIS MAN, THE SHERIFF WAS FIRED UPON BY AN ASSASSIN AND BADLY WOUNDED.

Police Asked To Find Missing Girl

Police of this city have been asked to assist in an effort to locate Lillian Kelty, aged 17 of 122 Quest street, who left home Friday afternoon and has not been seen since. The person making the report stated that she may be in Youngstown, Cleveland or Detroit. She is described as being five feet two inches in height and having light sandy hair.

STOLE A KISS ON A DARE

The dare of a friend to kiss the first girl he met caused a 25-year-old Houston man to spend a night in jail. They met a young lady out walking with her mother. The dared-man grabbed the daughter and kissed her. She called a policeman and had him arrested. If a young man just must get into trouble, this is about as interesting a way as any other, and may even be worth all it costs, unless the young lady proves to be athletic and slaps him into the middle of the street.

N. Y. STOCKS

By W. S. COUSINS,
International News Service
Financial Editor

New York, Aug. 28.—All of the department of the stock market which have shown unusual buoyancy in the last few days, made further progress in the short session of the market today. The railroad stocks moved into a higher level of prices in the first period and were fairly active near the peaks.

The week end business surveys pointed out that the August records in most lines of business were unusually favorable, while indications were for an active fall and winter season. Emphasis was placed on the heavy volume of freight traffic, the surest indication of a huge business in the country as a whole.

Atchison, New York Central and other well known railroad stocks led a new forward movement in that section of the market. Atchison exceeding all of its former records when it sold around 152. The railroad equipment stocks also made good progress under the leadership of Pullman and Baldwin, while specialties were inclined to sag under profit taking.

General Motors and U. S. Steel sold up about a point in fairly active trading, which was featured principally by the absence of professional selling pressure. Oils were not disposed to follow up the moderate gains made near the close of Friday's session. Continental Baking A and B stocks reached new high levels since their listing on the big board and General Asphalt gained 3 points in a fairly large turnover.

The week end commodity and futures were steady with prices practically unchanged. Tire, Textile and metals markets were reported on the upgrade.

Slight Accidents Reported To Police

Frank Frye of 407 Whippo street reported Friday that while turning his car around at the Matthews drive, North Jefferson street and Wallace avenue, that the front wheel struck the curb. The steering apparatus was jarred out of his hands and the car struck and broke the fire hydrant at that place.

Marion Fabian reports that while driving south on Arlington avenue last night he failed to notice the blockade at Wilson avenue and ran through it, breaking the same.

Officers Thompson and Lockard reported last night that they found that an automobile had hit the storm sewer cover at court street and Crawford avenue and knocked it 50 feet. The officers put the cover back in place.

A glacier would make a fine pet for the warm spell.

Don't, Says 107

Mrs. August Kuzner, who recently celebrated her 107th birthday at her home in St. Charles, Ill., gave this one word as her recipe for longevity. She interpreted it to mean don't get mixed up in the hurly burly of twentieth century life. Mrs. Kuzner said she has never seen a movie or ridden in an automobile.

Women's Farm Colony Will Let Men Plow

LINGFIELD, Eng., Aug. 28.—Women may be free but they cannot yet make hay without the aid of men.

A grim effort to run a farm solely by the work of women has failed, after six years of struggle, and husbands have at last been called in to assist.

The colony includes a hundred acres of farm land. It was started in 1920 by a group of young women under the auspices of the Women's Farm & Garden association to show an incredulous world that the hand designed to rock a cradle can also turn a straight furrow.

The women became tenants of small holdings of three and five acres each, and they helped each other in their work. Some specialized in dairy herds, some raised Angora rabbits, some grew vegetables, others became orchardists, and several developed into pastrymakers and cooks. They set up a roadside stand on the East Grinstead road, which motorists learned to know well as a stopping place for tea. The colony prospered, but in the course of six years it was seen that only a part of the farm was being used.

The strong backs of men were needed in the fields. But the rules of the colony forbade the admittance of men. So the regulations at last have been changed and those women of the colony who have husbands now are allowed to bring their husbands in.

Industrials Show Marked Strength

Expected Tightening Of Money Market Takes Place During Past Week

INVESTMENT BUYING VERY INTENSIVE

By W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The strength of the railroad stocks accompanied by the alternate rise and fall of the industrials, was the most important incident of a stock market given over principally to professional operations this week.

The expected tightening of both the call and the time money markets made its appearance in midweek with call money renewals marked up to 5 per cent and the same rate asked for three and six-months money. This situation fitted admirably into the program of bearish professionals who worked on the theory that the top-heavy industrial stocks were due for at least a technical decline after their long upward march. Sharp selling of the industrial leaders resulted in a number of moderate breaks in prices but most of these occurred before the call money rate was advanced, and in the late sessions the market appeared to have plenty of excellent bullish support.

The transportation companies continues to furnish the real constructive industrial news of the week. The July earnings statements and current freight loading reports showed the high operating rate of the carriers, exceeding the best previous records. But additional "good news" was forthcoming in the announced new orders for railroad equipment indicating the expectation of a further expansion in business this fall.

Under the stimulus of these authentic reports, investment buying of the road shares easily absorbed all the offerings at current prices and quotations advanced aggressively to new high levels. Speculative interest was also displayed in the second grade or non-dividend rails, some of which may reach the dividend class before the end of the year.

Professionals pushed the leading industrial stocks backward and forward in their daily contests, with the outside public occupying the position of spectators. The price lists indicated a victory for the bears, but the real test is in the amount of shorts outstanding, of which no accurate knowledge is available, though loaning rates for leading stocks indicated that the short interest is very large.

Commodity markets were fairly steady, with cotton making the best gains in response to the bullish crop reports and unfavorable weather condition.

Foreign exchanges were firm and foreign bonds strong.

Radio Batteries Are Not Needed With Latest Sets

Radio sets without the bother of batteries or chargers have long been the hope of many of the radio fans, and the manufacturers of Garod radio sets seem to have achieved this desire in the sets for the coming season.

In the Fountain Inn the Garod representative, H. B. Crawford has been holding a demonstration in conjunction with the Huston Hardware Company, local distributors for the Garod, and the results achieved seem to indicate that the Garod power set is one that radio fans will like.

The Garod set works directly off the light circuit. All that is necessary is to plug into a wall socket and the set is ready for action. There are no batteries to bother with, no eliminators necessary, and no charger. The power that supplies light for the home supplies power for the set.

Other sets which have used electric current for operation have found that a bad hum resulted. After much experimentation, the Garod people have overcome this and the reception is clear and plain.

The working parts of the set are shielded, making it practically "fool proof." In appearance it is delightfully simple and with the introduction of this set, there will doubtless come the necessity by other manufacturers of making improvements in their sets.

The Huston Hardware Company is the sole representative of the Garod sets in this city.

Shot To Death When Cop's Pistol Falls

CONNEAUT, Aug. 28.—Joseph O'Neil, 44, an employe of the Pittsburgh and Conneaut Dock company for the past 17 years, died late yesterday in Brown Memorial hospital here a short time after he had been taken to that institution with a bullet wound in his abdomen.

O'Neil was accidentally shot in a strange manner. He was standing in front of the dock company's supply store when William Wickle, a dock policeman, attempted to land from a small boat, after having taken supplies to another boat.

As Wickle reached over to make a line fast his gun slipped from its holster, landing on the concrete dock.

O'Neil was directly in th[illegible] of the .38 caliber bullet, w[illegible] passed through his left arm and into the abdomen.

His wife is now visiting in Boston and has been notified of the tragedy. Coroner C. W. Dewey, after conducting an investigation, held death to be accidental.

"The Slick Guy"

Nearly every one of us has seen the checkered-suit person with the velvet tongue. How smoothly he once told of the merits of this product or that—and raked in perfectly good coin for purchases that were often worthless.

The "slick guy" is seldom seen today. When the wise person goes to buy, he knows what is good in value and fair in price.

Simply by glancing over the advertisements in your paper, you can see where to go for the best buys. You can compare values and check up prices without even stirring from your easy chair. You know in advance just what you are going to get and how much it will cost. And you can have the satisfaction that comes from knowing your money is wisely and safely spent.

Nowadays, no one need be at the mercy of the "slick guy." There are still a few people who fail to read the advertisements—and "take a chance." Don't be one of them.

Advertised products are safe buys.

Cossacks Exhibit Skill At Kavkaz

Russian Horsemen Play Among Themselves When Competition Fails

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—The game of kavkaz as played by the Russian cossacks was formally introduced to this city yesterday afternoon when two picked teams from the cossacks who are now playing in this city put on an exhibition match in the municipal stadium.

A crowd of more than 3,000, including his honor, Mayor W. Freeland Kendick, was in the stands to see the national sport of the cossack. The spectators were a little disappointed when the scheduled game was not played, but the exhibition of horsemanship made up for the lack of competition.

The original schedule was to bring the Riders and Drivers of this city against the cossack eight. The local horsemen were anxious to match their ability against that of the Russians and a spirited game was expected. Due to the wet weather of the past few days it was impossible for the Riders and Drivers to get the proper practice and they did not come on for the game yesterday.

As a result the cossacks took their big squad of players and put on an exhibition game that was divided into two halves. The blues played the blacks and the latter team seemed to have the advantage in both halves. One of the black forwards found little trouble in breaking through and he scored fully four goals during the play.

The game yesterday was just a warming up party for the big contest that is scheduled for tonight. The American Cowboy kavkaz team will meet the cossacks at their own sport in the feature of tonight's performance.

This cowboy team was put on the field during the past week. The men were drawn from Fred Beebe's rodeo group and they include some of the most daring riders that ever rode in the saddle.

Yesterday afternoon the cowboys were the most interested spectators in the stands. These western riders have watched every move of the cossacks since they first began to practice in this city. A regular scouting system was organized so that every phase of the game could be studied.

It is said that the cossacks played under wraps yesterday. The Russians are not anxious to allow any of their tricks to slip out and they therefore are not showing anything more than necessary.

The cowboy eight is headed by Dick Kirnan, who was one of the prize riders of the rodeo. The other members of the team will be George Newton, Cheyenne Kaiser, famed as a steer wrestler; Jimmie McKeenan, Powder Face Tom Eckert, Slim Reilly, Pete Schwartz, another great thrower of steers, and Jimmy Shannon, who will probably play the goal position.

Presbyterians Gain Membership, Losing Churches, Pastors

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Gains in evangelism, in membership and in gifts to benevolences, of the Presbyterian church in the United States during the last year are recorded in the annual report today.

Membership totals 1,909,111, a net increase of 35,252. There was a loss of 84 churches, leaving 9,565, and 27 ministers, leaving 9,990. Sunday school membership is 1,890,080, a decrease of 15,479. Contributions were $61,186,722, a gain of $3,803,734. For benevolences the church gave $16,063,742, an increase of $806,339.

British Soldiers Study Astronomy

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—British soldiers are all to become astronomers so they can find their way by the stars.

Duncan MacEwan, a Scot, has invented a little device that makes astronomy easy.

It is the ready reckoner of astronomy and Tommy Atkins could carry it in his waistcoat pocket except in the army as white spats in a mining village.

It took MacEwan six years to induce the war office bureaucrats to take up his little scheme but as it took Maxim seven years to get them to try his machine gun, MacEwan persited.

"The object" MacEwan said, "is to train the ordinary soldier to find his way by the stars by being able to read the heavens at a glance.

"The invention comprises two miniature domes of the heavens made of metal and are about the size of a watch.

"In these the constellations are perforated accurately and the soldier by holding it to the sky can locate the stars corresponding to the perforations and can thus make direct for a given spot."

ABE MARTIN — On the Availability of Doctors

SOMETHIN' NEW IN DOCTORS

Dr. Mopps, after practicin' in this community fer forty years, announces that he'll retire. "My hardest years are ahead o' me," he declares, "fer I expect t' resign from th' Country Club an' devote all o' my time an' energy t' collectin' what's comin' t' me." Dr. Mopps really hain't been what you might call available since th' Hazelnut Country Club wuz started, but some how our people allus sort o' thought they could git him in a pinch, that is they didn' feel that they wuz entirely without a doctor. I've heard folks say you could git him if you went about it in th' right way, but most people got t' relyin' on home remedies, or jest gave up an' died. Doctors don't come on th' jump like they used to, an' on a Sunday you can't git 'em at all. You can't find 'em, an' Sunday has become th' most perilous day o' th' week. When I recall th' ole restful Sundays o' a few years ago when nothin' upset th' peace an' quiet but an occasional Seven Day Adventist shinglin' a barn, or somebuddy poundin' a round steak, I begin t' realize that ever'thing's changed th' same as doctors. It's gittin' t' be almost as dangerous t' stay at home on Sunday as it is t' fill th' gas tank an' git in th' procession, 'specially if we overload with succotash, or have pumpin' hearts, indigestion, or are predisposed t' apoplexy. Last Sunday Mrs. Laf Bud had an attack o' indigestion as she wuz steppin' in a roadster, an' her husband drove eight hours before he finally found a doctor, an' then they had t' wait at th' 9th hole three quarters of an hour. "Any woman that's ever tried t' git out o' a girdle in a roadster goin' seventy miles an hour kin appreciate my agony, but I believe it saved my life," said Mrs. Bud, in relatin' her experience. "I'll bet I called at forty doctors' offices before I found a country club. If we'd been at home I could have located Dr. Mopps. I could have got some charcoal tablets from him even if he wuz busy playin' golf," added Mr. Bud. One o' th' Licklider girls, however, died last Tuesday within a stone's throw o' Dr. Mopp's. O' course most people don't need a doctor when they think they do, an' o' course doctors have got t' have some diversion an' relaxation th' same as farmers an' lawyers an' other sorts o' people, but Sunday's th' day o' all days when a doctor ought t' at least let it be known where he's playin' so we kin drive out an' talk things over with him. If it only resulted in prolongin' a life, t' say nothin' o' savin' one, such an arrangement would be worth while. O' course I kin see how doctors are imposed on, but if somebuddy's worth treatin' when it's too wet t' play golf ther worth treatin' on Sunday. Dr. Everett Spivins, a wiry young general practitioner with no club affiliations, 'll succeed Dr. Mopps an' announces that he'll be available at all times, an' subject t' call.

Girls Jailed For 4 Years' Extortion

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—In the last four years Frederick R. Hazard paid out more than $25,000 to keep a brunette stenographer from tattling to his wife, but the stenographer become too ambitious, so she's in the Jefferson Market prison, charged with extortion.

Four years ago Hazard was keeping the books of the Allied Chemical company, and Gertie Hogan was a stenographer there. Hazard had a wife and two children and his father was worth $16,000,000. He didn't have to work, but he liked it. And he liked Gertie.

When the third baby came to his wife at Kingston, R. I., however, Hazard decided it was time to quit—both Gertie and the Allied Chemical company. But Gertie came again and again to see him, asking money. He sent her to the Adirondacks "for her health." He sent her to California "for her health."

She got $500, married a man named Arthur Davis and went West with him. She divorced him in California and married Ernest Fosnaugh a few days after her divorce. It was he who made her demand $10,000, she said. She got it. Later she got $5,000 more. Then $2,500.

In June, six days after her marriage, she phoned Hazard and said she must have $5,000 more, and if she didn't get the money she was going to see Mrs. Hazard and "tell all."

Then Hazard set a trap and she was arrested.

Kansas Woman Is "Wheat Queen"

SUBLETTE, Kans., Aug. 28 — Formerly known as the "cattle queen," Mrs. Ida Watkins now has the title of "wheat queen."

No woman—and few men—planted more acres of wheat or harvested a larger crop than did Mrs. Watkins this year. She owns 1,950 acres of good Kansas land and it is virtually all planted to wheat. She has not had time to figure the total yield, but 50,000 bushels worth at least $60,000 is a conservative estimate.

When Mrs. Watkins' husband died in 1902 he left her a large cattle ranch. For eight years she managed it, buying, breeding, feeding and selling in competition with her men neighbors. Then she heard of the possibilities of southwestern Kansas land and slowly built up a wheat farm, selling out the cattle business as she added to her wheat land holdings.

Jury Is Discharged In Osage Murders

GUTHRIE, Okla., Aug. 28. — The jury in the case of W. K. Hale and John Ramsey, charged with the murder of Henry Roam, an Osage Indian, was discharged here by Federal Judge John H. Cotteral, after reporting it could not agree on a verdict. The case went to the jury Friday afternoon.

Before the jury was dismissed, United States Attorney Lewis, addressing the Court, declared his belief that "there are some friends of W. K. Hale on this jury."

The Government charged that Roam's death was one of a series of murders machinated by Hale that drove many rich Osages into distant States and countries and led others to illuminate the grounds about their homes at night with long strings of electric lights.

All of the killings apparently were for the purpose of gaining control of the victims' fortunes.

U. S. Not Jazz Mad Says Sir Henry Wood

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—America is not jazz mad, according to Sir Henry Wood, the famous English orchestra conductor, who recently made a seven weeks' tour of the United States. Sir Henry told London on his return, that America is an open door for real talent.

"America is not crazy on jazz to the exclusion of everything else," he said in an interview. "It is true that the art of syncopation has been perfected to a degree unknown in other countries, but there is a notable difference in the tastes for the purely popular and classical standards."

Sir Henry thinks that Americans are "splendid listeners." "On one occasion," he said, "during the whole of Elgar's First Symphony, which takes fifty-five minutes to render, there was not a cough or a rustle of a program."

Two Attempted Suicides Fail

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—Two attempted suicides proved unsuccessful here Friday.

Mary Espenshade, 18-year-old girl of this city, drank poison, according to attaches at the Harrisburg hospital where she was taken for treatment. She had been visiting at the home of a sister-in-law. It was said at the hospital that her condition was not serious.

I. O. Miller, 60, attempted to hang himself in the garage at his home here. He was near death from strangulation when cut down by a workman attracted to the scene. Physicians at the hospital where he was rushed for treatment declared that his condition was serious.

Foster's Weather Prognostication

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28, 1926—A storm wave of moderate intensity is expected to cross continent during week centering on August 29, causing moderate temperature extremes that will average near normal; precipitation of this storm period is expected to be moderate to light, mostly in the nature of local showers; most precipitation expected in eastern great central valleys, northern Atlantic coast and Gulf coast sections during this storm period. During and following storm period centering on August 23, a general increase in precipitation was expected; at this writing, it is evident that this increase in precipitation has taken place with storm centering on 16 instead of 23 as forecasted; this error will not change the forecasts for periods following the period that was in error.

SEPTEMBER—General increase in precipitation is expected to continue thru this month, causing the month to average above normal precipitation in southern and eastern sections, central and northern Pacific slope and in eastern great central valleys; a little below normal precipitation in northern great central valleys and on southern Pacific slope; about normal precipitation over balance of continent. Principal storm waves of month are expected to be severe waves centering on 6 and 20, moderate waves centering on 14 and 29; general cool waves, that will probably be northern cold waves, will come with and following storm centers of 6 and 20; a southern storm is expected to enter from the southwest near 9; this southern storm is not expected to be of severe intensity but of sufficient force to draw a rather cold wave down the western plateau and cause quite heavy precipitation in southern states east of Rockies and in eastern great central valleys. Storm wave centering on 20 is expected to be of the proverbial equinoctial type and of rather severe intensity. Warm waves are expected to center on 5 and 14; month will average below normal temperatures generally; greatest departures below normal temperatures are expected in Gulf coast states, Atlantic coast states and northeast section; month is expected to average greater than usual temperature extremes.

Solar Radiation

Dr. Charles A. Bentley, director of public health and professor in the Calcutta Medical College, now in London studying child welfare, made the following statements through Universal Service: "Eugenists are entirely overlooking the question of solar radiation and its influence on births. It has been proved in America and India that there is a 'crop cycle' in plant life. There is today evidence that this same influence is at work among human beings and there is a cycle in births. It is a matter as far beyond man's control as are the tides. Solar radiation causes populations to increase and decline. France has long experienced a birth rate which approximates her death rate; it would appear that this was purely biological and not due to birth prevention. In Bengal, the birth rate has declined 30 per cent in the 25 years, yet no one with any knowledge of conditions in Bengal could for one moment hold this decline was in any way due to conscious effort at birth prevention". Remarks on above theory will be in next issue.

Between 500 And 600 Are Prevented From Escaping By Guards Firing

(International News Service)
IONIA, Mich., Aug. 28.—Twenty-five convicts escaped from the Ionia reformatory after they had overpowered eight guards during a riot there early today.

Three fleeing cars were sighted by Dearborn officers three hours after the escape. The Dearborn officers gave chase but the bandits rear car threw up a huge smoke screen which enabled the bandits to escape on their way to Detroit.

Six of the escaped prisoners are armed with revolvers taken from the guards. Four of them are wearing guards' clothes.

Between 500 and 600 men were at liberty when the 25 escaped. The others were shut off from freedom by Deputy Wardens Edward Haight and Frank Leland, aided by guards on the outside walls. The deputies fired several times and quelled the riot without injuring anyone.

Two hundred and fifty prisoners stampeded into their first place of freedom. There they encountered four guards, whom they overpowered. They took guns and keys from them and opened the opposite wing of the dormitory, thereby releasing some 250 to 300 more prisoners.

The switchboard operator discovered the outbreak and notified the deputy wardens, who got into action immediately but by this time 25 convicts were at liberty.

Two of the inmates were captured by Chief Warden Charles Shean in a woods near here this afternoon.

They are Charles Smith and Napoleon Smith. Both were sentenced in Detroit on robbery armed charges.

Several more of the fugitives are reported to be in the woods. Deputies are on the way to aid Chief Warden Shean who plans to place a cordon of officers around the woods.

Rear Admiral Moffatt Orders Investigation Into Crash That Killed Rodgers

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—While the entire navy mourned the loss of Commander John Rodgers, pioneer naval aviator, fatally injured at Philadelphia, Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the air corps today ordered a thorough investigation to clear up the mystery surrounding the crash.

Reports reaching the navy department reveal a confused picture of the fall of Commander Rodgers into the Delaware river with none of the spectators able to give a clear account of just how the airplane crumpled probably 75 feet in the air and dashed into the shallow water of the river.

With Commander Rodgers' mechanician, Aviation Machinists' Mate Samuel Schultze lying in a hospital with a broken back and his recovery doubtful, high officers of the navy feared that the true cause of the crash might never be fully explained.

Governor Pinchot In Towanada Address Is Bitter Toward Voters

(International News Service)
TOWANDA, Pa., Aug. 28.—Gov. Pinchot, speaking at the county Sunday school picnic at Ulster today, attacked the lethargy of the average voter, blaming it for the majority of the political ills of the state.

The governor cited figures from recent elections to prove his contention that barely one-third of the eligibles go to the poll. At the recent primary more than 3,000,000 potential voters stayed at home, he said.

The potent but dormant force is responsible, Pinchot asserted, for the "gang rule" and all that it means in Pennsylvania. "The responsibility," he maintained, "lies squarely at the door of the so-called respectable people who think so little of their American citizenship that they refuse to exercise the fundamental privilege of a free citizen and vote."

"These same people", he said, "are the ones who protest loudest against the effects of gang rule. Yet, if these people would give the government one-hundredth of the time they give to golf, bridge, tennis, baseball and other diversions, a higher type of officials would be elected and everyone would benefit."

Scoring the type of many professional politicians, he asserted that "we have become accustomed to seeing notorious misfits nominated for important public offices". They are nominated "because they can be controlled" and represent a handful of politically active men whose playthings they are, he said.

Again citing the power of the inactive voters, the governor said in closing: "There has not been an election in Pennsylvania in many years that the stay-at-home voters could not have carried and carried on the side of righteousness, by the simplest, most inexpressive and most effective of all methods of political reform—by merely casting their votes."

Sharon Man Tries Suicide In State Street And Is In Hospital

DOMESTIC TROUBLE ALLEGED CAUSE

Frank Swoggert, age, 33, of 183 Ult St. Sharon is in a critical condition in the Shenango Valley hospital, having attempted suicide by drinking carbolic acid early this morning. It is reported that the rash act was caused by alleged domestic trouble.

According to reports Swoggert who is married and the father of five children had family trouble and at 3:30 a. m. went to the residence of a brother-in-law, Fred Josephs, 1221 West State street, this city. When in front of the house he swallowed the poison.

Josephs had the would-be suicide rushed to the Shenango Valley hospital, where at noon today it was reported that while he is conscious and able to talk, his condition is critical.

Clymer Mine Gives Up Three Bodies; Death Toll At 44

By SI NEIMAN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLYMER, Pa., Aug. 28.—Clymer Mine No. 1 today gave up the last three bodies entombed in it. Forty-four miners were killed in the disaster wthich was due to an explosion.

The bodies mutilated almost beyond recognition, were brought to the surface by members of the Clymer rescue squad who continued their search in the depths of the mine when other crews were relieved in the belief that the bodies, buried under tons of rock could not be extricated for several days.

The bodies were those of George Chiaka, Mike Puro and George Last.

Ralph Davis Breaks Arm By Fall From Ladder

Ralph Davis, aged 9 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Davis of Garfield avenue, was removed to the Shenango Valley hospital for treatment for a broken arm.

The boy was on a ladder which was left standing by a house which was being erected near his home. He missed his footing and fell fracturing his right arm near the wrist.

Three Meet Death When Train Strikes Auto On Crossing

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
GARY, Ind., Aug. 28.—Three young members of socially prominent Gary families were killed here today when their automobile was struck by a Michigan Central railroad train at a grade crossing.

The victims:
Robert H. Webster, 22.
Miss Hazel Lagrow.
Miss Elizabeth Betts.

It is believed that the car stalled when it was squarely on the crossing. The victims were badly mangled.

P. & L. E. Picnic At Park Today

Maintenance Of Way And Shop Employes With Families Spend Day Here

Several thousand P. & L. E. railroad employes and their families today are enjoying an annual picnic at Cascade Park, several trains having arrived in the city between 9 o'clock and noon, transferring to P-O railway cars and being transported to the park. During the afternoon dancing was enjoyed.

The picnickers have come from different points between New Castle and Pittsburgh and as far south as Connellsville. The outing is being held under the auspices of the maintenance of way and shopmen.

Cars Hit Mule; Driver Is Killed

(International News Service)
CANONSBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—Frank Cherokee, 28, single, was killed today in the National Mining Company mine near Muse, 2 miles north-east of Canonsburg.

Cherokee, a mule-driver, had taken a string of empty cars into the mine when several loaded cars at the top of the shaft broke loose and started down grade into the mine.

The runaway cars struck the mule, hurling the animal against Cherokee and crushing him against the wall.

Man Injured On Race Track Dies

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 28—William N. Bicknell, 56, of Indiana, Pa., died today in Butler County Memorial hospital from injuries sustained in a crash on the Butler Fair Race Track last Tuesday.

Bicknell was driving Baron Prince, owned by W. C. Paxton, of Latrobe, when the accident occurred. The driver's chest was crushed and the horse's neck broken in the tumble.

Bicknell's experience as a trainer and driver of racing horses in Western Pennsylvania extended over a period of twenty years.

"Met" Star Goes "On The Air"

Mary Lewis, the genial star of Metropolitan opera, who has risen from the ranks of a Ziegfeld chorus (if "risen" be the proper word!) through operetta into grand opera, is to be heard throughout the country "on the air", early in the autumn as a result of a recently completed contract. She is to broadcast under the auspices of A. Atwater Kent.

CAPITOL THEATRE IS UNDER NEW CONTROL

Announcement is made today that the Peoples Amusement corporation operating the Penn and Regent theatres in this city, has leased the Capitol theatre, South Mercer street, their control starting at the close of the show tonight. Ben Burke is retiring from the business in this city for several years at the Capitol.

Coincident with the announcement of the change in control of the Capitol comes an announcement of a change in policy. The theatre will be closed for three days and on Thursday, September 2, will open with a program of high-class vaudeville and also a picture. It is the intention of the Peoples Amusement corporation to show vaudeville and pictures and also give the theatre-going public of New Castle a chance to see the best of the road shows, which are now being booked for the city. This new policy will bring to the city the finest attractions offered and will fill a need that has long been felt in New Castle.

Rum Chaser Is Victorious In Exciting Drama

Rum Runner Using Speed Boat Is Captured By Rum Chaser CG-142 Today

CAPTURE OCCURS NEAR STATE LINE

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first of the speed boats being used by rum runners between Long Point, Canada, and Erie to be caught was captured today by Captain Coppin of the rum chaser CG-142, just off the New York state line after 35 rounds of shot had been fired into it.

The captured boat is of the Seabright type and is capable of doing 40 miles per hour. The crew of the rum runner, it is said, threw from 50 to 75 cases of Canadian ale into the lake while Coppin was overhauling the craft, but when the boat was brought into the coast guard station here at daylight a hasty inventory showed she still

BY WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—America's crack aviators are broadcasting a call for millionaire "angels" to help them win back lost laurels.

With their triumphs of years past shattered by recent remarkable exploits of European aviators, army and navy flyers have risen en masse to try for every important world record.

Unable to stir the enthusiasm of the heads of military aviation, they are counting on American sportsmen to finance them in one of the world's costliest sports.

In all the world of competitive sport the United States lags far behind only in aviation. Of 49 major world's plane records but 14 rest in the hands of Americans, the National Aeronautic Association disclosed today. French flyers, under government patronage, have taken most of them.

The way having been paved by New York sportsmen who are backing Lieut. Al Williams to the extent of $100,000 for the world's speed record, other aces of the service flying corps today were casting about for help.

The army and navy have adopted a policy of ignoring records unless there is a very practical and immediate gain in sight. It was thru racing that the army and navy developed their present type of pursuit plane. Satisfied it is the best in the world, the chiefs of the air service refuse to spend money for specially built racers.

Air contests are going the way of automobile racing, military experts say. Automobile manufacturers started the game and then virtually abandoned it to let rich sportsmen and drivers provide the specially built cars that compete for big prizes.

Two records especially grate on the nerves of American aviators. They are the world speed record of 278 miles an hour held by the Frenchman Bonnet and the new world's altitude record of 40,809 feet made by M. Callizo of France. American aviators have been further aroused by their persistent efforts of the French to establish a new non-stop, long-distance record.

Army and navy heads have promised aviators leave of absence to try for records but that is as far as they will go. In the forthcoming around South America flight of the army and the east to west coast by way of the Panama Canal flight of the navy it is announced no attempts will be made to set records.

Woman Appeals For Aid In Locating Her Missing Husband

Creditors At Oil City Also Looking For Real Estate Man

(International News Service)
OIL CITY, Pa., Aug. 28. — Giving up faint hopes that he might return despite the fact that he has been missing since last April, Mrs. David Heyison today appealed to the newspapers to locate her husband, aged 66, who disappeared from Oil City.

Heyison, a tailor, came here 16 years ago from New York and accumulated considerable means. About ten years ago he began real estate operations, and was generally reputed to be well-to-do.

Creditors discovered that he had been pyramiding his investments to such extent that his equities in the large realty holdings had been cut to trifling proportions.

So involved were his affairs that none of the sales have resulted in producing any surplus over the amounts due creditors, for the benefit of the wife, who is living with a son-in-law.

Until today pride kept Mrs. Heyison from making a public appeal for aid in locating her husband.

BLACKBURN HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Hearings held last night in the offices of Alderman L. C. Mantz and William E. Marshall in the cases of Attorney M. J. Kraus, Ben G. Swick and F. S. Blackburn of Ellwood City, charged with violation of the Snyder act, as a result of raids conducted in that city on July 23, resulted in the discharge of Kraus and Swick and the holding of Blackburn for the September term of court.

Lack of evidence on which to hold them was given as the reason for the discharge of Kraus and Swick. The prosecutors were M. J. Teator, in the Kraus case, Roy King in the Swick case and W. T. Rahiser in the Blackburn case.

The commonwealth, through District Attorney J. Elder Bryan, in each instance asked a continuance of the case on the ground that state police officers who were important witnesses in the cases could not be present to testify. Counsel for the defendants objected and in each instance their objection was sustained by the presiding alderman.

Counsel for the three defendants included Former Judge J. Norman Martin, Former Judge S. P. Emery and Attorney A. Martin Graham. This morning Attorney Graham stated on being interviewed that he had no statement to make, other than that some action will be taken

CLYMER, Pa., Aug. 28.—Clymer was alone with its dead today.

For the first time since Thursday afternoon when a thin blue curl of smoke wafted out of the airshaft of Clymer Mine No. 1 told of the blast which had snuffed out the lives of forty-four miners, the hills surrounding the ill-fated mine were deserted.

Throughout the trying hours when rescue crews struggled desperately to reach the entombed miners before death overtook them, a grim faced, silent audience of mothers, wives and daughters lined the hills—waiting for word which was to tell them of wrecked homes and blasted hopes.

Relatives View Dead

Today, with forty-one bodies lying in the improvised morgue in the village, the barbed wire gates surrounding the building were opened, and the dead men's families were allowed to look upon the bodies.

DOVER, England, Aug. 28.—Again woman has conquered the English Channel.

Mrs. Clemington Corson, of New York, landed at Shakespear Beach, Dover, this afternoon, and thus became the second woman in history to swim the English Channel.

The plucky New York woman walked onto the English shore at three o'clock, having been in the water 15 hours and 28 minutes.

Gertrude's Record Stands

Gertrude Ederle's record of 14 hours and 32 minutes still stands, but the New York woman, mother of two children, made a valiant attempt at lowering the record achieved by the sturdy New York girl.

Thus, for the second time this summer, Englishmen have stood on their shores to see an American woman achieve that which only

Looks as though the summer had decided to be good, looks as though the sun was going to shine, looks as though the days and nights would be just what they should, looks as though the weather would be fine. All the rain and storms we've had, made it rather mean, folks got grumpy when the clouds were gray, but the farmers meadow lands and the buckwheat crop was green, and fattened up the clover and the hay. Better weather's coming for the harvest days are nigh, the clover and the hay are on the ricks, and pumpkins soon will be converted into golden pie, the weather's fine, its up to seventy six.

Civil War Vets Awaiting "Taps" Disband G. A. R.

Grand Army Of Republic At Reunion In September To Make Last Stand

Will Vote This Year On Whether To Break Camp At Once Or Later

(International News Service)

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 28.—The Grand Army of the Republic is making its last stand.

Like good soldiers, their ranks, thinned by age and disease, the old veterans know when to retreat. In the face of the last enemy, Death, which each year demands an appalling toll, their leaders feel it is time to set their camps in order and wait quietly for "Taps."

A committee consisting of former Governor Samuel R. Van Sant of Minnesota, Lewis Pilcher of New York and James Tanner of Washington, D. C., each having served as past national commander will present a report to the forthcoming national encampment here September 1924 covering plans for disbandment and disposition of the funds and records of the organization.

The youngest Civil War survivor is in the late seventies records reveal. Each year Grand Army officials and leaders say it is becoming more difficult to keep the organization work moving. The ranks of the veterans are thinning in a larger ration year by year.

In many cities and villages of the country where posts have flourished it has been necessary to abandon their charters.

The veterans hope that the patriotic program of their auxiliary the Women's Relief Corps may go on forever but as for themselves, they falteringly admit the time will come when they are through.

A vote will be taken at the meeting here in September whether they are to disband this year or postpone it a little longer but at best it is agreed the time is short.

American Naval Men Arrive For Nicaragua Duty

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—A detachment of 300 sailors and marines has landed at Bluefields, Nicaragua, from the American gunboat Galveston, the State Department was advised today.

The force was sent ashore when the native governor notified the captain of the American vessel that he was unable to afford adequate protection to American lives and property. The uprising against the present Chamorro regime was reported to be reaching serious proportions.

five men before them have achieved.

Winning her victory against the turbid waters of the channel today Mrs. Corson not only brings new fame to American womanhood, but she also won what constituted a race against Great Britain, for Frank Perks of Birmingham started from the French shores last night at approximately the same time as Mrs. Corson and followed in her wake all the way across the channel, but when the American woman was making her last courageous dash for the shore Perks found the battle too great and gave up.

Disappointed at Time

Flushed with victory when she stepped onto the pebbly beach beneath the Shakespeare cliffs, just outside of Dover, Mrs. Corson was nevertheless just a little disappointed, for she had hoped to lower the record of Gertrude Ederle, and she had failed to do so by 56 minutes.

The victory of Mrs. Corson was spectacular, for during the last 300 yeards she battled against a changing tide. The ebb tide began to set in just when the American woman was a quarter of a mile within the goal and she put on a final spurt, but when 300 yards from shore it became evident that the tide had definitely turned against her. There was a dramatic moment when those ashore pondered—would she give up or would she spend her last strength in fighting these tides which have defeated so many before her? The American mother chose to fight, and fight she did.

Won Courageous Battle

With determination written on her face she increased her stroke and surged ahead against the tides, only to be swept back almost as fast as she swam. There were moments of high suspense and those on shore set up a great cheer to urge her on. Inch by inch Mrs. Corson won her battle against the tides, and when within a hundred yards of shore her victory was still far from won. On and on she fought, with the outgoing tide ever sweeping against her. Eventually her will and brawn carried her forward in a great final effort and she made the shore—the victor of one of the most heroic battles against the channel that this coast has ever seen.

regular crew, but small hope was held out for their removal from the pit for several days.

Salvation Army girls, relieved from their task of cleaning and identifying the bodies brought from the mine, were being cared for in the miners' cottages. For thirty-six hours the blue-clad Army girls held their posts—weary from loss of sleep, tight-lipped and nervous from hours of depressing work over horribly disfigured bodies.

Girl Scouts, several of them related to the men whose bodies were brought from the mine not thirty feet from them, serving hot coffee and sandwiches to the rescue men throughout Thursday night, were also sent to their homes today.

Priest Is Active

Rev. Father F. S. Kondria, the Catholic priest who was with the first rescue crew to brave the depths of the gas filled mine, was with his parishioners today at the morgue. He will determine, in talks with the bereaved, whether joint services will be held for the forty-one recovered bodies, or whether each family is to be left alone to mourn its dead.

With word that no more bodies were to be brought to the surface of the mine son, the miners' homes were opened for the first time, and bereaved families beseiged the machine shop morgue in the village today.

Between rows of white-shrouded bodies, guarded by state police, the miners' families made their way for the most part silent, stoic in their grief. Forty-one bodies, each with its little group of mourners, moved none to hysterics.

Clymer was selent in its grief; quiet with the tragedy of bereavment.

gaged to manage the Capitol and he will devote his entire time to booking fine attractions and presenting them to the New Castle public.

To Enlarge Theatre.

The Capitol theatre has been improved considerably this summer and a fine big Robert Morton three-manual pipe organ has already been installed at a cost of $18,000. The new operators have a long term lease on the building and it is their intentions, Messrs. Marousis and Freeman announced, to improve and enlarge the theatre in the near future. The theatre is so constructed that it can be made to seat about 2,000 and this enlargement is the first item on the list of permanent improvements to be made. With a seating capacity of 2,000 it will be one of the largest theatres in the tri-state territory.

When the Capitol opens next Thursday under new management it will present a full program of vaudeville acts and a moving picture. A symphony orchestra under the leadership of Julius V. Sypher will play for the attractions. Other features will be added from time to time to make the Capitol one of the leading theatres of the state. It is already equipped with a large stage and lighting arrangements for the proper staging of acts.

With the Capitol presenting vaudeville and plays and with the various movie houses in the city New Castle will be able to present to its people everything in the way of amusement that it is possible to secure.

Other Church Bequests.

Kings Chapel Methodist church gets $75 per year for the support of the pastor, for repairs and maintenance $50 per year, for the Sabbath school, $25 per year. For the Kings Chapel cemetery, $20 per year. For the Wesley Methodist church, $50 per year for the support of the pastor, $25 per year for the support of the Sabbath school. For Simpson Methodist church, $30 per year for church expenses and $20 per year for the Sabbath school. All of these run for 20 years.

In the body of the will, Earl M. Kyle is left $25 per month for life and 40 shares of the Southern Pacific railroad common stock. A codicil makes additional arrangements.

The Shenango Valley hospital is left $5,000 if remodeling is started within two years and an additional $5,000 if a new building is started within three years. Unless the work is started within the time specified, the bequests are void.

In a letter or statement attached to the will, Jessie Mockel is left 50 shares of Southern Pacific Railroad common stock and 75 shares of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company common stock. Miss Mary G. Bigley is left 25 shares of the common stock of the Southern Pacific railroad.

A codicil made while Mr. Greer was in the hospital in Baltimore makes some changes and nullifies those contained in the letter. They provide that Miss Jessie Mockel is to receive $50 per month for 10 years, and at the end of that time is to receive 50 shares of the common stock of the Southern Pacific railroad. Miss Mary G. Bigley is to receive $500 per year for three years. Earl M. Kyle is to receive 50 shares of the Southern Pacific railroad common stock and 25 shares of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company.

Season Activities At Y. W. Camp End

Probably Over Four Hundred Are In Camp During Summer

Camp East Brook, the Y. W. C. A. camp for girls at East Brook, Pa. closes today. The summer camp has been open for ten weeks, opening, June 21, and closing today. The camp has been filled to capacity practically every week. Probably over four hundred girls enjoyed outings at this camp from this city and others during the season. This camp has become most popular during the five years it has been in operation, and its fame is still spreading. This summer, girls were at camp from this city, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Rochester, Butler, New Wilmington, Warren, O., and many other places.

During this past week, the girls who were in camp were girls who had been in camp at other times this summer and came back for the last week of camp. During the week there were beside the usual camp activities, a treasure hunt, moonlight swimming, Thursday night a corn roast, etc. Beside the camp activities of tennis, swimming, baseball, volley ball, basketball, hiking, croquet, tract, campfires and others.

The camp had a very successful season under the management of Miss Amy Norris. Miss Ruth Worrell, girls Sercetary of the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Helen Davidson of Westminster College were the recreation counsellors. During the past two weeks, Miss Florence Rohard of Wheatland, assisted with the recreation in the absence of Miss Worrell who is on her vacation. Miss Vera Nickols of Warren, O., also assisted with recreation activities at camp during the past week.

During the early fall, week-end parties to camp will be probably enjoyed by various clubs of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Open House Meeting At Bible Mission

This evening there will be an open house meeting at the Bible House Mission, 10 East North street. No special topics are announced. L. Schmidt, evangelist, will answer any Bible question. There will be song, prayer and testimony service. There will be no evening meetings for two weeks on account of the tent camp meeting on the Pence farm on the Harlansburg road which begins Sunday, August 29, and continues until September 12.

FEWER FISH IN GREAT LAKES

More than 100 million pounds of fish have been taken yearly from the Great Lakes for the last 50 years, the Bureau of Fisheries tells us. The high point was in 1922 when the yield was 140 million pounds, valued at $9,000,000. Lake Erie, second smallest of the Great Lakes, produces about half the fish yield of all the Great Lakes combined. In 1922 the catch of Lake Erie amounted to 54 million pounds, but the latest reports from Lake Erie indicate production has fallen greatly. The pollution of the waters of the lake, which is virtually unrestricted, and intensive fishing, are believed to be partly to blame. A fish must have something like half a chance to live if he is to go on producing his kind.

to protect the rights of the parties arrested.

It is understood that this means action in damages against those involved in the raids at the offices of Attorney Kraus and Ben G. Swick, although not directly confirmed in the above statement.

The hearings of Ben G. Swick and F. S. Blackburn were held first and at the office of Alderman William E. Marshall, where the informations were made.

Those testifying in the cases were M. J. Teator, Roy King and W. T. Rahiser, members of the Ellwood City police force, and R. E. Graham, a chemist.

It was brought out that the raids were based on investigations which were made following information given by Burgess D. A. Evans.

The defense made a determined effort to discredit the testimony that the bottle in the Swick case, shown as evidence, was the same as that taken from the office of Mr. Swick, and also the testimony of the chemist as to whether the stuff in the bottle was actually a beverage. Attorneys Martin and Emery succeeded apparently to some extent in this questioning, and when the discharge of the defendant was asked it was immediately granted by Alderman Marshall.

In the Blackburn case alcohol was found in the basement of the home and ten and one-half pints of bonded liquor in the upstairs part of the Blackburn home. The question was raised that the alcohol was denatured and unfit for beverage purposes. In this case Alderman Marshall held Blackburn for the September term of court. Bail in the sum of $1,500 was furnished for the appearance of Blackburn for trial.

The hearing of Attorney Kraus occurred at the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz following the other hearings. The same counsel appeared for the defense in this instance as in the first cases.

But two witnesses were called, M. J. Teator, present chief of police of Ellwood City, who was a patrolman at the time of the raid, and R. E. Graham, chemist.

Teator, the prosecutor, told of assisting in the search of the offices of Attorney Kraus on direction of the state police officers. Nothing was found, he stated, in the offices of Attorney Kraus, his brother, Lawrence, which was immediately in the rear of the former's office, but that the bottle presented in evidence, a pint bottle containing a fourth of a pint of liquid said to be liquor and bearing the name of a person other than Attorney Kraus, to whom it had evidently been issued as a prescription, had been found in a room to the rear of the Lawrence Kraus office.

Teator admitted that he did not know that this room, in which there were some automobile accessories and junk, was necessarily a part of the office of Kraus or whether it might not be rented to other persons.

Questioned with regard to the manner of search in the offices, he denied that he had done any damage or broken into anything in the office. He said that state police officers had pried open the safe. Among the state police in the office were H. C. Bigham, Charles Sorok, D. Bush and B. H. Bridge, while Patrolman James Hays of Ellwood City was also present.

He was inclined to refuse telling where he received his information on which he made his investigation and resulted in his securing a search warrant on which the raid was made, but Alderman Mantz ruled that he must answer, and he stated that Burgess D. A. Evans told him that he had better investigate.

R. E. Graham, chemist, testified as to the alcoholic content of the stuff found, but admitted that he did not examine the stuff for anything other than the alcoholic content.

The testimony over, the district attorney asked that Kraus be held, while Attorney Emery asked that he be discharged. The contention of the latter was granted immediately and without delay.

Old Time River Pilot Passes Away

WARREN, Pa., Aug. 28.—Francis D. Olney, 97 years old, the last Allegheny river pilot in this section of the country, is dead in his home in Irvin. He followed his trade for a half century, starting at 16, and at one time owned several barges.

His father fought in the war of 1812 and his grandfather in the American revolution. Olney was Warren county's oldest citizen. He leaves a daughter in Youngsville.

Pola Negri Reveals Courtship, With Her Late "Sheik" Lover

Polish Screen Star Nearing New York And Is In State Of Prostration.

(International News Service)

ON BOARD THE GOLDEN STATE LIMITED, EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO, Aug 28.—A shrine to the living, not a monument to the dead, is the pledge of love Pola Negri today made to the memory of Rudolph Valentino as she lay spent with grief in the narrow confines of her drawing room en route to view the body of the man she loved.

Final lap of her journey from Hollywood to New York finds the Polish movie star in a state of prostration. Constant application of ice bags to her head and above her heart is being resorted to by her nurse, Adeline Valencia, in the hope that the journey can be completed. Every effort is being made to conserve her nervous energy, and her secretary, Miss Florence Hein, on the doctor's orders, is denying everybody admission to her room.

Today, for the first time, the span of silence imposed upon her by the physician's orders was broken when she told the story of her romance with Valentino.

"Mr. Valentino proposed to me after he returned from Paris, a free man. There was only one thought in our minds. We looked forward to the time wher we could be bound together for eternity," she dictated to Miss Hein in answer to the question of when and where he had proposed to her. "I met him for the first time almost a year ago at a ball masque given by Miss Marion Davies."

Merchant Marine Slowly Growing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. — The American Merchant Marine is slowly growing, the Department of Commerce announced today, even while the rest of the shipping world is still suffering from the devastating effects of the World War.

This optimistic note was sounded by the Department when its shipping census showed a net increase of 250,000 tons in the amount of shipping flying the American flag on July 1, last, as compared to July 1, 1925. This gain included an increase of 500,000 tons of steamers and motor vessels added to America's active fleets during the year by private capital and a loss of 250,000 tons in government-owned shipping, which was either sold privately or withdrawn from the seas.

Health Evangelist Talks On Parasites

Tells of Insidious Work of Tape Worms That Play Upon the Human System and How to Remove Them

Says He Will Remove Limited Number of Tape Worms Free and Will Pay Big Reward in Any Case If He Fails

The big crowd that witnessed the World's Free Minstrels, on the B. & O. Grounds, South Mill street, New Castle, last night and heard Health Evangelist Dyer lecture on the subject the tape worms and living creatures that infect the human body, causing distress in health and serious trouble, was amazed at his revelations and horrified at the sight of some of the specimens he had on exhibition.

Explaining the cause and effect of these health-destroying parasites, Mr. Dyer told how many of their victims go on suffering for many years thinking their trouble some disorder of the stomach, liver and kidneys, only to find that all signs of it disappear as soon as the worm is removed. To demonstrate this, he offered to remove parasites from a limited number of sufferers absolutely free for a short time and urged all persons who have reason to believe themselves afflicted to come to him and take advantage of his offer. He also asked his audience to tell any friends of his offer.

Winding up his interesting talk on this vital subject, Mr. Dyer offered a reward of $1,000 to any person whose tape worms he failed to remove and referred to more than ten thousand that he had already removed without trouble of distress to the patients, naming a number of prominent people he has relieved.

While the fun and entertainment of the minstrels were tempered with the rather serious talk of the Health Evangelist, everyone had a good time and thoroughly enjoyed the excellent singing and dancing and the witty jokes of the comedians. An entirely new program will be furnished at the show this evening, and together with another interesting talk by Evangelist Dyer. One thing that everyone enjoys is that they can go to it without the bother "of dressing up" and that they can always feel free to bring the babies and the youngsters. It is just one of the wholesome, clean and jolly shows that all the family can enjoy. This show is free to everybody. Starts at 8:00 p. m. This show will be here for three weeks.

SIMPLICITY IN LAWS

THOMAS JEFFERSON, whose claims to fame as a lawyer are manifold, was a strong advocate of simplicity in the wording of laws. His appeal for statutes in plain English involved the implication that too many laws are far from simple in expression and that too many of them at least seem to be intentionally intricate, vague and difficult of interpretation.

Legal phraseology becomes distinctly vicious when it says one thing and means another. Thus seemingly innocuous legislation has been found to be treacherous and other legislation apparently severe enough to meet a public demand is made worthless by the insertion of a qualifying but inconspicuous word or clause.

Criticism of the statutes on this score comes, however, more frequently from laymen than from lawyers. Lawyers less unselfish and scrupulous than Jefferson prefer to have the laws not too easily understood by the untrained, in order that they—the lawyers—may be called upon the more often to unravel the legislative enigmas for a fee.

But the barrister and informed legislator know that what the layman regards as needless pleonasms and tautologies in statutory verbiage, as in other legal documents, really are useful in precluding differences of opinion as to the meaning and to cover completely all possible contingencies.

The interminable phrases commonly ridiculed and condemned by non-professionals are in many cases products of experience covering centuries of court and legislative procedure, and while precautions of this sort can be carried to ludicrous extremes, on the whole the established phrases are essential.

THE "IDLE RICH"

AFTER a group of English scientists had indulged in the ancient and still popular pastime of defending and damning the "idle rich," one of the assembled savants, Sir Josiah Stamp, suddenly terminated the discussion with the statement that those who come under that classification are so few in number in England as to be unworthy of either public or scientific concern.

There are less than a thousand able-bodied men in England today who are idle and rich, although only a few years ago they formed a national minority of considerable proportions and economic importance.

While the idle rich are not necessarily bad citizens, they could better serve society by taking their place in the world's "workshop" and contributing their part to the world's production. That they usually consume more than their share of the world's production is their one redeeming feature, for by consuming they provide employment for producers.

Sir Josiah defends the idle rich on the theory that they stir the poor toiler to effort, emulation. That is, they are an inspiration to others to acquire wealth so they may also become idle.

America's experience with the idle rich has been dissimilar from that of the Old World. For centuries England and other European countries have had a class of unemployed rich men in which all ages were represented, while the idle rich of the United States have been chiefly youthful sons of men who have earned their wealth but never "laid down the reins." And there are many instances where the heirs of American millions have shown themselves not content with merely dissipating the accumulated wealth of their ancestors.

RELIC OF BARBARISM

ONCE more the "third degree" has been brought into the limelight with the usual result that the public has shown its displeasure both of the practice and of the practicioners. Brute force and cruelty are unpopular in this country even when used against criminals.

While the juror who halted the trial of the "cry-baby bandits" in New York by protesting against the alleged use of "third degree" methods in wringing confessions from the bandits did not help the defendants, he went far in impressing upon the police mind that the American policeman is not an agent of the Inquisition and is not living in that age of torture and brutality.

In this case defense counsel counted heavily on public sentiment against the "third degree," and while the police were exonerated of the brutality charges, the very fact that criminals are able to play upon the sentiment against brutal treatment of persons suspected of crimes is bound to make the employment of such tactics less and less effective in the obtaining of convictions.

The police can not be too zealous in their efforts to capture criminals and obtain their conviction, except when those efforts reach the extremes of torturing the suspected into admitting the commission of crimes of which they may or may not be guilty. The lay mind has no difficulty in imagining treatment beyond human endurance under which the innocent might confess the most fiendish offense.

Just Folks

A DAY WITH FRIENDS

A day with friends, away from care
And all the burdens men must bear;
Away from every urgent need,
From selfishness and petty greed,
Where talk is all of books and plays
And by-gone joys of yesterdays.

A day with friends—and let it be
Beneath some spreading maple tree,
Where noise and clamor never break
The calm which sky and meadow make;
Where never traffic's dusty pace
Blots out the beauty of the place.

Where, each for all and all for each,
There is no cunning in the speech;
No thought of profit, save the gain
In liveliness of heart and brain
And those more lasting riches wrought
By friendly interchange of thought.

A day with friends—throughout the years
But seldom such a day appears
When fame and money, hope and doubt
And gain and loss are all shut out,
And every thought that's uttered springs
From dreams and sweet imaginings.

The season for swimming the English Channel is over. About all the contestants have quit for this year and none succeeded in getting over except our own Trudy Ederle. Next year we'll have the same old news from there from the ambitious men and women who want to take a 20-mile swim. Perhaps if they can get all the dogfish out of the Channel, as well as the cold and seasickness more swimmers will be able to make the trip in a bathing suit.

By drinking milk and eating less meat eight years can be added to a person's life at the time they need the years most is now the advice and promise of some eminent scientist. When does a man need eight years more than just at the tag end of life? When that is answered correctly we'll buy a cow.

According to visitors abroad Germany is the only nation that knows who won the war. And Germany, by realizing that fact and getting down to business, is the most prosperous nation of all in Europe that was engaged in the war. Germans are always quick to realize the truth, and it didn't take them long to know after America got in the war just what nation wouldn't win it.

One-fifth of New York City is going to vote by machines next November. A good many people here are under the impression that New York's vote is altogether a machine vote.

Whatever else may be said of them, these are certainly good snoozing nights.

Today's Storyette.

A minister like his father before him had often officiated at marriage ceremonies but this was his first experience at giving away the bride.

He was in a devout mood; his church was small, his salary meager and his family numerous. This daughter had been especially expensive.

"Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" droned the preacher.

Gently the father placed the slender hand of the bride in that of the embarrassed groom.

"Take her, my boy" he exclaimed. "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Here's a New York romance for you. The first time he saw her was on a Broadway car and she was on the pavement. The second time he saw her was as a theatre audience rose. Somehow, she got away. The third time he was in a subway express and she was in a local and both trains were stalled, their windows were opposite. The fourth time they were in a Fifth avenue bus and he might never have seen her except that he overheard her tell the conductor that she lacked the necessary dime. So now they are married.

The Age of Reptiles.

The Age of Reptiles
Was a quer old age,
It could never be
Produced on the stage,
For the earth in that day
Was all soft and porus,
And roaming the globe
Was the great Brontosaurus,
He was one hundred feet
From his tail to his nose,
And he could exterminate
The fiercest of foes.

Then also there was
The wild Camptosaurus,
Its lucky for us,
That they lived before us;
At the Hesperonis

For although a bird,
Wings he had none.

We must not forget,
The Tyrannosourus
Which on the whole
Was the funniest cuss,
He had teth like a lion
And head like a horse,
And his short tail
A great deal of force,
And now you can see,
If we'd lived in those days,
Our Zoos would have pleased
In reptilian ways.

Gertrude Ederle, genuine "Miss America", lands in her home town, "Little Old New York", today. Friends and neighbors will give her a "block party".

New York's mayor gives her a reception with a band and policemen parading.

The young lady brings honor and glory to her family and country.

Girls that try to be "skinny" notice that Gertrude, champion of the world, weighs over 160 pounds, is proud of it, and can have her choice of 1,000 good husbands.

And after she won her victory, conquering the channel, this young girl went, not to a cabaret, but straight to her old grandmother in the south of Germany.

The young will please observe that reverence for the old does not interfere with winning a world championship.

The brilliant French aviator, D'Oisy, crossing Africa at night, flew over the Mediterranean and on to Paris, covering 2,750 miles, including five stops, in 38 hours 45 minutes. A United States army flyer has already accomplished it.

Krishnamurti is here, and those that have seen him like him. He will tell us interesting truths now, and later his delicate 100-pound body is to become an estatic new vehicle for the world teacher. He rebukes us for our devotion to physical comfort.

At Dundalk, Ireland, Mrs. J. McDonald said Mrs. Mary Martin cast the "evil eye" on her child, dooming it to a life of ill luck.

A third woman, doing the best she could, cut the fringe from the shawl of Mrs. Martin of the "evil eye" and burned that fringe under the nose of the child. The evil spell should have disappeared with the smoke, but didn't.

The judge refused to take the case seriously and tried to make the ladies understand that the evil eye doesn't exist, and smoke from a lady's shawl wouldn't cure it, anyhow.

Millions in Ireland and other countries will say that the judge is foolish. We are still far from moderate intelligence as regards three-quarters of the 1600 million human being on earth.

In Day's News

Dr. Elmer Brown who today reaches the age of 65 years, has long been a conspicuous figure in American educational circles. He is a former United States commissioner of education and for the past 15 years has been chancellor of New York University. Dr. Brown was born in Chautauqua county, N. Y., just three months after the killing of his namesake, Colonel Elmer E. Ellsworth, who was the first federal officer to fall in the war between the states. Dr. Brown is a graduate of the Illinois State Normal school and of the University of Michigan. He studied a year in Germany. Early in his career he became professor of the theory and practice of education at the University of Michigan. Subsequently he filled a similar position at the University of California. In 1907 he was called to Washington to become U. S. Commissioner of Education which office he continued to fill until called to his present position as head of New York University in 1911.

SCAPEGRACE HEROES

It has long been an axiom that a scapegrace and a hero are often separated only by the presence of the opportunity.

Two heroic actions, recently featured in the daily news, give added evidence of its truth.

In Los Angeles, a "sleep stealer"—a roustabout who was stealing a night's sleep in a chair in the hallway of a rooming house—awoke choking with smoke.

The building was in a blaze and the lodgers had fled. As he was groping his way down the hall he heard a baby cry.

Feeling his way back through the smoke he broke down a door and rescued a family of four who had been overcome by smoke.

Then he disappeared, before the police could question him.

A Japanese vessel, carrying a deserter shackled in chains, was wrecked in Gray's Harbor in Washington.

When hope of saving the ship was given up and all hands were taking to the life boats the deserter was freed. As he was about to leap overboard he saw the captain thrown against the bridge compass by a lurch of the vessel. At the risk of his own life he returned, placed a life preserver about the officer's unconscious form and dropping him overboard swam beside him until they were picked up by a coast guard cutter.

In the World War the first Victoria Cross awarded for bravery was given to a newsboy from Edinburgh who had been arrested a score of times for breaking the law forbidding private citizens to scale the walls of the castle.

Robert Clive, the man who, at the age of 34, captured India for Great Britain, was, in times of peace, truculent, irritable, obstinate and unmanageable. When he was a boy all who knew him prophesied that some day he would hang.

"In active service, bad boys make good."

GREAT LAND HOLDINGS

I was interested while in the Adirondack Mountains, to find that there still existed in the much populated East, two great estates in land. I thought that landed estates in the Old Thirteen Colonies had been so subdivided that an estate of five thousand acres would be considered a very large estate. Imagine my surprise when I found myself at the head of Racket Lake, within the confines of the Whitney Estate. All about me were great forests on the side of the Big Hills, —wonderful stands of timber. The boatman at Racket Lake told me that the Whitney Estate comprises some ninety thousand acres. Upon it there were three mountain homes built by different members of the Whitney family, that seldom now do any of the Whitneys use these homes themselves, that frequently friends of the family inhabited them, and they were all cared for throughout the year. Later I learned that the old Rockefeller Adirondack preserve of fifty-two thousand acres is still intact. It is now owned by several men, among whom were Colonel Ben McAlpin of New York, and John MacDonald of Utica. The proposition of buying this and setting it aside for the use of the Governors of New York for a summer residence is being urged upon the Legislature of the state of New York. Perhaps this idea has occurred to the owners of the Preserve since the establishment this summer of the Adirondacks as the summer residence for the President of the United States. People are great imitators.

There are few great holdings of land left in North America. The greatest holdings are being broken up now in Mexico by the present Mexican government. These holdings, however, are not as great as imagined. They are called "haciendas". At the last survey of Mexico there were about 11 great haciendas, the greatest of which comprised 250,000 acres. Southern California, however, has a relic of the old Spanish days of great estates. The Santa Margarita Ranch in San Diego County consists of a holding of 325,000 acres of land. This estate is now held by the executors of Jerome O'Neil. O'Neil recently died, but he was the sole possessor of this land during most of his lifetime, having inherited it. It is to be held in trust for thirty years, for the benefit of certain beneficiaries. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway runs 20 miles through this Ranch. The Santa Fe does not own its right-of-way in fee simple, as it entered into a contract with Jerome O'Neil upon the building of its line from San Bernardino to National City, California, whereby, in consideration of acquiring a right-of-way through the Ranch the railroad was to build stations and sidetracks at designated points for the benefit of the Ranch. The Santa Fe further agreed to stop its passenger trains upon flag at any one of these stations, also for the benefit of the Ranch. It is probably one of the most curious rights-of-way ever acquired by a railroad in this country.

No Manor or Barony in England ever possessed so great an acreage of land. In the Domesday Book it is related that Alfred, the King was the Lord of about sixty Mannors, each possessing about 1,500 acres of land—not a very large holding. The average Lord of the Manor of England never ruled over more than 2,000 acres. There are some other large holdings of land in the West—in Texas, in Montana and in Wyoming, but with the development of water resources in the West and the irrigation of these lands it will not be long until they are broken up into small holdings.

When the world needs more food supply there is enough rich land in the West which can be brought under cultivation to supply many times the world's present population with food.

POEMS HOME

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

I often think of
Those Shandon bells,
Whose sounds so wild would,
In the days of childhood,
Fling round my cradle
Their magic spells.
On this I ponder
Where'er I wander,
And thus grow fonder,
Sweet Cork, of thee;
With thy bells of Shandon,
That sound so grand on
The pleasant waters
Of the River Lee.

I've heard bells chiming
Full many a clime in,
Tolling sublime in
Cathedral shrine,
While at a glibe rate
Brass tongues would vibrate—
But all their music
Spoke naught like thine;
For memory, dwelling
On each proud swelling
Of thy belfry knelling
Its bold notes free,
Made the bells of Shandon
Sound far more grand on
Of the River Lee.

There's a bell in Moscow,
While on tower and kiosk,
In Saint Sophia
The Turkman gets;
And loud in air
Calls men to prayer
From the tapering summit
Of tall minarets.
Such empty phantom
I freely grant them;
But there is an anthem
More dear to me,—
'Tis the bells of Shandon
That sound so grand on
The pleasant waters
Of the River Lee.

Forty-Eight Delegates Attend — Other News Of Seventh Ward

On Friday a district meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist church was held at Parker's Landing, Pa. Forty-eight delegates attended from the district. The meeting was an all-day affair and was held in the Parker's Landing M. E. church. During the day officers were elected. Two of the delegates from the Mahoning Methodist church were elected to offices.

Miss Ruth Shaw was elected first vice president of the district, and Paul Gibson was re-elected to the office of statistician.

Dinner and supper were served in the church dining room. The delegates from the Mahoning Methodist church were Lila McCann, Inez Croxall, Ruth Shaw, George Emerick and Paul Gibson. Mrs. D. C. Offutt, president of the local society, also attended. They report the meeting was most interesting and they enjoyed it very much.

Ten Service Men At P. H. C. Meeting

A feature of the recent session held by New Castle Circle No. 5, P. H. C., was the presence of ten of the service men here in the interest of the big organization. It was a sort of get acquainted night and these gentlemen certainly proved their ability in doing so. It was a meeting of unusual interest to the circle, whose continuous growth occupies a big position on the insurance map.

The guests of the circle Thursday night included Dr. H. E. Hurst, C. J. Lane, D. B. Kiser, J. D. O'Brian, A. G. Calvin, S. C. Turner, C. A. Olson, Earl Lane, J. M. Zeh, F. A. Thompson and Dr. R. G. Baird of Sharon, who presented the visitors. It was indeed a pleasure to meet these brainy gentlemen of the insurance world.

The floor work of the Knickerbocker team was never more beautifully exemplified and with its added new features the drill met with storms of applause. Miss Anna Hammond was never in better voice and the numbers rendered were warmly received.

At the close of the busy session Guardian Emma J. Goss and her committee served lunch in the attractively arranged dining room when a social hour was spent with members becoming better acquainted with their guests.

Lillie B. Jones, secretary.

Reckless Driving Cause Of Death

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 28.—A request that the driver's license of Otis Liggon, negro, Federal street, Farrell, be revoked was made following an investigation into the automobile accident which caused the death of his brother, Saunders, also of Federal street.

The jury found that Otis, who was operating the car was driving in a reckless manner when the machine turned turtle in the Mercer-Sharon road on May 23. Saunders suffered with a broken neck in the accident and died a day later in Buhl hospital.

Five witnesses, all of whom were in the car, were examined. They were Otis Liggon, Mrs. Mahafey Johnson, "Shim" Johnson and Mrs. Nettie Morris. James Campbell of Mercer, a passing motorist, also testified.

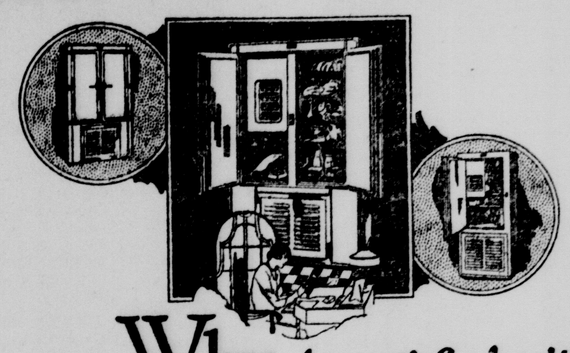
Kelvinator does NOT cost more!



Why be satisfied with less?

When we make the statement that Kelvinator does not cost more, we make it without reservation. Compare model with model—food space with food space—ice cube capacity with ice cube capacity, and you'll find that Kelvinator actually costs less than other systems not so long on the market.

Then, too, you choose from the world's largest line; you get the system of longest proved life; and a standard of quality that has never been excelled.

Such values are made possible by the fact that Kelvinator is built by the world's largest organization devoted exclusively to the manufacture of electric refrigeration for the home.

This year Kelvinator developed a Household Budget Purchase Plan that makes Kelvinator very easy for anyone to own. Now there's no reason whatever, why any buyer of electric refrigeration should be satisfied with anything less than a Kelvinator.

Injured Turfman Reported To Have 'Fighting Chance'

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 28.—That William "Hobbing" Bicknel of Indiana, Pa., who was seriously injured in a collision on the race track at the Butler fair late yesterday afternoon has a "fighting chance", was the report received from attending physicians at the Butler County Memorial hospital. Bicknel suffered several broken ribs, a dislocated shoulder and a fractured collar bone, but no internal injuries have yet been disclosed.

Three other men, all drivers, were injured in the collision, but Bicknel was the only one removed to the hospital. The others were:

Ralmey Blush of Indiana, Pa., sprained back, head injuries and sprained ankle.

Paul Double of Mt. Chestnut, sprained back, injured shoulder and other minor injuries.

Paul Welp of Clearfield, Pa., driver of Cyclex, who suffered a fractured ankle and was treated at the Clearfield stables on the grounds.

The accident occurred during the third heat of the 2:24 trot, when the horse, Baron Prince, owned by W. C. Paxton of Latrobe, Pa., stumbled and fell, breaking its neck. Cyclex, Welp's horse, collided with the fallen horse, hurling Welp out of his sulky. The horse ran away, but was caught by California Frank owner of the Wild West show that is exhibiting at the fair this week. The Paxton horse broke its neck and died instantly.

Another horse, Emma Worth, owned by C. M. Wahl of Evans City, and driven by the owner's brother, George Wahl, stumbled over a slight depression in the track during the second heat of the same race and broke a bone in its leg. The horse's racing days are over, and according to the owner of the animal will be killed.

W. C. Paxton, owner of the horse that was killed, said he recently refused $1,000 for the animal.

THE ANSWER

You say that you love me, and so—
We ought to get married; heigho!
Let's study this question, my Beau.

You say you're in love
with my eyes and my hair;
My lips are like rose-buds,
my face is so fair.
How about it, my Beau,
Be honest and square.

Will you still be so loving
when I'm feeble and slow?
When my lips lose their color,
and my hair turns to snow?
Will you still call me "Sweetheart",
and "Honey", my Beau?

You say that you'll always be true—
I'm not quite so certain, are you?

Oft you say you'll be tender,
and patient and kind.
When your supper is late,
you'll say, "I don't mind",
When I'm crabbed and cranky,
that you'll be resigned.

Now listen, my Beau,
you're a mighty good scout;
But you've promised too much,
And it seldom works out,
And I want you to know
what I'm thinking about.

Life's a mighty long ride,
over rough, rocky roads;
And trippers most always
have big heavy loads.
But to roll down the road
in a fliver for two—
I'm ready to travel,
my Beau, are you?

—Frank W. Tyler.

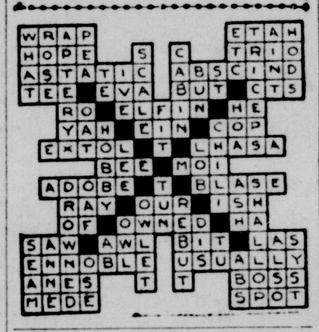
Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle



Turner Held In Jail After Wife's Death

ROMNEY, W. Va., Aug. 28.—Hugh Ives, 62 years old, a piano tuner of Lewisburg, Pa., is being held in jail here as a material witness pending a coroner's inquiry into the death of his wife, who had been sick in bed and died in a farmer's home near here Wednesday while he was with her. He left yesterday morning, taking his possessions, without saying anything to L. Halterman, his host, about his wife being dead. The body was found in bed later.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert White today quoted the man as saying he thought his wife was only sleeping and did not know she was dead. White indicated his belief that the woman died of natural causes, but because of the abrupt strange departure of the man he asked for an inquest. The woman had been ill for some weeks.

Ives was arrested by state police at Three Churches, this county, and brought back to jail.

CHILDREN'S NURSE RESUMES HER DUTIES

Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time and I would not be without it in the house. As I am a children's nurse, I have to be on my feet a great deal and your medicine has helped me wonderfully. I was hardly able to do my housework when I began taking it, and now I am a strong and well woman, able to do all that and go out nursing besides. I have also used the Sanative Wash and found it beneficial."—Mrs. Gertrude L. Stewart, 103 Davis St., Greenfield, Mass.

Valuable for Weakness

"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a valuable medicine for weakness."—Mrs. J. A Pietsch, Box 397, Lancaster, Pa.

Hundreds of letters like these are received by the Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., from grateful women who say that their health has improved since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

GENERAL GEORGE CONDYLIS

The popular hero of the moment in Greece is General George Condylis, whose recent coup in overthrowing the dictator, General Pangalos, surprised the world at large by its suddenness.

Two years ago when the Greek parliament declined to hand the reins of government over to General Condylis he said that he would never attempt a coupe de force, but even at that time a considerable proportion of the Greek population believed that before long he would be in control of the Republic.

Many thousands of Greeks looked upon Condylis as the strongest man in the republic. He is described as being hard and relentless, trained in the ways of the soldier and possessing an abrupt manner, powerful perseverance and much self-confidence.

At the beginning of the first Balkan war he was a corporal. He fought through both Balkan wars, in Macedonia during the World War and then in Anatolia, rising to the rank of colonel. He was one of those who, in 1917, assisted Venizelos in setting up a revolutionary government at Salonika, and when King Constantine returned to Greece late in 1920 Condylis went to Constantinople with other dissatisfied officers. When Constantine was again dethroned two years later Condylis returned to the army, but during the Lausanne treaty negotiations he resigned to become a deputy in Parliament and to fight for the Republican cause.

In April, 1924, he was appointed Minister of War by Prime Minister Papanastasion. Four months afterword he resigned his portfolio when the Prime Minister received a delegation of soldiers and sailors whom Condylis merely considered to be mutineers. His resignation precipitated the fall of the Papanastasion government and later Condylis was exiled with a number of politicians who were accused of sedition.

On the occasion of General Pangalos becoming President in April of this year, General Condylis and other exiles were permitted to return to Greece.

Hillsville

Miss Marion Baker entertained the Queen Esther Society at her home here Thursday evening. The regular business was tatken up, after which the hostess served a delicious lunch.

The funeral of Mrs. Rosse Sfara was one of the largest ever held here. Mrs. Sfara had lived here so long she was very well known. The cars of beautiful floral tributes told of the esteem in which she was held by her many friends.

CORN ROAST HELD

A number of folks gathered at the home of Jack Nelson on the Bessemer road and enjoyed a corn roast. The out-of-town folks present were Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Eakin and sons, Walter and Marion, and Miss Johnston, of New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. Kights and son of Pittsburgh. All reported a wonderful time.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Kerr and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Barrie spent Thursday at the Butler fair.

Charles Miller of New Castle spent Thursday with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Orr of Poland, O., spent Wednesday visiting friends in town.

Mrs. W. E. Byers, Mrs. Mary Houlette spent Wednesday with Mrs. Jonah Byers in the City hospital at New Castle.

Mrs. Ethel McCreary of Youngstown, O., is visiting relatives here.

Misses Coveis of Philadelphia are visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Myers and family and Mrs. Yerkes of Lowellville were visiting here Wednesday.

Andy Love and daughter Maggie, of Youngstown, were visiting in town Wednesday.

Lewis Conti of Youngstown called here Tuesday by the death of his sister, Mrs. Rosse Sfara.

First M. E. Church—Leon L. Woodin, pastor; Sunday school 10 a. m.; Milo Paden, superintendent; morning worship at 11 o'clock; sermon theme, "Shut In With God"; the evening services will be resumed; song service at 7:30; the pastor will give a timely talk on the subject, "Is There a Catholic Persecution in Mexico?" an appraisal of the political-religious history of that troubled country and its bearing on American politics.

Italian M. E. Church—Morning services: Sunday school, Mrs. Signore, superintendent, 9:30 a. m.; morning service, subject, "The Rich Young Ruler", 10:30 a. m.; evening services: Junior church 6:30; no evening services for month of August.

AFTER THE BATH

The mother was getting her small son ready for school when she noticed a lump on his head. "Freddy!" she said, sternly, "have you been fighting again?"

"Fightin'," he echoed; "not me."

"But somebody struck you," said his mother.

"Nobody struck me," he answered, stoutly; "I wasn't fightin' at all. It was an accident."

"An accident?"

"Yes," he replied: "I was sitting on Tommy Jones, and I forgot to hold his feet."

EASILY DONE

Wife (tearfully)—You've broken the promise you made me.

Husband—Never mind, my dear. I'll make you another.

If you like to work you won't have any trouble finding someone to let you enjoy yourself.

International Sunday School Lesson

Notes On Lesson By
George M. Landis, Pastor First Baptist Church, New Castle.

September 5, 1926
THE TENT OF MEETING
Ex. 33:7-16.

Golden Text:—"The Lord spake unto Moses face to face, as man speaketh unto his friend." (Ex. 33:11).

This tabernacle (or "tent of meeting" as it is more correctly called in the Revised Version), should not be confused with the Tabernacle which was built soon after this (Ex. 40), the plans of which had already been given to Moses (Ex. 25-31). In the Revision, verse seven reads: "Now Moses used to take the tent and to pitch it without the camp," indicating that this had been the practice for some time, which could not have been said at this time of the regular Tabernacle. The tent of meeting was evidently the center of worship from the leaving of Egypt until the Tabernacle was built. This lesson gives some valuable instruction regarding communion and fellowship with God, which are the normal activities of a redeemed people.

I. THE PLACE OF COMMUNION WITH GOD (vs. 7.)

1. At the tent of meeting, which is a wonderful type of Jesus Christ, who tabernacles among us (Jn. 1:14 margin). He is the true and only meeting place between the sinner and God (Jn. 14:6). We must either meet God in grace as He is revealed in Jesus Christ, or meet Him in judgment with all hope gone.

2. Without the camp. Israel had broken the law of God in the worship of the golden calf (Ch. 32). God had declared a break in his fellowship with them (vs. 3). He commanded them to take off their ornaments (vs. 5-6), as a sign of their true repentance. It had been their ornaments out of which they had made the golden calf (32:2-3). Many an ornament has become an idol.

God as the center of gathering in the midst of the camp, had been displaced by the man-made idol. A holy God would not manifest His presence in a defiled camp, so He appointed a new place of meeting, "without the camp." This is typical of Jesus Christ, who was rejected by the eccleastical camp of His day (Jn. 1:11), and then suffered without the camp (Heb. 13:12). He thus becomes the true center of our gathering. If we would meet with him, we must "Go forth therefore unto Him without the camp, bearing His reproach" (Heb. 13:13.)

II. THE PRODUCT UPON OTHERS OF OUR COMMUNION WITH GOD (vs. 8-10).

One man who practices the presence of God, will affect those about him. The wayward Israelites now had their eyes on godly Moses. No sooner did he start for the "tent of meeting" than the people all stood reverently in their own tent doors. And as the cloudy pillar descended upon the tent, indicating that God was manifesting Himself within the tent; all the people worshipped God (vs. 10). Many have since been led to worship God thru the examples of an uncompromising soul.

III. THE PRIVILEGE OF COMMUNING WITH GOD (vs. 11.)

As we would prize an interview with our president or with some earthly monarch, how much more should we value the infinitely higher privilege of having intercourse with the Most High God, the Supreme Monarch of the Universe.

It is a marvel of God's grace that He would condescend talking with us face to face, even as friend to friend. Fellowship is one of the greatest promoters of friendship. We love to converse with our friends. Do we enjoy more to talk with that Friend who sticketh closer than a brother (Prov. 18:24)? Are we so enamored with God's presence, that like Joshua, we abide in the secret place of the Most High (Psa. 91:1)?

IV. THE PETITION OF THOSE WHO COMMUNE WITH GOD (vs. 12-13.)

Recognizing his own inability to lead this fickle and rebellious people, Moses appeals to God for help. He bases his petition upon God's knowledge and grace. The fact that Christ knows us by name (Jn. 10:3, 28), and that we are the objects of His sovereign grace (Eph. 2:8), should embolden us to come boldly to the throne of grace to find help in every time of need (Heb. 4:16). Moses prayer was:

1. For Divine Guidance (vs. 13). "Show me thy ways." There are many roads in the wilderness. Christian leaders are in danger of choosing the wrong road unless they are willing to be shown God's way (Gal. 5:16; Psa. 16:11; Prov. 14:12). Following God's guidance results in:—

a. A deeper acquaintance with God,—"that I may know thee." God reveals himself to those who walk in His ways. Paul had this same aspiration (Phil. 3:10). To know God is the great need of mankind in all ages (Jn. 17:3).

b. A continued experience of God's grace,—"that I may find grace in thy sight." God's sufficient and sustaining grace is assured to all who follow His guidance (2 Cor. 12:9; Psa. 65:11).

2. For God's presence (vs. 15). Happy is the man who is afraid to advance without God's presence with him. It would be far better to remain in the wilderness with God, than to enter Canaan without Him. The presence of God is vastly superior to the presence of an army, as a means of protection.

The presence of God is a mighty witness to the world about, "so shall it be known." The world takes knowledge of those who have been with Jesus (Acts. 4:13).

The presence of God makes separation natural and easy, "so shall we be separated, I and thy people from all the people of the earth." There can be no true fellowship between those who are enjoying the presence of God, and those of the world. If we were more zealous to maintain the practice of the presence of God, we would have less trouble in maintaining our separation from the world. (2 Cor. 6: 17-18; Jn. 17:14-16).

V. THE PROMISE OF GOD'S PRESENCE TO THOSE WHO COMMUNE WITH HIM (vs. 14.)

God assured Moses that His presence should go with him. God is always ready to abide with those who desire Him. The fellowship which the presence of God affords is one of the greatest joys of the Christian life.

God's presence is a guarantee of rest, "and I will give you rest." We enjoy rest from the dominion of sin, the trials of life, the fear of enemies, and all the other things which would disturb us; when we have God's presence with us (Mt. 11:28-29; Phil. 4:5-7; Acts. 23:11; Mt. 28:20).

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Loen Trotzky is on the par path again, this time against bureaucracy and red tape.

He had abandoned the campaign for some time in favor of contemplating party politics but when the following example was called to his notice he re-entered the fray with vigor.

"A twenty kopeck silver coin of the Czar's regime was found in a bag of silver Soviet coins in the Department of Finance of Voronetz" relates Trotsky. "The coin is now worth only six kopecks." (The equivalent of three cents.)

"The wise Voronetz financial folks decided to isolate this czaristic coin. The department held a conference of four responsible officials and determination on the proper procedure.

"Then they ordered a secretary to fold up the coin in a clean piece of cloth. An old woman courier sewed it up with thread. Another secretary tied it well with a string. A third employe wrote upon the cloth the address of the financial commissariat in Moscow and stamped it with 23 kopecks worth of stamps.

"Meanwhile a stenographer was making out the necessary records with three copies. Three responsible workers signed the documents and they were forwarded to Moscow along with the coin.

"Only wise men can do such things!" exclaims Trotsky.

One of the last acts of the late Djerjinsky in his capacity of chairman of the Supreme Economic council was to order the multitudinous committees which hitherto have directed affairs in all departments of the Soviet economy, to elect one man to do their work. Dejrjinsky blamed the paralyzing red tape and procrastination of the Soviet apparatus on the committee system. If his "one man responsibility" order is carried out it will mean a revolutionary change in the Soviet system. The order is greeted enthusiastically by many who have long realized that the committee system of management wasted years of time in talk.

Other sorts of mismanagement are also occupying the attention of Soviet leaders. The Soviet moving picture industry has long been a sore point. Between the Ukrainian Moving Picture trust and the Russian Moving Picture Trust—both of course parts of the Soviet union organization—there is reigning a hostility which has broken out in open scandal.

The Soviets most famous movie of recent years "The Warship Potemkin" a tale of a mutiny on a Czarist battleship based on an actual incident in the revolution of 1905 has been shown in many of the principal countries of Europe but is still unknown to the Ukraine one of the most populous parts of the Sovunion. The picture was one of the hits of the season in Germany in spite of, or because of the hot controversy which arose over the question of its effect upon military discipline and the many moves made to suppress it.

But because of the conflict between the Ukrainian and Russian movie organizations the film has not even ben shown in Sebastopol, the scene of its action. America is scheduled to receive the film in the near future. It is one of the very few Soviet films which do credit to the Russians' reputation for theatrical art.

Union Schools Will Start Term Sept. 7

Pupils Of Both High School And Grade School To Report On That Date

The Union township school on Scotland Lane will open for the 1926-27 term Tuesday, September 7, it was announced by the school authorities today. The opening date is effective for both the pupils of the high school and the grade school.

A marked increase in the enrollment of the school over last year is looked forward to but with the accommodations of the new building built several years ago by the township no difficulty in accommodating the children is anticipated.

Mystery Surrounds Triple Tragedy

(International News Service)

OCALA, Fla., Aug. 28.—One man is dead and a man and his wife are dying in the hospital hore as the result of a shooting affair which startled the neighboring town of Inglis. The dead man, David Wiley of Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived in Ocala early Thursday night and immediately sought Jerry Wydman, husband of Wiley's former wife.

As soon as he located Wydman, Wiley fired two shots which entered Wydman's breast. Mrs. Wydman, hearing the shots, rushed to her husband's side only to meet her former husband, Wiley, who turned the gun on her and fired two shots into her body. Wiley then fired the remaining two bullets through his heart.

Owing to the serious conditions of Mr. and Mrs. Wydman, no statement has been available to determine the cause of the tragedy.

Firemen Answer Fire Calls Friday

The city firemen were called on to answer two fire calls on Friday afternoon. There was little loss in either case.

The first of the alarms was received from box 83 and called the No. 5 company to the home of S. Shenson, 23 East Reynolds street, to battle with flames in the shingle roof of the house. Sparks from the chimney was the cause of the blaze. The loss was approximately $25.

A leak in the oil stove of Albert Hall, rear 818 South Jefferson street, caught on fire from the burner and caused a blaze, which resulted in the calling of the firemen by an alarm from box 53 at 4:05 p. m. There was no resulting loss.

Sacred Monkey's Death Anniversary Annual Holy Day

(International News Service)

BOMBAY, Aug. 28.—In Pandharpur a small town near here and the seat of a famous temple dedicated to Rama is being celebrated with all solemnity, the sixth anniversary of the death of a sacred monkey.

This monkey is believed to have been a great soul but some slip occurred in his past life which caused him to be born a monkey instead of in human form.

By mutual consent of all the holy men in Pandharpur, the holiest among them more than a generation was the sacred monkey. He was big in size and very pious in his ways. He always woke with the sunrise and was always the first to bathe in the sacred river Chandrabhaga which flows at the foot of the principle temple.

After bathing the monkey went through a process which corresponded to the religious ceremonies of the human observants. Every day the opening of the temple gates found the monkey standing in front of the image with folded palms. He would sit there until noon, and then would walk out of the courtyard, accepting any food that was given to him or which he could pick from the trees. He is reported never to have accepted any food which could not be eaten by holy medicants. The rest of the afternoon and evening he was just a monkey but a very helpful and thoughtful one, rescuing lost children, rocking babies in their cradles and doing other services which came to hand.

Beating of tom-toms in the streets of Pandharpur has been prohibited ever since the monkey died, and his passing is celebrated on each anniversary of his death, thousands of pilgrims coming on foot for great distances to worship at his tomb.

Another Appeal Made To Government

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Renewed charges that American rights in Mexico have been violated in the Calles government's enforcement of the religious laws have been made to the state department by the Knights of Columbus.

J. J. Flaherty and P. J. Callahan, ranking officers of the knights, held a long conference with Secretary of State Kellogg Thursday evening, it was learned, and later James R. Sheffield, ambassador to Mexico, was called into the conference. None of the conferees would discuss the meeting.

Reveal Heroism In Mine Blast

(International News Service)

CLYMER, Pa., Aug. 28.—John Olsen, 36, was acclaimed a hero Friday for his feat in leading nine comrades to safety shortly after the second blast in the Clearfield Bituminous Coal corporation's mine here.

Olsen forced the men behind safety door, when, panic-stricken, they would have otherwise made a dash for freedom into the gas-filled main heading.

Wielding an iron bar, Olsen held the men behind the doors until the first wave of gas passed, then led them to safety through an air passage.

For Motorists

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28.—In an endeavor to reduce the frightful toll of grade crossing crashes in Ohio C. E. Maxfield superintendent for the Cleveland District of the Nickel Plate railroad has issued a set of "ten commandments" for motorists and pedestrians.

The "commandments" are:

1. Thou shalt learn to recognize railroad crossings and approach them with extreme care.
2. Thou shalt look both ways and listen for trains.
3. Thou shalt be doubly alert if there are two or more tracks.
4. Thou shalt always use good judgment at railroad crossings that thy days may be long upon the land and the enjoyment of thy car continues.
5. Thou shalt keep thy brakes girded with effective brake linings.
6. Thou shalt not depend upon the driver of the car ahead.
8. Thou shalt not try to beat the train.
9. Thou shalt when in doubt take the safe course always.
10. Thou shalt cross cautiously.

Card Of Thanks.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindness shown us during the death of our son George, the donation of cars and for the beautiful flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Hazen of Ellwood City, and Mrs. Hazen's mother, Mrs. Coleman of East Liverpool, O., and her son Don Coleman and his wife of Beaver Falls were calling on friends in Gardner last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary A. White of the Ellwood highway has had her sister, Mrs. Carrie Wilder of Waterford, Pa., as her guest for several days. Mrs. White's daughter, Mrs. W. C. Fleming came to the old home and took her mother and aunt to the Fleming home in Akron, O., for a visit. From there the ladies will go to Waterford where another sister of Mrs. White will join them and the four ladies will go to Niagara Falls and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Comstock of Gardner motored to Ellwood City last Sunday to see their relatives Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Gallagher and family.

Mrs. Parker and daughter Olive May, of New Castle spent Friday at the Comstock home.

Miss Beulah Brown of the Ellwood highway is staying a few days with friends in Gardner.

Noted Credit Man Will Discuss Local Bureau Conditions

Better Business Bureau To Sponsor Visit Here Of James D. Hayes

A meeting of the board of directors of the Better Business Bureau of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce was held in the Chamber of Commerce room at 9:30 a. m. August 27, with President C. W. Grafton presiding.

Members of the board in attendance were: C. W. Grafton, DeLace Cole, W. E. Waddington, C. P. Reynolds and Ira Ramsey.

A good report was received from Dollar Day, the members present stating that it was one of the best ever held in New Castle.

As a result of a discussion held concerning the credit rating bureau, it was decided to invite James D. Hays, manager, Harrisburg Credit Exchange, to come to New Castle to address all of the merchants, professional men and others who are interested in credit in this community. All those interested in matters pertaining to credit are cordially invited to attend this meeting, which it is hoped will be held some time during the week of September 13.

Everyone connected with it is enthusiastic over the future of the Better Business Bureau and plans are now being made for its further expansion.

Arrangements For Stoneboro Fair

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 28. — The management of the Stoneboro Fair is making extensive preparations for its annual meet which will be held September 4, 6, 7 and 8. Saturday will be devoted to the reception of exhibits and getting everything in readiness for the exhibition days. The gates will be closed Sunday.

Monday is expected to witness one of the greatest crowds in the history of the association. Being Labor Day, and no celebration being announced for this part of the state, it is believed many will spend the holiday at the fair.

A good race program has been arranged for the three exhibition days of the fair.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. John W. McCullough had received the announcement of the death of her mother, Mrs. L. M. Patterson, of Deland, Fla., last Saturday. Mrs. Patterson's maiden name was Eva Bagnall. She was born in Jefferson township, November 19, 1861, and spent much of her life in Mercer county. She leaves her husband; one son, M. Roy, of Deland, Fla.; and two daughters, Mrs. J. J. Pawne, of Deland; and Mrs. J. W. McCullough, of Cool Spring township.

Latest Channel Swimmer Holds Many Records

Mrs. Corson Came Into Prominence In 1921 Swimming Manhatten Island

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Clememton Corson, of New York, who swam the English Channel today, is 27 years old and the mother of two children.

Mrs. Corson first came before the public in 1921, when she made the circuit of Manhattan Island in 14 hours and fifty-seven minutes. Later she swam from Albany to New York city in 63 hours 35 minutes actual swimming time. The distance is 153 miles.

One previous attempt to swim the English Channel has been made by Mrs. Corson, in 1923. She started from the English side, and got within two miles of the French coast in fourteen and a half hours, when she was forced to give up by rough weather.

Her last long swim was from Dover to Ramsgate, which she accomplished in six hours and twenty minutes.

The Pacific ocean is larger than a pair of dreamy eyes and almost half as deep.

Kennel Club Members To Inspect John Farm

Lawrence County Dog Fanciers To Meet At New Training Kennels Sunday

The Lawrence County Kennel Club will hold its regular meeting Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the farm of L. C. John, near Harlansburg.

The object of holding the meeting at the John place is for the purpose of inspecting the new training kennels which are a main part of the hundred acre farm.

Accommodations are available for between two and three hundred dogs and it is the largest kennel farm in the western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio district. Special attention will be given to the training of hunting dogs and Spaniels.

The Kennel Club has arranged for its annual show to be held here April 8 and 9, which are the two days preceding the Butler Show. In this way the entries here may be moved on to Butler for display without any loss of time.

Father Brennan To Leave For New York

Local Priest To Undergo Medical Treatment For Throat Trouble

Father M. J. Brennan, associate pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church of this city, will leave for New York Monday for the purpose of undergoing medical treatment for throat trouble from which he has been suffering for a number of months.

Since a recent acute attack of the malady Father Brennan has been resting at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Beck on the Harbor road. He will remain in New York about a week.

TO BE EXACT

The witness had been cautioned to give more precise answers.

"We don't want your opinion of the question," the judge told him. "We want it answered—that's all."

"You drive a wagon?" asked the prosecuting attorney.

"No, sir, I do not," was the decided reply.

"Why, sir, did you not tell my learned friend but a moment ago that you did?"

"No, sir, I did not."

"Now, I put it to you, my man, on your oath you drive a wagon?"

"No sir."

"Then what is your occupation?" asked the state's attorney, in desperation.

"I drive a horse," was the reply.

Delegates Leave For Conference Of Girl Reserves

Meeting Held At Newton-Hamilton, Pa., Will Continue Until September 2

Miss Annabel Wright and Miss Virginia Duff of this city, delegates to the annual Conference of the Senior Girl Reserves Club at Newton-Hamilton, Pa., near Harrisburg, left this morning where they will join four other girls of New Castle including Rebecca Gwin, Lois Davenport, Helen McBride and Maude Throop who left last Tuesday accompanied by their supervisor, Miss Ethel M. Kelley, teacher in the local High School.

The Conference is being held in the Methodist Training Camp which is quite adequate for a large gathering. About four hundred girls from a number of the Eastern states are attending the meeting. A number of supervisors are also present from Philadelphia and other large cities. A special feature of the Conference will be the outlining of the work for the winter work.

The Conference will continue until Friday, September 3.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 28.—The coroner today was investigating an automobile collision on the highway at the outskirts of town in which Joseph Bauer, 17, of Washington, was killed outright when the car in which he was riding collided with another driven by Carl Fleisner.

Fleisner was not held following the accident.

Ishak Helmy Is Forced To Quit Channel Swim

(International News Service)

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 28. — Ishak Helmy, the Ekyptian swimmer, was forced to abandon his attempt to swim the English Channel at 2:35 o'clock this morning. He returned to Boulogne aboard the tug Alsace.

Although Helmy began his swim a half hour before Mrs. Clemington Carson took to the water, he was outdistanced within two hours, being carried off his course by adverse currents.

Alaska Suffers Strong Quake

(International News Service)

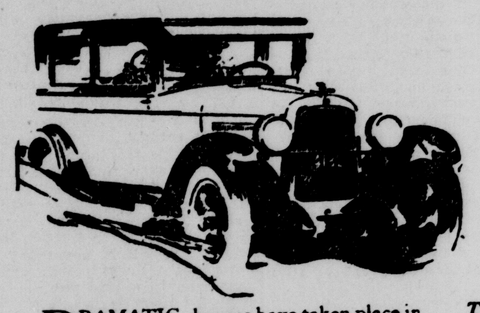
CORDOVA, Alaska, Aug. 28. — A strong earthquake shock was registered here early today at the Naval Radia Station. The tremblor was not sufficiently strong to do any damage, however. A lesser earth tremor was felt at 10 o'clock last night.

The first tremor passed almost unnoticed, but the second shock was sharp enough to alarm many persons who were awakened from their sleep.

They don't ever seem to have a "Park by a fire plug" week.

Now-the Modern Principles of European Design

are embodied in this New-Type Car



DRAMATIC changes have taken place in automobile standards of design. New engineering practices from Europe made the Overland Six instantly popular.

It is new all through . . . brilliantly engineered as a unit . . . not an old fashioned reconstructed chassis.

To outward appearances this car looks very much like conventional automobiles. Except that it is lower to the ground. And smartly European in appearance.

But hidden beneath the body are scores of vital engineering improvements that have practically revolutionized its performance standards . . . improved its riding qualities . . . cut operating costs to a minimum . . . and added immeasurably to its length of service.

You can drive it at an average speed of 40 to 55 miles an hour without excessive strain on the engine.

Its "high-torque" power plant has ample power to master the steepest hills. Gear shifting has been reduced to a minimum.

It has a low gravity center. An outstanding engineering feature due to these modern principles of design. This means greater safety at all speeds. It means protection against sidesway and serious skidding.

And it means comfort such as you've never known before.

How we reduce upkeep expense

Because of new principles of design the operating cost of an Overland Six has been reduced to the very minimum.

Gasoline expense is exceedingly low. So is oil consumption.

And due to its greater operating efficiency, repair costs have been brought to a new low level.

Thousands of owners report remarkable mileage records, with amazing trouble-free performance.

Top place in resale value. You've probably heard of the National Used Car Blue Book. It's published for the guidance of automobile merchants everywhere . . . to help them in purchasing used cars wisely.

A recent issue of this book gives 1st, 2nd, 4th, and 5th places in used car values among the 1925 models of 17 different automobile companies, to Overland!

So you see that modern engineering counts in used car prices. It will mean a lot to you when it's time to trade-in your car.

See the Overland Six and find out about its modern engineering that means plus-value to you!

NOTE: 4-wheel brakes are furnished at slight extra cost.

Other models: Touring $895; Coupe, $895; DeLuxe Sedan, $1095.

Moody Confident As Voting Starts

Fate Of "Ma" Ferguson Hangs In Balance At Today's Election

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 28.—While whistles shrilled in the cities and while church bells rang in the towns, Texas voters went to the polls today to decide the fate of Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, first woman to be elected governor in the United States, seeking re-election.

At the ballot boxes will be settled the classic political contest of the year in the southwest. On one side is "Ma" Ferguson and her victriolic husband James E. "Jim" Ferguson, former governor ousted by the impeachment route. Pitted against them is Dan Moody, youthful attorney general, sometimes averred to as the "Dragon fighter in business clothing." Moody gained fame in Texas by fighting the "Dragons" of the Ku Klux Klan in his home county of Williamson, sending five of them to the state penitentiary for flogging a man whom they claimed was too much of a sheik among the ladies.

Ma and Jim, they always are referred to thus, have claimed in the campaign that closed last night that Moody has the support of the Klan.

That and other charges and incidents are what have created so much interest in today's event.

Interest Rampant

There is so much interest that cities are vieing with each other today as to which will prove to be the most "progressive" in getting out the vote. And to get out the vote, every novelty that could be thought up is being put to use. Beginning at 7 o'clock when the polls opened this morning, whistles in all parts of the larger cities began to scream, calling attention to the business of the day. Not to be outdone, the towns of the state resounded with the peal of church bells and other noise makers. The warning was sounded every half hour, and with some starting later than others, there was an unceasing bedlam in many cities.

Newspapers of the state have predicted a heavy vote today, in spite of the general rain yesterday. Estimates of the probable count have ranged from 650,000 to 800,000. The latter was the approximate at the first primary, July 24, when Moody lacked only 2,000 votes of having a majority over a field of five candidates. Mrs. Ferguson was runner-up and under Texas election laws, the second or run-off primary shall decide between the two leading candidates, if the leader does not obtain a majority in the first.

Nominations at the run-off virtually means election in the thoroughly Democratic state of Texas.

Before the first primary, Ma Ferguson challenged Moody to a wager that if he beat her by one vote, she immediately would resign if the attorney general would resign if she beat him by 25,000. Ma failed to resign and failed to withdraw from the race, claiming that Moody did not accept the challenge. Moody claimed he did accept the challenge, and Ma retaliated with a charge that Moody had polled the large vote fraudulently, at an unfair and dishonest election.

Rev. John P. Pack To Preach Closing Message Sunday

Bethany Student Who Has Been Supplying First Christian Church To Leave City

Rev. John Paul Pack who has been occupying the pulpit in the First Christian church during the summer months in the absence of the pastor, Dr. C. H. Holcomb, will deliver his closing message Sunday morning.

Rev. Pack is a senior in Bethany college and plans to enter for his last year after a visit with his parents at Beckley, W. Va.

While he has been in this city he has made countless friends who regret to see him leave. He has been a tireless worker while here especially in the work of the young people of the congregation.

There will be special musical numbers by the chorus choir under the direction of Prof. R. E. Johns at the morning service.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Holcomb, will arrive home some time next week and will be in charge of the services next Sunday. He and his wife have been on a vacation trip through Europe.

Rev. Randles Returns From Vacation Trip

Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Randles and family of Highland avenue have returned from a vacation trip to Rev. Randles former home at Somonauk, Ill.

Rev. Randles will preach Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in the Second United Presbyterian church. The work of redecorating the church which has been done during the month of August is about completed.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

By THOMAS R. CURRAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28. — Members of the University of Southern California football squad are getting some good off-season practice these days. The players line up on opposing teams as part of the filming of "The Collegians," a Universal series. Although the Trojan grid stars are paid for playing football, their amateur standing is not involved.

Gov. J. C. Scrugham of Nevada and Senator Reed Smoot of Utah were recent visitors on the Sam Goldwyn location in the Nevada desert near Winnemucca. The Goldwyn company, headed by Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, is filming Harold Bell Wright's "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

The governor and the senator were intensely interested in the irrigation and reclamation activities which are recorded in the film. They also assisted Director King in checking the authenticity of several scenes.

"Leading men are getting scarcer every year," Marshall Neilan, film director declared today. "As soon as they become the vogue they are put into the star class and then we can't get them to support any of our feminine stars.

"It's about time to make a new crop of leading men. The business of casting a picture these days is getting harder and harder because of the lack of them."

The unbobbed hair of Priscilla Bonner resulted in her selection by Harry Langdon, First National comedian, as his leading [illegible] in "The Strong Man," now in production.

"I want a leading woman with long hair, Harry declared. Few such were found in Hollywood. Miss Bonner, however, applied and was accepted.

"Long hair has a certain charm, an old-fashioned feminity which bobbed hair hasn't." Harry explained. "I like long-haired women."

Gloria Swanson, it was learned today, has acquired the film right to "The Battalion of Death," a story of the Russian women who fought side by side with the men during the late war.

In the film, Miss Swanson will portray a soviet Joan of Arc—a Russian princess who organizes a battalion of women to drive the cowardly soldiers back to the trenches to repel the attacks of the enemy.

The phenomenal success of "The Cohens and The Kellys," and the stage play, "Abie's Irish Rose," a somewhat similar theme. The picture is "Private Izzy Murphy," with George Jessel, New York musical comedy star, in the leading role. Upon the completion of the picture, Jessel will leave for Boston open an engagement of his play, "The Jazz Singer."

Edmund Lowe, Fox star, and Lilyan Tashman, his actress-wife, are enroute to England on a long-deferred honeymoon.

The honeymoon was postponed a year on account of movie engagements. But even this trip is a combination of business and pleasure for Lowe will play opposite Lila Lee in "One Increasing Purpose," which will be filmed in the British Isles under the personal supervision of A. S. Hutchinson, the author. Mae Allison has also been signed for a part in this picture.

CHILDREN SHOULD HAVE CLEAN CLOTHES WHEN THEY START IN SCHOOL NEXT WEEK

Call Smith's Master Dry Cleaners First If You Demand The Best Work and Satisfactory Service.

One week from Tuesday the children, young and in the teen age will go back to school for the year. That cleanliness is absolutely essential at school is backed by all the knowledge of the ages. It is just as essential that children be dressed in clean clothes as it is that their bodies and hands and faces be clean and that they be clean in mind and ideals.

Smith's Master Dry cleaners are urging all the mothers of school children to have their children's clothes cleaned this next week before school opens so that the children can start with their clothes in a condition of newness and brightness. Smith's Master Dry Cleaners will make the clothes like new and send them back in a clean and sanitary condition. Follow the suggestion of Smith's Master Dry Cleaners and send the children's clothes to be cleaned next week.

Smith's Master Cleaners are experts in all kinds of cleaning. The most delicate summer garments, the finest of woolen or fur trimmed coats, silks and also rugs, are all given the Smith Master Cleaning attention making them spotless and bright when returned to the owner.

Call Smith's first, Bell 885, if you demand particular and expert dry cleaning.

Commander Rodgers Died Hero, Officials Reveal

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Commander John N. Rodgers died as he lived—a hero. Thus was his tragic end described today by Lieutenant Commander F. E. Loucy, chief of the naval hospital here, while the naval board of inquiry resumed its probe of the accident which may also claim the life of Machinist Mate Samuel Schultz, 29. He received internal injuries when the plane piloted by the hero of the attempted flight from the coast to Hawaii suddenly took a nose dive in the Delaware river late yesterday.

Commander Rodgers was speeding here from Washington to attend an important conference with navy officers and to inspect the partially finished all metal airplane in which he contemplated a 3,000-mile flight, when the accident occurred.

What caused the plane to suddenly dive into the water while it was trying to make a landing, is baffling the probers, it is said. They are to question Schultz today.

The navy yard here is enshrouded in mourning for the intrepid aviator, who frequently visited the city, was one of the most popular men in the air service and thought much of at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Conscious to End.

Rodgers, according to Lieutenant Commander Lucy, was conscious almost to the end. He passed away smiling. The flyer's parents, Rear Admiral John A. Rodgers, U. S. N. retired, Mrs. Rodgers and his brother, Robert P. Rodgers, rushed here when they learned of the accident, but were too late to find the victim alive.

Rodgers, who was formerly assistant chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics, receiving the promotion after his epic-making attempted Hawaiian flight, a year ago, took off from Washington at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to fly to the navy yard here.

Word was received here of the intended arrival and a throng of people gathered at the navy yard to greet him. Rodgers piloted his machine to make a landing and was but 50 feet in the air when the plane seemed to stand on end and suddenly nose dive into the mud on the bottom of the Delaware river, according to eye witnesses.

Hundreds of spectators rushed to the rescue. Marines formed a wall and pushed back the crowd. Sailors manned boats and rushed to the scene of the accident. They rescued the trapped aviators, found strapped to their seats, and took them to the navy hospital.

At the hospital, it was said, Rodgers urged surgeons to administer aid to Schultz first. He accepted his fate calmly and without emotion.

"How is Schultz?" were his last words.

IN MEMORIAM.

Anniversary Of 125 Years Is Well Attended

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Aug. 28—A large number of out of town speakers were present to assist in the celebration of the 125th anniversary of the Providence Baptist church at North Sewickley on Thursday. The afternoon was devoted to the reading of letters from former pastors by Rev. J. R. Routledge, the pastor.

Those making addresses in the afternoon were Rev. C. W. Macgeorge of Ellwood City and Rev. Childs of the Harmony church.

The song service was conducted by C. E. Sankey. The church history was read by Mrs. J. R. Routledge. Testimonial meeting was conducted by the older members.

An interesting feature of the service was the story told of childhood days when they attended this church by Mrs. Grimm of Sharon, who is the daughter of the former pastor Rev. John Parker. Mrs. Roy McDanel sang a solo "Will the Circle be Unbroken." A choir of girls sang a few numbers followed by refreshments served by the Ladies Missionary society.

C. E. Sankey was in charge of the evening service. Rev. Charles Bell read the Scripture, followed by the speaker Rev. Woodrow of New Castle and the testimonial meeting. Mr. Hipple sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Guppie, both of the New Brighton Baptist church.

Miss Eleanor Dutterer gave a piano solo followed by a song by the choir "Some Glad Tomorrow" written by a former pastor's wife, Mrs. L. J. Shoemaker. Following several favorite hymns Rev. Routledge pronounced the benediction.

Sports Feature Playgrounds Close Friday Afternoon

Children of the playgrounds of the city, which have been so successfully operated during the present summer under the supervision of Miss Phyllis Beal, celebrated the close of the playground season on Friday at Gaston park, with contests of various kinds, which culminated in the award of ribbons to the winners.

Between six and seven hundred children from the four playgrounds of the city were in attendance. They were transported to Gaston park in two conveniences provided by the P. & O. Electric company and one provided by the Frew Furniture company. All had arrived at the scene of the celebration by 10:30 a. m.

Each playground had its own color to designate its group, the children wearing tags that indicated from which place they came.

The different playground groups competed in the various athletic contests, which included basketball, volley ball, relay races, tumbling, broad jumping, horseshoes, clock golf, etc. The winners received ribbons designating first and second places in the events and honorable mention in each event.

Twenty ribbons were awarded in each group for the work done duf-ing the term, while ribbons were awarded to the following girls for the best all around all season work in their respective playgrounds: Betty Krestel, Gaston Park; Catherine Lewis, McCleary avenue; Myrna Smith, West Side and Dorothy Cain, Croton.

The display of industrial work done at the playgrounds was held in the shelter house and was the center of interest all day. It was under the supervision of Mrs. David Bollard. The judges in this display were Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Mrs. H. M. Kirk and Mrs. F. E. Sowersby.

Sports were the feature of the big event from the start until 12 o'clock noon, when a picnic lunch, which the children had provided for was enjoyed in the grove. Following the lunch, there was a treat of ice cream, provided through the generosity of F. L. Rentz.

In the afternoon there were more sports, then the presentation of little plays and solo dances. At the close of the day as the children started homeward, they were presented with lollypops, also a part of the treat by Mr. Rentz.

Much of the success of the playgrounds this summer was due to the work of the supervisors at the respective playgrounds, who were as follows: Croton—Miss Helen Lyle; West Side—Miss Bernice Davenport; Gaston—Eva Smith; McCleary—Sara McGoun.

LOYALTY TO NEW CASTLE COSTS NOTHING
—and Yields Vast Returns

The world looks at New Castle thru the eyes of those who live here. If New Castle people knock their home town, then the rest of the world can not be blamed for joining the anvil chorus. If New Castle people know their town is right, have faith in it, believe in it and are willing to speak a good word for it, then the world is quick to respond and give to New Castle a place in the sun.

New Castle made goods, our city's stores, our professional men, our schools, in fact all of our varied institutions should receive our first consideration. We can do no less than push things that make our city what it is.

We live in a city of varied and prosperous industry, with a substantial agricultural territory adjacent to it. If the good old U. S. A. is right, then New Castle is right. Loose and irresponsible talk can tear down our city faster than it can be built. The loyalty of New Castle people can build a greater community. Our city rests upon its institutions, their strength is the city's strength. Boost them and you build our city.

We who live here, have selected New Castle as our home—let's say our judgment is good and tell the world about it.

STEPPING UP!

Again began that struggle for life up the mountain side!

It seemed to Peter, watching from the cliff's edge, that he must go to the rescue of the little Tusker. He mentioned this to Dromda and made as though to slip down from the Camel's back. But the Camel shook his head and hoarsely snapped at the Boy.

"Stay where you are, Two-Legs! You can do no good and much harm! Let the Elephants look up and catch a glimpse of a stranger on the cliff for which they are making and the shock may send them tumbling back into the depths! Mrs. Elephant is coming along famously. Patience, Boy, and in a few moments she will have that youngster of hers up on the pass!"

The little Elephant strained and pulled! The big Elephant pushed and boosted.

"Eeee! Ugh!"

A final squeal! A last grunt! The young Elephant stood with all four feet firmly planted on the pass. A second more and the wise old Tusker clambered over the top to safety!

"Hurrah! Three cheers for"—

The words froze upon Peter's lips.

Dromda the Camel had turned his head and was staring up at the Boy, teeth bared and with a wicked look in his eye that made Peter shake in his shoes.

"Be quiet!" muttered Dromda between his teeth. "Give me away would you? Well, let me tell you, you'll never live to tell tales on me! Once Mrs. Elephant understands 'twas I who pushed her baby over the cliff she will go mad for revenge. Once she discovers I'm within her reach there will be no hope for me. The pass is narrow. I cannot get away. She will butt me into the deep ravine! You can't save yourself. Make another sound and I shall toss you over my head, or worse yet—if Mrs. Elephant pushes me, I shall carry you with me to the rocks below!"

British Labor Will Unionize All Women

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The General Council of the Trade Union Congress today announced the opening of a campaign to organize all women workers. An "All-Women's Congress" is to be held at Bournemouth in September as part of the campaign.

Labor Union officials estimate that of the 4,150,000 women workers in Great Britain eligible to trade union membership only 23 per cent are organized. Among the women who it is hoped to get into the trade union organizations are the 2,000,000 domestic servants employed in hotels, clubs and private houses.

Miss Margaret Bondfield a member of the executive council of the T. U. C. and who was recently elected to the House of Commons will take a leading part in the woman's campaign.

PLAN LAWRENCE COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

Ellwood Plays O. & P. Leaguers

Representatives Meet In News Office Friday Night To Arrange Series

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Final arrangements for the playing of a five-game series for the championship of Lawrence county between the Ellwood City team of the County League and the New Castle team of the O. & P. League were made at a meeting held in the News office on Friday night, with six principals taking an active part. The first game of the series will be played in New Castle on Saturday, Sept. 11, at Centennial field, with the second game scheduled for Ellwood City on Tuesday, Sept. 14. The games will alternate between the two towns.

Articles Signed

The matter of playing a championship series was brought to a head last evening when Business Manager Carm Sacco of the New Castle team, Connie Wardman and Joe Dougherty of the Ellwood City team, Eddie Connery and John A. Jackson of the Larwence County League, and the writer met to draw up an agreement and to sign the necessary documents that would insure the series being played under a contract basis. All the details relative to the series were thrashed out before the meeting adjourned, and judging from the interest already shown in the proposed series, the fans are going to witness some first-class attractions ere the championship is decided.

As was first stated, the Neshannocks did not send a representative to the meeting. The boys from Coaltown have only a slim possibility of overtaking the "Tubers" and it was more than likely for that reason that they stayed away from the meeting. Ellwood City needs three victories to cinch the pennant, according to Connie Wardman last evening during the course of the meeting, and they expect to win them within the next two weeks, was Wardman's way of looking at the proposition.

The dates selected for the county series are as follows: Saturday, Sept. 11, at New Castle; Tuesday, Sept. 14, at Ellwood City; Thursday, Sept. 16, at New Castle, and Saturday, Sept. 18, at Ellwood City. A fifth game, if necessary, will be arranged by the tossing of a coin for the grounds. In case a postponed game shoves its way into the picture, it will be played on the following night, or if it occurs on Saturday, the game will be staged on Monday.

The representatives at the meeting were very enthusiastic over the coming championship series and predictions flew thick and fast, but it was all a matter of conjecture and nothing serious was entered into.

Players Selected

The following players will participate in the series, the lists having been submitted to the writer on Friday night: Ellwood City—M. Sanders, lf; F. Sanders, 3b; Brown, ss; Cunningham, cf; Volpe, 2b; Kirker, rf; Hudson, 1b; Dallenbach, c; Jamison, p; Kirk, p; Johns, p; Mariani, utility; Strouse, utility. New Castle team—Gahles, c; Steen, p; Coen, p; Hospidore, p; McCullough, rf; R. Flynn, p; Ross, 1b and 2b; Maxim, 2b; Grabfelder, ss; Hoffman, 3b; Weimer, lf; Buzzard, cf; Robertson, lf; Patterson, 2b and ss; Pumphrey, c and 1b; Kimes, p. The lists sumbitted last evening were final and no players can be added to the teams.

According to Joe Dougherty, business manager of the Ellwood City team, plans are under way in Ellwood to take care of a crowd of about 2,500 fans. The grandstand will be renovated to take care of a vast throng.

The Ellwood City team is banking on this man Jamison to bring them through the series. This much was evident at the meeting, when the writer was informed that Jamison had won 23 and lost but four games so far this year, and that he would more than likely be the choice in the opening game of the series. New Castle will bank on Hospidore and Coen to pull them over the rough places, said Carm Sacco.

Young Captures Handicap 'Shoot'

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 28.—Already twice the champion, Charles A. Young of Springfield, O., annexed the trapshooting crown of the western hemisphere when he won the Grand American Handicap by breaking 100 targets at 23 yards a perfect score at the Amateur Trapshooting association ground here Friday.

Second, third and fourth places were taken respectively by R. G. Johnson, Cable, O.; T. R. Vail, Industry, Ill.; and E. C. Boice, Pontiac, Mich., after they shot off a tie of 99.

Ten shooters tied at 98 contended for fifth and sixth places, R. M. Jenkins, Orleans, Ind., taking fifth and C. L. Ritchie, Goshen, O., taking sixth after two shoot-offs.

First Methodist Team Wins From Epworth 4 To 2

The First Methodist team with Baker hurling a fine brand of baseball defeated the Epworth M. E. team 4 to 2, in a postponed game played on the Radiator grounds on Friday night.

Baker held the Epworth hitters to but three safe blows, and fanned eight men, while McClure was not so effective and allowed five hits and had six strikeouts.

E. Lockley had three hits for the Methodists. The Methodists by their victory retain first place in the Church League.

The First Baptist team defeated the Third U. P. outfit 4 to 1 in a game played on the Lehigh field on Friday night.

Presbyterians Down Croton

Melder Pitches Great Game As Mates Slug Way To 13 To 3 Victory

The Central Presbyterians remained in second place in the church league on Friday night by downing the Croton M. E. team 13 to 3 in a sluggish match. The game was played on Colonial field.

Johnny Melder occupied the mound for the Presbyterians and held the heavy hitting Crotonites to six hits and fanned six batters while the Presbyterians hammered Miller all over the lot for a total of ten hits.

The Presbyterians had three big innings, scoring three in the second, and five in the third and fourth. The Croton team bunched their hits to score in the second and fifth innings.

Weiss, Patterson and Leslie led the winners at bat with two hits apiece, while McClelland and Kerr were the best hitters for the Croton team. Barber and Battley had the only extra base blows of the game.

Yanks Secure Dutch Ruether

Acquisition Of Washington Pitcher Is Clothed In Mystery

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Walter (Dutch) Ruether, veteran left-handed pitcher of the Washington Senators, has been obtained by the New York Yankees on waivers, according to an announcement by Manager Miller Huggins.

The acquisition of Ruether came as a surprise, for he was the leading pitcher on the Senators' staff. Considerable comment was also caused by the Yankees taking him, for they are leading the league, therefore having last call on a player. Ruether has been ordered to report to the Yankees on Sunday.

Catcher Bill Skiff has been released to the Toronto International League club to make room for Ruether.

Bachelors of the Art of Pitching

The setting apart of August 28 as "Christy Mathewson Day" recalls other college pitchers who have made, or are making, names for themselves in the ranks of majors league baseball. "Matty's" place was unique among them, however, for he not only was the greatest of all varsity pitchers, but he, in a way, was a torch-bearer, and showed to the world at large that baseball was not a game for roughnecks and muckers, but that a man with a college education could take up the diamond game as a professional and still retain his high-minded and other manly qualities, "Big Six" not only did this, but he gave to baseball a great deal more than he got out of it as the most famous athlete of his day.

At present there are in the majors a great many men—some with diplomas from various institutions of learning, others who have left college or university before they graduated—who are more than holding their own with the hurlers who have never been further than grammar school or high school. Look over the lists of the leading pitchers in both leagues. Flint Rhem's name is near the top in the National league. He went to Clemson college in South Carolina. Eppa Rixey is up there, too. He went to the University of Virginia. Pete Donohue is from Texas Christian university, Dutch Ruether from St. Ignatius, Ted Lyons from Baylor, and so it goes.

Other college twirlers now in the majors are Miller of Cleveland, Wingard of the Browns, Bentley and Dean of the Phillies, Nehf of Cincinnati, Aldridge and Yde of the Pirates, and McGraw of Brooklyn. Whether or not history will rank any of these pitchers in a class with the immortal Mathewson of Bucknell, Coombs of Colby, Plank of Gettysburg, Bender of Carlisle, Doc White of Georgetown or Overall of California, remains to be seen.

I was much surprised a month or so ago to see my friend Ernie Nevers take the mound against the Yankees in the third or fourth inning of a game at the stadium. "But you weren't as surprised as I was," Ernie told me afterwards. The football star from Stanford did quite well, showing no wildness at all, a rather good fast ball and somewhat of a round-house curve. He later pitched a tie game in Boston and then beat the Athletics, allowing but seven hits. It looks as though the big boy was going to make a name for himself on the diamond as well as on the gridiron.

Start Mailing Out Reserved Seats For Coming Grid Season

Ask That Subscribers Make Payments Before September 10; Hope To Sell 1,000

Principal Frank L. Orth of the senior high school made the announcement Friday afternoon that reserved seats for the coming football season will go in the mail shortly to the various subscribers who signed pledge cards last spring. It is asked that payments be made before September 10.

It will be remembered that the high school students canvassed the city early in the year with reserved seat pledges for the Ben Franklin high stadium this fall and that in the neighborhood of 400 or 500 were disposed of. The citizens who signed these cards will get their tickets shortly said Mr. Orth, in conversation with a News reporter.

The price of the reserved tickets are $10.00 which calls for nine home games as follows:—Mars, Crafton, East High of Youngstown, this school having been submitted in place of California, Grove City, Butler, Schenley, Donora, Ellwood City and Erie Academy.

Starting on Monday morning the reserved seats will be taken from the jurisdiction of the high school and thereafter anybody desiring seats for the season can procure the same by calling at the Sporting Goods Store on East Washington street, it will be impossible to secure reserved seats at the high school after today, said Mr. Orth.

There are many good seats left to be sold, was the word passed along on Friday afternoon, and it is asked that the fans get their order in early if they hope to secure a good place in the stadium.

The checks for the reserved seats being mailed out now are to be made payable to Frank L. Orth, principal of the senior high school and addressed to the senior high school.

Tagging All Bases

(International News Service)

Tony Lazzeri chose an opportune time to hit his 17th homer of the season, scoring two runs beside his own, and doing a great deal toward accomplishing a 4 to 1 victory for the Yanks over the Tigers.

Pitcher Sherrod Smith's home run in the 12th won the second game of a double header for Cleveland from the Red Sox 5 to 4. The Indians walked away with the first game, 9 to 3.

The Cardinals lost their second straight to Philadelphia 9 to 7, dimming slightly their pennant chances. Bentley got a home run, a double and a single.

A ninth inning rally by the Senators, netting two, failed to save Washington from losing the third straight game to the White Sox. The score was 5 to 3.

Bullet Joe Bush did some tall pitching and no mean hitting, and held the Giants to four hits. Pittsburgh won 4 to 0, but it was a stiff pitchers' battle except in the seventh inning, when the Pirates scored all their runs.

The Reds advanced to third place in the National league, only four points behind the Pirates by sailing into the Dodgers to win a shutout game, 4 to 0.

The Browns were treated to a new sensation at Shibe park, Philadelphia, yesterday by licking the Athletics 7 to 1. Although the St. Louis team has played ten games at Philadelphia, this was the first time they had won this season.

Steady pitching by Tony Kaufmann allowed the Cubs to run their winning streak to six. Tony held the Braves to five hits, enabling Chicago to win 5 to 1.

Third United Presbyterians won a forfeited game in the Church circuit from the First Baptists yesterday. The Baptists did not have enough players and played the game with the aid of city and county league players.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A blond and a brunet will meet in the final round of the women's western championship tournament at Olympia Fields today to determine which is preferred in golf.

Miss Dorothy Page, a tall and robust 17-year-old golden-haired girl from Maple Bluff, Madison, Wis., won her way into the final pairing today by eliminating Miss Naoma Hull, young Indiana school teacher, in the semi-final round, 2 up and 1 to play, and Mrs. O. S. Hill of Meadow Lake, Kansas City a rather diminutive brunet with an uncanny ability to drive hard and straight, put out Mrs. Stewart Hanley of Lochmoor, Detroit city champion, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Hill's game was the best of the four today, and, on the basis of tournament performances she has a slight advantage on her finalist opponent for tomorrow's 36-holes. Both are remarkable drivers.

Miss Page, former western junior champion, and winner of the driving and putting contests in the present tournament, has made five rounds with a steady, consistent game ranging about 85 or 90. Mrs. Hill, the Kansas City and Missouri valley champion for her second successive year, took second medal honors in Monday's qualifying round with par 83 and has played close to that game through the four match rounds.

Mrs. Hanley played an almost faultless game on the out nine, but ran into difficulty on a few long shots on the home stretch and went down to an improved game on the greens on the part of her opponent.

Mrs. Hill snared six birdies and six pars on the 16 holes, missing two eagles by rimming the cup. Mrs. Hanley had a birdie and eight pars, missed an eagle by inches on the first green and made seven holes over par against Mrs. Hill's 4.

They halved four holes in par and one in birdie fives; Mrs. Hanley won two out and a pair, the other seven, four of them after the turn going to Mrs. Hill.

Matty Tickets Are Here, Connery Says

Managers of Lawrence County Baseball league who desire tickets for the Christy Mathewson memorial game September 1, can secure them from League Secretary Ed Connery. They arrived today.

McAuliffe Wins Saratoga Feature

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Jeff Livingstone's McAuliffe romped through the deep mud at Saratoga to win the Amsterdam claiming stakes for 3-year-olds, feature of the day's card by a good three lengths over Bruns. Endor was a length back in third place. The mile was run in 1:41 3-5.

Arabic took the fifth race, a six-furlong affair for 2-year-olds. Martin's Caddy was second and Montclear third.

Football Team Ready For Camp

INTENSIVE WORK IS MAPPED OUT

By "BUGS" WALTHER.

Forty young huskies comprising the contingent of New Castle high school football players for the coming season are sleeping with one eye open these nights, due to the fact that next week they must turn n at a very early hour. The football players will enter camp on Monday morning at Muddy Creek Falls for a week of hardening prior to the opening of the grid season here on September 18.

Every detail relative to the establishing of a first class training camp is completely worked out today. Faculty Manager Ralph Gardner, Student Manager Merritt Hoag and a corp of assistants have the camp looking spic and span today and all they need now is a few football players to occupy the said enclosure to make it complete. They will start recounting the silverware and other valuables in camp late Sunday night when the first few players reach the site the remainder of the boys are going to wait over and have a last date with "Lulu" on Sunday night and then hie themselves into seclusion on Monday morning.

The first practice session is scheduled for 10 o'clock Monday morning, rain or snow and lots of sunshine, and the boys will find out that a training camp is no place for the "soda fountain cowboys."

The task of selecting the 40 men to take to the camp this year was by no means an easy one for the coaches. There is a lot of fine looking material available for this year and it was only with extreme caution that the boys were picked out. Those who will not get to enjoy the training camp will report for football with the opening of school.

Boxing Critics Say Johnny Hill Is Game Fighter

Stage All Set For Fast Battles At Youngstown On September 1

By JOE HAYNES
(Special To The News)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 28. — It is doubtful if any bout on the big all star card arranged by the Heakeh Club, of this city, for the first of September, at Idora Park, will have anywhere near the color attached to it, that the first ten pounder will carry into the ring.

In the majority of fights the country over, one boy carries all the color into the ring with him. In this battle however, both lads have it in plenty. Both lads are of the fighting type. Neither knows much about the finer points of hit and miss; that is we should say miss.

Johnny Hill, the latest and some folks say the best of the Filipinio boxers, is about as vicious a little man as we have ever seen in action. He starts to fight at the opening bell, and from then until the close of the fight there isn't an idle second.

Hill is dangerous at any minute of a fight. He has everything that goes to make up a great fighter. Brains, speed, courage and strength and carries dynamite in both mitts.

In action, Johnny reminds one of a swarm of bees, always on top of his man, always busy, continually fighting, punches coming from all angles, and folks these punches hurt when they land. Poor Joe Pagalini could testify to that as he was the most pitiful looking sight that human eyes ever looked at as they carried him out of that ring at Cleveland, Ohio.

The second ten rounder on the card will bring Jimmy Jones, and Sailor Freidman into the roped circle. This fight from a purely local standpoint will cause more interest than any of the others.

The feature bout will be over the ten round route, between Pinky Mitchell and Georgie Levine. Mitchell, junior welterweight champion of the world, and Levine, the contender for the welter title now held by Pete Latze, should put up a whale of a fight.

The opening bout will feature Johnny Roberts, of Huntington, W. Va., and George Harris, of Niles, O. These two lads will go in the ring at 8:15 p. m.

Love For Old Dog Leads To Death Of Aged Priest

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Aug. 28.—Love of a priest for his dog led Father E. W. Gavin, 88 years old, almost blind, to his death Friday. He was struck by a street car while on the way to make his daily visit to his pet, now nearly 25 years old. The dog has been under treatment by a veterinary.

The priest, pastor of Immaculate Conception for 54 years, and the animal were almost inseparable companions.

THE LAST ROUND

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Almost immediately after his knockout victory over Jim Jeffries, Jack Johnson began to abuse the popularity that was his. Yea, more than this, he abused the idolatry and loyalty his own race thrust upon him. He divided his time between high powered autos and worse forms of dissipation. He did not even hold his dissipation to members of his own race.

Jim Jeffries, the old king, had proved no match for Johnson. There seemed no one else in sight who could be turned into championship timber. So began the long and hectic hunt for a "white hope".

They bobbed up from Dan to Beersheba. Anything that stood six feet or over, had a kick like a mule in both fists and a desire to fight was given a chance to show his stuff. Most of them turned out to be just second rate fighters, however, with no indications apparent of ever becoming anything more.

Finally into this corral of possibilities Jess Willard bounced. Oh, what a boy he was! Came from Kansas. Rode a horse—and had to have the biggest one west of Jersey City so his legs wouldn't dangle low enough for the rattlesnakes to bite.

"Gunboat Halts Him."

He had started fighting in 1912 and in that year had knocked out such brother hopes as John Young, Arthur Pelky, Luther McCarthy, Sailor White and Soldier Kearns. The next year he socked Frank Bauer and Jack Leon, a couple of unknowns, and then met Gunboat Smith. The latter gave him his first setback by beating him in 20 rounds.

After that he met Bull Young, who died from a blow Willard struck him, and other hopes presented.

But it was his size, physical condition and a fair defense, rather than any greatness he had shown in the ring, that prompted his selection for the bout with Johnson in Havana, Cuba, April 5, 1915.

Johnson was in disrepute in the states. That and consequent promised opposition to the bout in most every state prompted the staging of the fight at the Cuban capital.

Johnson's object in taking such a match under consideration while in his physical condition has always been a matter for conjecture. There have been mean stories that it was a "money fight" with him and not on the up and up. Willard, however, saw in the fight his big chance and made the best of it. He was a beautiful specimen of man the day he entered the ring. And this perfect condition won the fight for him. Johnson got to him early and often. He could not hurt Jess, however. And when the Kansan hit Johnson it was the gentle touch of a Redwood tree falling on a poodle.

Johnson stood up under the punching for 25 rounds and then went down under Willard's sledgehammer blows.

Johnson's day was gone.

HOW JACK JOHNSON LOST THE TITLE

This is the way wire accounts of the Johnson-Willard fight described the last round:

Round 26—Johnson rose slowly from his chair and Willard met him more than two-thirds of the way across the ring. Willard stabbed a long left into the negro's face, sending his head bobbing back. Before the champion could recover his position Willard swung a smashing right which landed full on Johnson's stomach. Johnson was flung against the ropes by the force of the blow and he clinched on the rebound. The white man tried to tear loose, but the black held grimly, with eyes closed and legs shaking.

Just before the referee broke them Johnson looked over Willard's shoulder to the box where his wife had been, his eyes showing a dazed, puzzled expression.

As soon as Welsh had broken the clinch Jess rushed again, forcing the negro into Willard's corner, where the finish came. Johnson was slow in guarding and his youthful opponent hooked a swinging left to the body. The fading champion's legs quivered and again the towering giant feinted for the body. Johnson dropped his guard and Willard won the title with a quick, hard swing to the exact point of the jaw.

The negro's knees folded up under him and he sank slowly to the floor and rolled over on his back, partly under the ropes.

Welsh waved Willard back and began to count. Johnson never moved. His eyes were glassy, only the whites being visible.

Melder Works As Iceman This Summer

Will Be A Contender For Regular Berth On The Ne-Ca-Hi Eleven

New Castle high football squad will have its Red Grange this fall, who has been keeping in good trim by delivering ice at homes served by the People's Ice Company. Melder, who in past years since entering the high school, has been an aspirant for a regular position on the team and has been called upon occassionally to carry the ball as a substitute half back.

This is none other than John Melder of 306 Winter avenue, and his work of the summer, has placed him in excellent physical condition. It will make him a contender for a regular berth on the varsity.

Officer John Moore, his friend, has been keeping his eye on the boy and is confident that there is the making of another Red Grange in Melder.

Sarazen Leads Western Open

Returns Score Of 72 To Complete 141 Card For Two Days' Play

HART OF MARIETTA IS CLOSE BEHIND

INIANAPOLIS, Aug. 28.—Gene Sarazen of New York Friday retained his lead in the Western open golf championship at the Highland Golf Club with a total of 141, although he receded from his subpar 69 of yesterday to 72 for the second round. This left him only one stroke ahead of P. O. Hart of Marietta, O., who today added a 72 to his par 70.

The most spectacular performance of the day was provided by Walter Hagen, who equaled the course record of 68 and got within two strokes of the leader at 143. Hagen, with a 75 Thursday, played brilliantly Friday, ending his round with a 20-foot putt for a birdie 3.

Jock Hutchison was robbed of a tie with Sarazen by a misadventure at the eighteenth hole. His perfect drive landed in a divot hole, and in digging it out with a mashie niblick he pushed his ball into a deep trap whence he failed to escape in one, and was forced to take six strokes instead of a sure 4 and a possible 3. His 70, including an excellent 33 on the first nine, was three strokes better than his first round and tied him with Hagen at 143.

Favorites Come Through.

None of the favorites disappointed his admirers today, except that Macdonald Smith of New York, defending champion, did not gain sufficiently on the vanguard to show propitious signs of retaining his title. He had a good 72, but with his 76 of yesterday, was seven strokes back of Sarazen, and a dozen players were ahead of him.

Many of the stars came forward with better scores today. Al Watrous, runner-up to Bobby Jones in the British open, after taking 79 for the first round today covered the first nine in 33, two strokes better than Chick Evans, who had par 35, and three better than Joe Turnesa, runner-up to Jones in the national open. All three slipped on the second nine, but Watrous got home with 71 for 150; Evans with 74 for 149, and Turnesa with 76 for 151.

Espinosa Plays Perfectly.

Al Espinosa of Chicago played a perfect round of 35-35-70, as compared with a mediocre 79 for the first effort. His brother, Abe, was only two strokes behind him today and finished three strokes ahead of Al for 36 holes. Emmett French of Southern Pines, N. C., chalked up a good 71 to total 146, while Harry Hampton of Memphis, with a par 70, had a like total.

Charley Hall of Birmingham, who had to bivouac on the field overnight, with two-score others who were unable to finish the first round before dark yesterday, shot 72 today for a total of 147. John Farrell of New York and Ruddy Knepper, Chicago amateur, who sojourned with Hall, were not quite so good, taking 74 each for totals of 150.

Traffic Cop After New Castle Driver

GENEVA, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Traffice Officer Toole on Thursday was trailing an automobile driven by Walter S. Hanlan, of No. 321 Lincoln avenue, New Castle, Pa., for speeding when another machine driven by E. A. Hunt of No. 305 Main street, Bridgeport, Conn., drove by. Officer Toole headed both off, the two forfeiting $25 bail. The two machines were charged with making from 35 to 45 miles an hour in Hamilton street here.

Making ends meet is often like a dog catching his tail. They simply won't stay met.

American Girl Swimmer Back Home, Besieged By Contracts

Estimate "Trudie" Will Be Worth Half Million Dollars By Christmas

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'l News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Being duly presented with the key to the city was all very well yesterday, and quite a gracious gesture, at that, but with calm reflection came to Gertrude Ederle this morning the knowledge that it wasn't a key that would open any banks, nor would it lock the family door against the world.

However, I don't believe the lady will need that kind of a key, now or forever henceforth. Trudy will be wealthy in her own right by Christmas.

The harvest moon, in fact, is about to come to the full and soon will be casting its golden glow over her left shoulder. This is the same moon that shed its rays in such profusion about the hallowed figure of Harold "Red" Grange last fall.

Beware of Greeks bearing gifts, say the philosophers but they didn't say anything about agents, bearing contracts. The line was beginning to form on the left today.

The chances are that by the time Trudy finishes signing documents she will have tied herself up with at least $150,000 that will be hers before the first of the year, while her total earnings for the next 12 months probably won't be less than a quarter of a million. That's almost enough to take her father away from his butchers' block and buy him a ringside seat in the Chicago stockyards.

May Go in Vaudeville.

As I understand it, Trudy will sign up for a vaudeville tour that may carry through six months. She probably will play New York houses for ten weeks at $3,000 a week and then will go on the road at $2,000 a week. This venture alone will net her more than $40,000.

When it is over, it will be about time for her to start following the climate with a series of well-paid exhibitions. She could and probably will go to California, earn that $25,000 they want to give her for swimming to Catalina island and then swim back through New Orleans and the south, giving exhibitions wherever they have the fancy to pay her. Florida should provide a happy hunting ground in this connection.

Another source of steady income will be furnished by the magazines and newspapers. Trudy already has arranged to get top prices from a national magazine for a series of articles on swimming and I understand that agents of similar publications are cluttering up her doorstep. The magazine racket should net her $25,000 in a reasonably short time. Syndicated newspaper articles probably will bring in $5,000 more.

And then those dear, dear advertising testimonials! All she has to say is that she owes her success in life to rubber heels, hair nets, vanity cases, fly swatters and eating soup with a fork. Before her name dries on the dotted line, she will have thousands of dollars poured in her lap.

She won't get all of it, however; Dudley Field Malone cuts 25 per cent, I believe, which isn't bad at all, considering that Dudley didn't swim any channel and wouldn't if he could.

Why does The Greater OAKLAND SIX Hold the Center of the Stage?

Why do people everywhere display such extraordinary interest in the Greater Oakland Six? Why are they so eager to see it, and to drive and ride in it? Why are they placing orders for it, in such unprecedented volume?

The key reason is that the Greater Oakland Six incorporates the outstanding engineering achievement of the year—the Rubber-Silenced Chassis.

In addition, this remarkable car embodies many other important refinements.

These include smart new Bodies by Fisher, in new and strikingly beautiful two-tone Duco colors; vital engine developments, resulting in still greater smoothness and greater operating efficiency; new tilting-beam headlights with convenient foot control, to make night driving safer, as well as Oakland's many other advanced features, such as Four-Wheel Brakes, air cleaner, oil filter, full pressure oiling, automatic spark control, interchangeable bronze-backed bearings and the Harmonic Balancer—all without the slightest increase in Oakland prices.

Do you wonder that the Greater Oakland Six is capturing public interest? Do you wonder that it has impressed itself upon the minds of motor car buyers as an irresistible value?

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. Pontiac Six, companion to Oakland Six, $825 to $895. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

Hostilities Begin In Kansas.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

IN THE SPRING OF 1856 TWO RIVAL GOVERNMENTS WERE FACING EACH OTHER IN KANSAS AND IT WAS INEVITABLE THAT THEY SHOULD COME TO BLOWS. BOTH THE FREE-SOILERS AND THE PRO-SLAVERY MEN EXPRESSED THE DETERMINATION TO WIN KANSAS AT ALL COSTS AND MEMBERS OF THE OPPOSING FACTIONS WENT ABOUT ARMED TO THE TEETH.

IN PREPARATION FOR THE COMING STRUGGLE, THE FREE STATE MEN BEGAN FORTIFYING LAWRENCE, THEIR CHIEF SETTLEMENT. BARRICADES WERE ERECTED, EARTHWORKS THROWN UP AND A CANNON WAS PLANTED IN THE TOWN.

IN SUCH A CRITICAL SITUATION, ONLY A SPARK WAS NEEDED TO START THE FLAMES OF CIVIL WAR IN KANSAS. THE TROUBLE BEGAN WHEN A SHERIFF OF THE PRO-SLAVERY GOVERNMENT CAME TO LAWRENCE TO SERVE A WARRANT ON A CITIZEN OF THE TOWN.

WHILE ATTEMPTING TO ARREST HIS MAN, THE SHERIFF WAS FIRED UPON BY AN ASSASSIN AND BADLY WOUNDED.

Police Asked To Find Missing Girl

Police of this city have been asked to assist in an effort to locate Lillian Kelty, aged 17 of 122 Quest street, who left home Friday afternoon and has not been seen since. The person making the report stated that she may be in Youngstown, Cleveland or Detroit. She is described as being five feet two inches in height and having light sandy hair.

STOLE A KISS ON A DARE

The dare of a friend to kiss the first girl he met caused a 25-year-old Houston man to spend a night in jail. They met a young lady out walking with her mother. The dared-man grabbed the daughter and kissed her. She called a policeman and had him arrested. If a young man just must get into trouble, this is about as interesting a way as any other, and may even be worth all it costs, unless the young lady proves to be athletic and slaps him into the middle of the street.

N. Y. STOCKS

By W. S. COUSINS,
International News Service
Financial Editor

New York, Aug. 28.—All of the department of the stock market which have shown unusual buoyancy in the last few days, made further progress in the short session of the market today. The railroad stocks moved into a higher level of prices in the first period and were fairly active near the peaks.

The week end business surveys pointed out that the August records in most lines of business were unusually favorable, while indications were for an active fall and winter season. Emphasis was placed on the heavy volume of freight traffic, the surest indication of a huge business in the country as a whole.

Atchison, New York Central and other well known railroad stocks led a new forward movement in that section of the market, Atchison exceeding all of its former records when it sold around 152. The railroad equipment stocks also made good progress under the leadership of Pullman and Baldwin, while specialties were inclined to sag under profit taking.

General Motors and U. S. Steel sold up about a point in fairly active trading, which was featured principally by the absence of professional selling pressure. Oils were not disposed to follow up the moderate gains made near the close of Friday's session. Continental Baking A and B stocks reached new high levels since their listing on the big board and General Asphalt gained 3 points in a fairly large turnover.

The week end commodity and futures were steady with prices practically unchanged. Tire, Textile and metals markets were reported on the upgrade.

Slight Accidents Reported To Police

Frank Frye of 407 Whippo street reported Friday that while turning his car around at the Matthews drive, North Jefferson street and Wallace avenue, that the front wheel struck the curb. The steering apparatus was jarred out of his hands and the car struck and broke the fire hydrant at that place.

Marion Fabian reports that while driving south on Arlington avenue last night he failed to notice the blockade at Wilson avenue and ran through it, breaking the same.

Officers Thompson and Lockard reported last night that they found that an automobile had hit the storm sewer cover at court street and Crawford avenue and knocked it 50 feet. The officers put the cover back in place.

A glacier would make a fine pet for the warm spell.

Don't, Says 107

Mrs. August Kuzner, who recently celebrated her 107th birthday at her home in St. Charles, Ill., gave this one word as her recipe for longevity. She interpreted it to mean don't get mixed up in the hurly burly of twentieth century life. Mrs. Kuzner said she has never seen a movie or ridden in an automobile.

Women's Farm Colony Will Let Men Plow

LINGFIELD, Eng., Aug. 28.—Women may be free but they cannot yet make hay without the aid of men.

A grim effort to run a farm solely by the work of women has failed, after six years of struggle, and husbands have at last been called in to assist.

The colony includes a hundred acres of farm land. It was started in 1920 by a group of young women under the auspices of the Women's Farm & Garden association to show an incredulous world that the hand designed to rock a cradle can also turn a straight furrow.

The women became tenants of small holdings of three and five acres each, and they helped each other in their work. Some specialized in dairy herds, some raised Angora rabbits, some grew vegetables, others became orchardists, and several developed into pastrymakers and cooks. They set up a roadside stand on the East Grinstead road, which motorists learned to know well as a stopping place for tea. The colony prospered, but in the course of six years it was seen that only a part of the farm was being used.

The strong backs of men were needed in the fields. But the rules of the colony forbade the admittance of men. So the regulations at last have been changed and those women of the colony who have husbands now are allowed to bring their husbands in.

Industrials Show Marked Strength

Expected Tightening Of Money Market Takes Place During Past Week

By W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The strength of the railroad stocks accompanied by the alternate rise and fall of the industrials, was the most important incident of a stock market given over principally to professional operations this week.

The expected tightening of both the call and the time money markets made its appearance in midweek with call money renewals marked up to 5 per cent and the same rate asked for three and six-months money. This situation fitted admirably into the program of bearish professionals who worked on the theory that the top-heavy industrial stocks were due for at least a technical decline after their long upward march. Sharp selling of the industrial leaders resulted in a number of moderate breaks in prices but most of these occurred before the call money rate was advanced, and in the late sessions the market appeared to have plenty of excellent bullish support.

The transportation companies continues to furnish the real constructive industrial news of the week. The July earnings statements and current freight loading reports showed the high operating rate of the carriers, exceeding the best previous records. But additional "good news" was forthcoming in the announced new orders for railroad equipment indicating the expectation of a further expansion in business this fall.

Under the stimulus of these authentic reports, investment buying of the road shares easily absorbed all the offerings at current prices and quotations advanced aggressively to new high levels. Speculative interest was also displayed in the second grade or non-dividend rails, some of which may reach the dividend class before the end of the year.

Professionals pushed the leading industrial stocks backward and forward in their daily contests, with the outside public occupying the position of spectators. The price lists indicated a victory for the bears, but the real test is in the amount of shorts outstanding, of which no accurate knowledge is available, though loaning rates for leading stocks indicated that the short interest is very large.

Commodity markets were fairly steady, with cottoh making the best gains in response to the bullish crop reports and unfavorable weather condition.

Foreign exchanges were firm and foreign bonds strong.

Radio Batteries Are Not Needed With Latest Sets

Radio sets without the bother of batteries or chargers have long been the hope of many of the radio fans, and the manufacturers of Garod radio sets seem to have achieved this desire in the sets for the coming season.

In the Fountain Inn the Garod representative, H. B. Crawford has been holding a demonstration in conjunction with the Huston Hardware Company, local distributors for the Garod, and the results achieved seem to indicate that the Garod power set is one that radio fans will like.

The Garod set works directly off the light circuit. All that is necessary is to plug into a wall socket and the set is ready for action. There are no batteries to bother with, no eliminators necessary, and no charger. The power that supplies light for the home supplies power for the set.

Other sets which have used electric current for operation have found that a bad hum resulted. After much experimentation, the Garod people have overcome this and the reception is clear and plain.

The working parts of the set are shielded, making it practically "fool proof." In appearance it is delightfully simple and with the introduction of this set, there will doubtless come the necessity by other manufacturers of making improvements in their sets.

The Huston Hardware Company is the sole representative of the Garod sets in this city.

Shot To Death When Cop's Pistol Falls

CONNEAUT, Aug. 28.—Joseph O'Neil, 44, an employe of the Pittsburgh and Conneaut Dock company for the past 17 years, died late yesterday in Brown Memorial hospital here a short time after he had been taken to that institution with a bullet wound in his abdomen.

O'Neil was accidentally shot in a strange manner. He was standing in front of the dock company's supply store when William Wickle, a dock policeman, attempted to land from a small boat, after having taken supplies to another boat. As Wickle reached over to make a line fast his gun slipped from its holster, landing on the concrete dock.

O'Neil was directly in th[illegible] of the .38 caliber bullet, w[illegible] passed through his left arm and into the abdomen.

His wife is now visiting in Boston and has been notified of the tragedy. Coroner C. W. Dewey, after conducting an investigation, held death to be accidental.

"The Slick Guy"

Nearly every one of us has seen the checkered-suit person with the velvet tongue. How smoothly he once told of the merits of this product or that—and raked in perfectly good coin for purchases that were often worthless.

The "slick guy" is seldom seen today. When the wise person goes to buy, he knows what is good in value and fair in price.

Simply by glancing over the advertisements in your paper, you can see where to go for the best buys. You can compare values and check up prices without even stirring from your easy chair. You know in advance just what you are going to get and how much it will cost. And you can have the satisfaction that comes from knowing your money is wisely and safely spent.

Nowadays, no one need be at the mercy of the "slick guy." There are still a few people who fail to read the advertisements—and "take a chance." Don't be one of them.

Advertised products are safe buys.

Cossacks Exhibit Skill At Kavkaz

Russian Horsemen Play Among Themselves When Competition Fails

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—The game of kavkaz as played by the Russian cossacks was formally introduced to this city yesterday afternoon when two picked teams from the cossacks who are now playing in this city put on an exhibition match in the municipal stadium.

A crowd of more than 3,000, including his honor, Mayor W. Freeland Kendick, was in the stands to see the national sport of the cossack. The spectators were a little disappointed when the scheduled game was not played, but the exhibition of horsemanship made up for the lack of competition.

The original schedule was to bring the Riders and Drivers of this city against the cossack eight. The local horsemen were anxious to match their ability against that of the Russians and a spirited game was expected. Due to the wet weather of the past few days it was impossible for the Riders and Drivers to get the proper practice and they did not come on for the game yesterday.

As a result the cossacks took their big squad of players and put on an exhibition game that was divided into two halves. The blues played the blacks and the latter team seemed to have the advantage in both halves. One of the black forwards found little trouble in breaking through and he scored fully four goals during the play.

The game yesterday was just a warming up party for the big contest that is scheduled for tonight. The American Cowboy kavkaz team will meet the cossacks at their own sport in the feature of tonight's performance.

This cowboy team was put on the field during the past week. The men were drawn from Fred Beebe's rodeo group and they include some of the most daring riders that ever rode in the saddle.

Yesterday afternoon the cowboys were the most interested spectators in the stands. These western riders have watched every move of the cossacks since they first began to practice in this city. A regular scouting system was organized so that every phase of the game could be studied.

It is said that the cossacks played under wraps yesterday. The Russians are not anxious to allow any of their tricks to slip out and they therefore are not showing anything more than necessary.

The cowboy eight is headed by Dick Kirnan, who was one of the prize riders of the rodeo. The other members of the team will be George Newton, Cheyenne Kaiser, famed as a steer wrestler; Jimmie McKeenan, Powder Face Tom Eckert, Slim Reilly, Pete Schwartz, another great thrower of steers, and Jimmy Shannon, who will probably play the goal position.

Presbyterians Gain Membership, Losing Churches, Pastors

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Gains in evangelism, in membership and in gifts to benevolences, of the Presbyterian church in the United States during the last year are recorded in the annual report today.

Membership totals 1,909,111, a net increase of 35,252. There was a loss of 84 churches, leaving 9,565, and 27 ministers, leaving 9,990. Sunday school membership is 1,890,080, a decrease of 15,479. Contributions were $61,186,722, a gain of $3,803,734. For benevolences the church gave $16,063,742, an increase of $806,339.

British Soldiers Study Astronomy

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—British soldiers are all to become astronomers so they can find their way by the stars.

Duncan MacEwan, a Scot, has invented a little device that makes astronomy easy.

It is the ready reckoner of astronomy and Tommy Atkins could carry it in his waistcoat pocket except in the army as white spats in a mining village.

It took MacEwan six years to induce the war office bureaucrats to take up his little scheme but as it took Maxim seven years to get them to try his machine gun, MacEwan persited.

"The object" MacEwan said, "is to train the ordinary soldier to find his way by the stars by being able to read the heavens at a glance.

"The invention comprises two miniature domes of the heavens made of metal and are about the size of a watch.

"In these the constellations are perforated accurately and the soldier by holding it to the sky can locate the stars corresponding to the perforations and can thus make direct for a given spot."

ABE MARTIN — On the Availability of Doctors

SOMETHIN' NEW IN DOCTORS

Dr. Mopps, after practicin' in this community fer forty years, announces that he'll retire. "My hardest years are ahead o' me," he declares, "fer I expect t' resign from th' Country Club an' devote all o' my time an' energy t' collectin' what's comin' t' me." Dr. Mopps really hain't been what you might call available since th' Hazelnut Country Club wuz started, but some how our people allus sort o' thought they could git him in a pinch, that is they didn' feel that they wuz entirely without a doctor. I've heard folks say you could git him if you went about it in th' right way, but most people got t' relyin' on home remedies, or jest gave up an' died. Doctors don't come on th' jump like they used to, an' on a Sunday you can't git 'em at all. You can't find 'em, an' Sunday has become th' most perilous day o' th' week. When I recall th' ole restful Sundays o' a few years ago when nothin' upset th' peace an' quiet but an occasional Seven Day Adventist shinglin' a barn, or somebuddy poundin' a round steak, I begin t' realize that ever'thing's changed th' same as doctors. It's gittin' t' be almost as dangerous t' stay at home on Sunday as it is t' fill th' gas tank an' git in th' procession, 'specially if we overload with succotash, or have pumpin' hearts, indigestion, or are predisposed t' apoplexy. Last Sunday Mrs. Laf Bud had an attack o' indigestion as she wuz steppin' in a roadster, an' her husband drove eight hours before he finally found a doctor, an' then they had t' wait at th' 9th hole three quarters of an hour. "Any woman that's ever tried t' git out o' a girdle in a roadster goin' seventy miles an hour kin appreciate my agony, but I believe it saved my life," said Mrs. Bud, in relatin' her experience. "I'll bet I called at forty doctors' offices before I found a country club. If we'd been at home I could have located Dr. Mopps. I could have got some charcoal tablets from him even if he wuz busy playin' golf," added Mr. Bud. One o' th' Licklider girls, however, died last Tuesday within a stone's throw o' Dr. Mopp's. O' course most people don't need a doctor when they think they do, an' o' course doctors have got t' have some diversion an' relaxation th' same as farmers an' lawyers an' other sorts o' people, but Sunday's th' day o' all days when a doctor ought t' at least let it be known where he's playin' so we kin drive out an' talk things over with him. If it only resulted in prolongin' a life, t' say nothin' o' savin' one, such an arrangement would be worth while. O' course I kin see how doctors are imposed on, but if somebuddy's worth treatin' when it's too wet t' play golf ther worth treatin' on Sunday. Dr. Everett Spivins, a wiry young general practitioner with no club affiliations, 'll succeed Dr. Mopps an' announces that he'll be available at all times, an' subject t' call.

Girls Jailed For 4 Years' Extortion

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—In the last four years Frederick R. Hazard paid out more than $25,000 to keep a brunette stenographer from tattling to his wife, but the stenographer become too ambitious, so she's in the Jefferson Market prison, charged with extortion.

Four years ago Hazard was keeping the books of the Allied Chemical company, and Gertie Hogan was a stenographer there. Hazard had a wife and two children and his father was worth $16,000,000. He didn't have to work, but he liked it. And he liked Gertie.

When the third baby came to his wife at Kingston, R. I., however, Hazard decided it was time to quit—both Gertie and the Allied Chemical company. But Gertie came again and again to see him, asking money. He sent her to the Adirondacks "for her health." He sent her to California "for her health."

She got $500, married a man named Arthur Davis and went West with him. She divorced him in California and married Ernest Fosnaugh a few days after her divorce. It was he who made her demand $10,000, she said. She got it. Later she got $5,000 more. Then $2,500.

In June, six days after her marriage, she phoned Hazard and said she must have $5,000 more, and if she didn't get the money she was going to see Mrs. Hazard and "tell all."

Then Hazard set a trap and she was arrested.

Kansas Woman Is "Wheat Queen"

SUBLETTE, Kans., Aug. 28 — Formerly known as the "cattle queen," Mrs. Ida Watkins now has the title of "wheat queen."

No woman—and few men—planted more acres of wheat or harvested a larger crop than did Mrs. Watkins this year. She owns 1,950 acres of good Kansas land and it is virtually all planted to wheat. She has not had time to figure the total yield, but 50,000 bushels worth at least $60,000 is a conservative estimate.

When Mrs. Watkins' husband died in 1902 he left her a large cattle ranch. For eight years she managed it, buying, breeding, feeding and selling in competition with her men neighbors. Then she heard of the possibilities of southwestern Kansas land and slowly built up a wheat farm, selling out the cattle business as she added to her wheat land holdings.

Jury Is Discharged In Osage Murders

GUTHRIE, Okla., Aug. 28. — The jury in the case of W. K. Hale and John Ramsey, charged with the murder of Henry Roam, an Osage Indian, was discharged here by Federal Judge John H. Cotteral, after reporting it could not agree on a verdict. The case went to the jury Friday afternoon.

Before the jury was dismissed, United States Attorney Lewis, addressing the Court, declared his belief that "there are some friends of W. K. Hale on this jury."

The Government charged that Roam's death was one of a series of murders machinated by Hale that drove many rich Osages into distant States and countries and led others to illuminate the grounds about their homes at night with long strings of electric lights.

All of the killings apparently were for the purpose of gaining control of the victims' fortunes.

U. S. Not Jazz Mad Says Sir Henry Wood

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—America is not jazz mad, according to Sir Henry Wood, the famous English orchestra conductor, who recently made a seven weeks' tour of the United States. Sir Henry told London on his return, that America is an open door for real talent.

"America is not crazy on jazz to the exclusion of everything else," he said in an interview. "It is true that the art of syncopation has been perfected to a degree unknown in other countries, but there is a notable difference in the tastes for the purely popular and classical standards."

Sir Henry thinks that Americans are "splendid listeners." "On one occasion," he said, "during the whole of Elgar's First Symphony, which takes fifty-five minutes to render, there was not a cough or a rustle of a program."

Two Attempted Suicides Fail

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—Two attempted suicides proved unsuccessful here Friday.

Mary Espenshade, 18-year-old girl of this city, drank poison, according to attaches at the Harrisburg hospital where she was taken for treatment. She had been visiting at the home of a sister-in-law. It was said at the hospital that her condition was not serious.

I. O. Miller, 60, attempted to hang himself in the garage at his home here. He was near death from strangulation when cut down by a workman attracted to the scene. Physicians at the hospital where he was rushed for treatment declared that his condition was serious.

Foster's Weather Prognostication

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28, 1926—A storm wave of moderate intensity is expected to cross continent during week centering on August 29, causing moderate temperature extremes that will average near normal; precipitation of this storm period is expected to be moderate to light, mostly in the nature of local showers; most precipitation expected in eastern great central valleys, northern Atlantic coast and Gulf coast sections during this storm period. During and following storm period centering on August 23, a general increase in precipitation was expected; at this writing, it is evident that this increase in precipitation has taken place with storm centering on 16 instead of 23 as forecasted; this error will not change the forecasts for periods following the period that was in error.

SEPTEMBER—General increase in precipitation is expected to continue thru this month, causing the month to average above normal precipitation in southern and eastern sections, central and northern Pacific slope and in eastern great central valleys; a little below normal precipitation in northern great central valleys and on southern Pacific slope; about normal precipitation over balance of continent. Principal storm waves of month are expected to be severe waves centering on 6 and 20, moderate waves centering on 14 and 29; general cool waves, that will probably be northern cold waves, will come with and following storm centers of 6 and 20; a southern storm is expected to enter from the southwest near 9; this southern storm is not expected to be of severe intensity but of sufficient force to draw a rather cold wave down the western plateau and cause quite heavy precipitation in southern states east of Rockies and in eastern great central valleys. Storm wave centering on 20 is expected to be of the proverbial equinoctial type and of rather severe intensity. Warm waves are expected to center on 5 and 14; month will average below normal temperatures generally; greatest departures below normal temperatures are expected in Gulf coast states, Atlantic coast states and northeast section; month is expected to average greater than usual temperature extremes.

Solar Radiation

Dr. Charles A. Bentley, director of public health and professor in the Calcutta Medical College, now in London studying child welfare, made the following statements through Universal Service: "Eugenists are entirely overlooking the question of solar radiation and its influence on births. It has been proved in America and India that there is a 'crop cycle' in plant life. There is today evidence that this same influence is at work among human beings and there is a cycle in births. It is a matter as far beyond man's control as are the tides. Solar radiation causes populations to increase and decline. France has long experienced a birth rate which approximates her death rate; it would appear that this was purely biological and not due to birth prevention. In Bengal, the birth rate has declined 30 per cent in the 25 years, yet no one with any knowledge of conditions in Bengal could for one moment hold this decline was in any way due to conscious effort at birth prevention". Remarks on above theory will be in next issue.
